1961 Wool Incentive Payment Due Shortly

Shorn wool payments for the 1961 marketing year will amount to 44.5 per cent of the dollar returns each producer received from the sale of shorn wool during the year, the department of Agriculture has announced.

Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, explains that this is the percentage necessary to bring the average wool price of 42.9 cents per pound up to the previously announced incentive level of 62 cents per pound under the national wool program. Producers thus will receive an incentive payment of $44.50 for every $100 received from the sale of shorn wool during the wool marketing year ended March 31, 1962. The payment for the previous year was $47.50 per $100 of marketings.

The payment rate on sales of lambs that have never been shorn to compensate for the wool on them will be 76 cents per hundredweight of live animals sold. This rate is based on the shorn wool payment and is designed to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before marketing. This payment compares with 80 cents per hundredweight for the 1960 marketing year.

Chairman Johnson announced that the ASC office will begin making payments within a short time. Applications for payment had to be filed not later than April 1, 1961 through March 31, 1962.

For the current, 1962, marketing year—including marketings from April 1, 1962, through March 31, 1963, the incentive level for unshorn wool is 62 cents per pound, the same as for each of the preceding years of the program to date. Program regulations for the current marketing year also continue the same as for previous years.

Farm Safety Week Set July 22 to 28

U.S. President and Safety Council Ask Observance

By Presidential proclamation, the 19th annual National Farm Safety Week will be observed July 22-28.

"Family Safety—At Work and Play" is the theme for the 1962 program co-sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Rural highway and farm machinery safety, critical areas in farm accident prevention, will be given major attention," said Howard Pyle, NSC president.

Of the 13,800 workers killed on the job in 1960, about 3,300 were farm workers, the highest total of any major industry.

Traffic fatalities in 1960 claimed 5,100 farm residents. The 1960 all-farm accident total resulted in 11,300 deaths and 950,000 disabling injuries.

Parachute Safety Inspector Named

To Supervise Devotees of Jumping Sport in State

Roger L. Beyer, Minneapolis, has been appointed aviation representative, parachute safety specialist, by Commissioner Lawrence E. McCabe of the state department of aeronautics.

Mr. Beyer is an experienced parachutist with 110 jumps to his credit. He began jumping in November of 1960 in Fairmont, Minnesota, where he was president and instructor of the Fairmont Parachuting club.

Beyer will assist new parachute clubs by setting up training programs in accordance with state regulations; investigate accidents—check areas in which commercial jumps will be made; and help promulgate rules and regulations pertaining to sport parachute jumping.

Sport parachute jumping originated in France and was introduced in the United States in about 1956. It caught on quickly and there are now about 20,000 sport parachute jumpers in the U. S.

There are four active parachute jumping clubs in Minnesota with several more in the formative stage. It is felt by the department that Mr. Beyer will help promote safety and a better understanding of sport parachute jumping.

FARMING TODAY

Paul Stelmaschuk

Two Materials Form Basis

A University of Minnesota extension plant pathologist says that two chemical materials, maneb and captan, form the basis for a good plant disease control program for the home garden.

Maneb is effective for many vegetable diseases, and captan is effective for diseases of fruit. Follow label directions for crop, amount, time and safe use.

Maneb and captan probably will control 90 to 95 per cent of the diseases found in the home garden. Other fungicides needed for special purposes include sulfur or Katathane for powdery mildew and ferbam or Zineb for control of rust on apples.

While spraying or dusting won't control all diseases, regular applications of fungicides will prevent many diseases from occurring.

Minnesota Dairy Areas Shifting

Areas of milk production in Minnesota are changing.

Between 1953 and 191 cow numbers declined by 18.4 per cent in northwest, 26.7 in north central and 49.5 in northeast Minnesota.

Dairy cow numbers declined moderately, from 9.8 to 11.8 per cent, in east central, southwest and south central areas.

In west central, central and southeast Minnesota, the traditional dairy belt, there was little change. In 1961 these dairy belt districts accounted for 58.1 per cent of cows in the state, compared with 53.9 per cent in 1953.

Across the state, production per cow increased by 30 per cent during the period. And, despite decreasing cow numbers, total milk production increased in all but north central and northeast Minnesota.

Extension economists state that in Minnesota's dairy belt districts, soil, topography, cropping alternatives, distances to market and marketing facilities, created a situation favorable to dairy production expansion.

In the southwestern and south central areas, the expansion of row crop production and the intensification of hog and cattle-feeding enterprises tended to squeeze dairy production — even though milk production increased moderately.

Continuing decline in the number of farms in northeastern and north central Minnesota accounts for most of the decrease in dairy production in those areas. Agricultural opportunities are extremely limited because of unfavorable climatic, soil, topographical and locational factors.

Livestock enterprises — particularly beef-breeding herds — are gaining in importance as a source of income for these districts.

In the northwest district, milk production was virtually unchanged, even though dairy cow numbers decreased. In recent years, the relation of cash farm receipts from dairying and other enterprises was relatively stable.

The future outlook is for a continuing shift of milk production to the dairy belt districts. Expansion of row crop possibilities in the southwest and south central districts and the continued trend toward specialization would favor this.

A substantial increase in dairy prices relative to fat cattle and hogs, on the other hand, would dampen this trend.

R. J. Lund Retires; Ihle Buys Agency

by W. E. D.

Robert J. Lund and Les Ihle have announced the sale of the Lund Insurance Agency to the Ihle Insurance agency effective July 31. The combined business will be conducted in the present office of the Ihle agency for the time being, and Mrs. Margaret Stadum, long time employee at the Lund agency will join the Ihle Agency staff as office manager.

Mr. Lund's retirement from the insurance business brings to a close the active business career of one of the city's most prominent and public spirited citizens. He came to this community in 1922 to serve as cashier of the newly organized Marshall County State Bank at Holt. In 1925 he came to Thief River Falls as cashier of the First National Bank and served in that capacity until 1927 when he resigned to become a partner in the insurance business with Daniel Shaw in what was known as the Shaw-Lund Agency. When Mr. Shaw died in 1929 Lund bought his interest and has operated the business since then as sole owner.

Mr. Lund's banking experience extended over a period of 11 years, having been started following his World War I service when he became cashier of a bank at Wanamingo, Minnesota, where he served until his coming to Holt. In 1934 he was back in the loan business again as manager of the newly organized Thief River Falls Production Credit Association, an office he held until his retirement in 1959.

Mr. Lund's record of service as a public spirited citizen is outstanding. He was a director and officer of the Minnesota State Fair 16 years, during three of which he was president. For eight years he was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America, responsible for the financial interests of the national church organization.

At the local level his activities

RETIRING from the insurance business is Robert J. Lund who has operated the Lund Insurance Agency since 1929. Prior to entering the insurance business as a partner of Daniel Shaw in 1927, Mr. Lund had served as cashier of the First National Bank of this city and the Marshall County State Bank of Holt. During his forty years of residence in this community he has been prominent as a public-spirited citizen and has participated in many civic and community activities.

Mr. Lund has sold his insurance business to the Les Ihle Insurance Agency, the transfer to be effective July 31.

BUYER of the Lund Insurance Agency is Les Ihle, who operates the Les Ihle Insurance Agency, of this city. The transfer will be made July 31, and for the time being the expanded business will be conducted in the quarters now occupied by the Ihle organization. Mrs. Margaret Olsen, long-time employee in the Lund office, will join the Ihle agency as office manager.

Mr. Ihle is a native son of Thief River Falls and graduated from Lincoln high school with the class of 1932. Following a year spent in Oregon he joined with his father, Ole Ihle, in the real estate business which was interrupted by World War II in which Mr. Ihle served from 1941 to 1945 as flight instructor.

Following the war he returned to Thief River Falls and established the insurance agency which he has since operated.

Road Inventories Now under Way in Marshall & Roseau

All Roads in Counties to Be Checked by State Highway Dept. Workers

A total of eight field parties, each composed of two technicians from the Minnesota highway department, are taking road inventories this summer in Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Roseau and St. Louis counties in the north, and Blue Earth and Freeborn counties in the southern part of the state. All of the roads in these counties will be covered by the survey. The road inventory data are used in the redrafting of county general highway maps, city and village plats and maps of the state's municipalities.

The survey parties drive every road in their assigned counties, roadway type and width, surface condition, riding quality, number of marked lanes, geometric section and drainage adequacy. All cultural features, such as farm units, dwellings, schools, churches, cemeteries, motels, resorts, stores, factories and any other features located outside the incorporated area, are also recorded.

In addition, railroad crossings, every bridge and grade separation, including multiple culverts of ten feet or more, are measured for horizontal and vertical restrictions with a detailed description and picture taken of the bridge.

The highway teams work closely with the county auditors, assessors and registers of deeds in checking earlier records and descriptions in order to keep their material accurate and complete.

Seven DFL's File for State Office

Lt. Governor K. Rolvaag to Seek Governor Post

Seven Democratic-Farmer-Labor candidates for state offices filed Monday as a group and Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, the endorsed candidate for governor, predicted an election day sweep for the entire ticket.

Filing with Rolvaag were A. M. (Sandy) Keith, Rochester, for lieutenant governor; Joseph Donovan, incumbent secretary of state; John Nevin, Tower, for state auditor; Clyne Olson, Minneapolis, for state treasurer; Walter Mondale, incumbent attorney general, and Paul Rasmussen, incumbent railroad and warehouse commissioner.

Rolvaag, who seeks the first four year governor term in the state's history, said the 114-day DFL campaign would be "in the best tradition of Minnesota politics."

Visitors at the Paul Bedards over the weekend were Misses Eleanor Reichardt and Yvonne Bedard of Winnepeg.

Jeanne Dahlen Tells Rotary of Fellowship

Rotary Foundation Winner Will Study in Europe This Year

Miss Jeanne Dahlen, who has been awarded a Rotary Foundation Fellowship to study in Switzerland, was the guest speaker at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club held Monday at the Elks club rooms. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton R. Dahlen of Thief River Falls.

A 1961 graduate of Gustavus Adolphus college at St. Peter, Miss Dahlen has completed a year of graduate study at the University of Wisconsin medical school. A former exchange student under the Student Project for Amity among Nations (SPAN) program, she will study physiological chemistry and zoology in Switzerland.

Stating that she discovered the Rotary Fellowship almost by accident when checking on possible ways to return to Europe, Miss Dahlen added that she found it to be one of the best which can be received. In addition to a trip for free study abroad, the fellowship provides the responsibility to visit with clubs in the foreign country and extend greetings from the United States and to bring back highlights of the year to Rotary clubs when she returns.

"When visiting Rotary clubs in Switzerland, I shall be pleased to tell them about the Thief River Falls club and its participation in the American Field Service exchange program and the model United Nations in Winnipeg," Miss Dahlen said.

With a working knowledge of German and an improving knowledge of French, Jeanne is enthusiastic about teaching foreign languages in schools. "We must get rid of the generalization which we in the United States tend to give other nations and other nations apply to us. How can we know what a person from another country is thinking if we cannot even speak his language?" she asked.

Leaving Thief River Falls on July 25 she will fly to Minneapolis and from there to New York City, spending two days in Rhode Island before embarking by boat for Hamburg, Germany. Arriving in Hamburg on August 5, she will visit in Berlin, Norway, Sweden and Denmark and work for a church in Austria before reporting in Fribourg, Switzerland, on October 1.

For presentation to clubs which she visits in Europe, the Thief River Falls Rotary club provided Miss Dahlen with pennants bearing the Rotary emblem and signature of the Thief River Falls club.

Today Is Entry Day as County Fair Begins

Entries are being received today in all divisions of the 61st Annual Pennington county fair which will run through Sunday at the fairgrounds in Thief River Falls. Open class and 4-H entries, particularly in the livestock divisions, are expected to be large this year. In the 4-H department, demonstrations and exhibits of clothing and foods should be greater than usual.

Tomorrow will be Kiddies Day at the fair with reduced ride rates in effect for youngsters on the World of Tomorrow Shows midway. Discount tickets are available at business places of merchants listed in an advertisement in Monday's edition of the Times. Each ticket strip also contains a registration blank for a free pony which will be awarded at 5:30 p. m. Blanks may be deposited in a barrel for that purpose on the midway.

Special interest will be focused on the Friday night 4-H show which will be presented in front of the grandstand. In addition to a parade of champions at 7:30 p. m., the two-hour show will include presentation of the county 4-H style revue queen and her attendants, share-the-fun festival acts and other community talent secured by various 4-H clubs in the county. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children 6 to 12 years of age.

Saturday and Sunday attraction will be the Marlo Bros. three-ring circus which will be presented at 8 p. m. on Saturday and Sunday with a matinee performance on Sunday afternoon. Animal acts, juggling, trampoline, trapeze and other acts will be presented in the full circus program.

Judges for open class will be the following: Charles Campbell, Hallock, dairy cattle; Harold Rosendahl, Ada, beef cattle and swine; Carl Spong, Fargo, sheep; Robert Kloubec, TRF, agriculture; Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, Crookston, culinary; Harold Thomforde, Crookston, flowers; Mrs. Leslie Matts, fancy needlework; Mrs. Harold Rosendahl, Ada, practical; Mrs. Ray Jude, TRF, art.

Gravel has been hauled on parking areas of the grounds so that ample parking inside the gate is available, according to Kenneth Onken, secretary. With the carnival in operation tonight, the local National Guard unit will provide parking assistance tonight and through the remainder of the fair. Admission at the gate is again free this year with a charge of 25 cents per car being made for parking.

Judging of all exhibits will be held on Friday with the exception of culinary which will be judged tonight. Persons wishing information from the secretary's office at the grounds may call 681-2539.

Program Arranged for Aquacade Pageant at High School August 4

Program arrangements for the Second Annual Miss America preliminary pageant were completed at a meeting of the queen committee of the Thief River Falls Jaycees held Tuesday morning. The pageant, part of the 8th Annual Aquacade, will be held at 8 p. m. on Saturday, August 4, in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Eight young ladies from Thief River Falls and area communities will compete for the title of Miss Aquacade and an opportunity to represent this city in the District Miss America pageant to be held next spring. District winners will be entered in the Miss Minnesota pageant held annually at Rochester.

Special entertainment during the local pageant will be provided by Ken Kennedy, radio and television personality from Fargo, and a troupe of entertainers. The group will provide two interim entertainment programs while judges complete tabulation of scoring in the several divisions of the contest.

Finalists for the Miss Aquacade title will compete in swimsuit, evening gown and talent divisions. Engraved plaques will be presented to the winners of each division. Three finalists will be selected on the basis of the judges' cumulative totals and they will be listed as second runner-up, first runner-up and Miss Aquacade.

Miss Minnesota Guest

Miss Minnesota of 1962, Judy Ann Lerstad of Bloomington, will be introduced and will present her talent act—a saxophone solo. Visiting queens from other areas will be introduced to the crowd. Coronation of the new Miss Acquacade will be done by Miss Susanne Pitblado, Roseau, 1961 winner in the local pageant, district winner and talent division winner in the Miss Minnesota contest.

Tickets for the pageant will go on sale in about a week with reserved seats being sold until a few days before the event. No reserved seat tickets will be sold at the door. General admission price will be $1 with advance sale of reserved tickets being held at $1.75 per ticket.

Charles Holmquist and James Koller are co-chairmen of the queen committee with Fred Ballou and Kenneth Swenson as co-chairmen of the stage and seating committee. George Hildre is serving as chairman of pageant ticket sales.

Discuss Gas Franchise

Verne Madsen, vice president of American Gas company, appeared in regard to a request for franchise to furnish natural gas service to Thief River Falls. Two readings of an ordinance granting such franchise have been held but a legal technicality, outlined by Robert Wurst, city attorney, has prevented the third and final reading.

"Section 42 of our laws reads that . . . granting of any public franchise. . .may not be done unless the city advertises for bids as required by law. Prior to the time that we could have a third reading we would have to advertise for bids," Wurst said. "Before final action granting the franchise could be taken, legal publication in the newspaper would be required. This requires to publications one week apart.

"This does not mean that previous action already taken is futile. You would be required to submit a bid to provide natural gas service to the city. If the council determined that your bid was the most favorable, the third reading could then be held."

She has completed her freshman year at Augsburg college where she plans to major in mathematics and minor in speech. In the future she plans to enter personnel work. Her talent presentation will be an original oration on prejudice.

Inspiration for her talk likely comes from her experiences as an American Field Service exchange student to Greece in 1960, a time which she terms "the most wonderfuly exciting and opportune portions of my high school years." Telling organizations about her experiences in Greece has given her a great deal of public speaking experience.

High School Activities

While in high school Connie was selected as homecoming queen attendant as a junior and headed homecoming committees as a sophomore and senior; served as prom committee chairman; was a member of the library and Latin clubs; sang in chorus for three years; member of the Lincoln Log staff and later business manager and assistant editor for the Prowler yearbook; hockey and football cheerleader for four years; and member of the pep club for four years. She was treasurer of the senior class and was named to the National Honor Society.

Her college activities have been purposely limited. Early last fall she was selected as a varsity cheerleader.

In the winter she worked on the staff of the Lutheran Free church magazine "Living" and this spring she was a member of the campus One Appeal campaign committee.

Hobby Interests

Her hobbies include designing and knitting sweaters, sewing and currently reading the works of Edgar Allan Poe. Spectator sport interests lie in hockey, basketball and football while she enjoys participating in ice skating, golf and tennis. She studied piano for four years and has worked for her father at the Pharmacy in this city for five summers

Connie has a brother, Bob, who is approaching his senior year at North Dakota State University and majoring in pharmacy, following the example of his father. Younger brother Tom, an avid trapshooting enthusiast on his father's Pharmacy team, will be a sophomore at Lincoln high school this fall.

CONNIE Ekeren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Ekeren of 302 Maple av. N., will be sponsored by Northern State Bank in the Jaycees Aquacade Miss America preliminary pageant on August 4. Nineteen-year-old Connie is a 1961 graduate of Lincoln high school and has completed her freshman year at Augsburg college. She will use her experiences as an American Field Service exchange student to Greece as a basis for her talent presentation—an original oration on prejudice. One of her spare time hobbies is designing and knitting of sweaters.

calling for congressional action "to have the United States Army Engineers make a study of the Red Lake River and Clearwater River basins and to prepare a report with recommendations for control of the waters of said watershed."

The resolution also states that the two areas "In the 12 months preceding June 15, 1962, experienced a drought so severe that there was a shortage of water for the municipalities and industries located in said basin and within said 12 months period there has been disasterous flood in the same watershed."

Dr. James Disse and Otto Ruprecht of Thief River Falls are members of the newly-organized association which is compiling resolutions from governing bodies in the watershed for presentation to legislators in requesting the survey.

Resolutions were adopted for payment of estimates on work completed by a number of firms engaged in city projects. They include Jay W. Craig company, $35,917; Kraus-Anderson, $5,625; J. B. Haglund and Sons, $14,522; Robert Gigg and Sons, $13,538; Dorsey, Owen, Marquart, Windhorst and West, $663; and Arko Construction company, $4,304. McLeod Elected County Chairman of Republicans

J. J. Womack opened the meeting and called on David Stenseth, Seventh district GOP field man, to introduce Mr. Kunzig, who offered suggestions as to Republican strategy to combat the tactics of the opposition party.

Discussing his candidacy, he declared that better government will result when the attorney general elected for the next four years is of the same political party as Governor Andersen.

"An attorney general from the opposite party is just plain bad government," he said. "It doesn't make any more sense than a company attorney who would be in cahoots with the competition.

"I urge you all to support my candidacy so that we can give Governor Andersen a Republican attorney general who will pledge cooperation with him for the future good of the state."

Kunzig wound up a three day tour of northern Minnesota in Thief River Falls. He spent Sunday and Monday in the Beltrami county area and spoke Monday evening in Bemidji.

Other business transacted at the meeting included the adoption of a revised constitution and by-laws for the county organization, as submitted by Mrs. Robert Bredeson; and a report by Peter M. Probasco, finance chairman, who pointed out the need for increased funds for the coming campaign.

Lunch was served at the close of the evening.

have been numerous. He served more than 20 years as director and secretary of the Pennington County Agricultural Society; sponsor of the county fair. He served as a director of the Red River Valley Development association, one of the sponsoring organizations of the Winter Shows at Crookston. He was active in the promotion of river channel improvement and served as treasurer of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District during the time that the channels of the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers were dredged.

He was active in the negotiations with Dr. Theodor Bratrud of Warren prior to the building of St. Lukes Hospital and served on the board of that organization from the beginning and until the merger of the two hospitals was completed and the present Northwestern Hospital was organized. He was one of the organizers and has since served as secretary of the Thief River Falls Foundation.

His contributions to community development and improvement are innumerable.

And retirement from the insurance business will not mean the end of active participation for Mr. Lund in matters of public and private interest. He still has many irons in the fire and intends to keep right on with the management of his own affairs and doing the things that interest him, which are numerous. He will continue to maintain his office in the same place that has been his workshop since 1929. After 40 years of active participation in the community Mr. Lund states that he and Mrs. Lund are beginning to like it here and have no intention of leaving.

Fred Gray, 89, Well-known Here, Buried in S. Dak.

A retired Montana and South Dakota rancher, Fred Gray of Stevens Point, Wisconsin, died in St. Michael's Hospital Friday, July 13. He was 89 years old.

Mr. Gray had made his home with a daughter, Miss Irene Gray, a professor of speech and English at Central State College.

Services were held Monday, July 16, in Trinity Lutheran church of which he was a member. Burial took place in Spearfish, S. D., cemetery where services were conducted by the Lutheran pastor of that city.

Mr. Gray was born in Kansas June 13, 1873, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Gray, pioneer settlers in the west. He was married to the former Ida M. Dorsett in South Dakota on October 1, 1899 and the couple lived afterward on a ranch in southwestern Montana, which Mr. Gray homesteaded.

Mrs. Gray preceded him in death in 1941, in Spearfish. His only son, Adrian J. Gray, also preceded him in death in 1946. Since that time until this past year when he joined his daughter in Stevens Point, Wisconsin, Mr. Gray has shared with his son's widow, Pearl M. Gray, Newfolden, the responsibility of rearing the sons, Wayne A. Gray and Thomas A. Gray.

Also surviving are Mrs. C. J. Northrup (Freeda), Lamar, Colorado, daughter; six grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Mable Hutchinson of Burbank, Calif; and one brother, George, Belle Fourche, S. D.

Loren Jorgenson Files To Oppose Senator Sinclair

Argyle Farmer Seeks Election from Roseau, Kittson and Marshall

Loren Jorgenson

Loren Jorgenson of Argyle, farmer and insurance agent, filed Tuesday to oppose Sen. Donald Sinclair of Stephen as a candidate for the state senate in Minnesota's 67th district. The district includes Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties.

Born in Argyle, Jorgenson is a 1935 graduate of Newfolden high school and a veteran of World War II when he served three years with the 125th Field Artillery, 19 months overseas. His community service includes treasurer of School Dist. 1044, chairman of the American Red Cross chapter, member of the American Legion, director of the Farmers Union Oil company at Argyle and member of the Alma Lutheran church. He is married and has six children.

"After much urging from my friends in Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties, and discussion with state leaders, I decided to run," Jorgenson stated in announcing his filing. "It is an honor and a real responsibility to serve one's neighbors. It is also the duty of every citizen to do what he can for the betterment of his government. I undertake this campaign with a sense of sincerity, dedication to the liberal cause, and a deep desire that the people of this area receive the active representation to which they are entitled.

"This area needs the kind of representation of which it can be proud," Jorgenson stated. "Our present state senator claims to be a liberal, but his voting record shows that he votes with the Republican conservatives on virtually every roll call vote.

"It is my intention to take the voting record of the incumbent into every home in the district. I will run a campaign based on the issues and problems facing our state. The people of this district need a senator who can and will work with men of the caliber of Senator Hubert Humphrey, Senator Eugene McCarthy and Secretary Orville Freeman. It is my intention to bring active leadership to our three counties. I do not intend to be a rubber stamp for any faction of interest group or any party."

Legion Jrs. Lose to EGF in Semis

A pair of home runs powered coach Roger Aachen's East Grand Forks team to an 8-3 win over Thief River Falls in an American Legion sub-district junior baseball tournament semi-finals game played at Roseau on Wednesday afternoon. In the other semi-finals game, played earlier in the afternoon, the Lake Bronson juniors, scoring a pair of runs in the last half of the seventh inning, edged out the Roseau juniors, 2-1. East Grand Forks will meet Lake Bronson in a 6:00 p. m. game at Roseau this evening, Thursday, and the winner will advance to the district tournament which will be played at Thief River Falls on Thursday and Friday, July 26 and 27.

In tournament first-round games played on Tuesday, Roseau defeated Warroad, 7-4; Lake Bronson defeated Warren, 12-4; Thief River Falls defeated Middle River, 10-8; and East Grand Forks sidelined Crookston, 6-5.

In Wednesday afternoon's semi-finals game between East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls, the East Siders took a 3 to 0 lead in the first inning when, with the singling Louis Lopez on second and the walking Larry Colson on first, Chuck Clausen poled a Dick Johnson pitch over the left field fence. The locals picked up a run in the last half of the first when Paul Klungness drove a triple to left-center, scoring Gary Klungness who had walked.

In the fourth, East Grand Forks added a five-run cluster, with Ray Gibbons' two-run home run over the fence in left-center, being the "power" blow of the rally. The home run came off Rick Jensen's delivery. Righthander Tony Poole then took over the hurling duties for the locals, and he limited the East Siders to one hit and no runs in three and one-third innings.

The locals, held to but two hits and two runs by righthander Ray Candler, put on a rally in the sixth that drove Candler off the mound. Paul Klungness opened with a double, and John Aune and Larry Poole followed with ground singles, with Klungness scoring on Aune's hit. Lopez was brought in from third base to pitch, and the righthander retired the locals without any further hits or runs.

In Tuesday afternoon's first-round game against Middle River, coach Ralph Skay's team was forced to make a couple of come-from-behind rallies to defeat coach Jerry Snyder's hard-hitting Middle River club, winning by a 10-8 score.

Middle River rapped two Thief River Falls pitchers for fourteen hits, including three doubles and a triple. The locals notched ten hits off Rick Anderson and Rich Lorenson, Middle River righthanders. Paul Klungness hoisted a towering home run over the right field fence in the fourth inning.

Few Sea Lamprey Now Immigrating into Great Lakes

Contrary to popular belief, there is no great surge of sea lamprey "Immigration" from the Atlantic Ocean into the Great Lakes thru the newly developed St. Lawrence seaway.

Hjalmar O. Swenson, Conservation Department fisheries supervisor, said Canadian fisheries observers have been following the lamprey runs closely and they are very small. In fact almost as many swim back into the ocean as come into the Great Lakes. They are, however, in hopes of finding a way to stop their migration entirely.

"The sea lamprey population has been building up slowly over more than a century," Swenson said. "They have been getting into the Great Lakes ever since the Wiland canal was opened.

"The Canadian observers have noted that the lamprey move in from the sea only during a short period in the fall and in comparatively small numbers."

Conservation Department fisheries supervisor, Hjalmar Swenson reported today that state rough fish removal crews had taken 1,500,000 pounds of carp from Minnesota waters through the end of June. He said many additional pounds of carp were taken this spring from traps operated by sportsmen's clubs under permit from the conservation department but that reports were incomplete at this time.

Wind and Weather

Quite a number of the local anglers, who are inveterate Lake of the Woods fishermen, have changed their base of operation from the American side of the lake to the Ontario portion of the lake.

The Springsteel Island, Long Point, Rocky Point, Morris Point and other favored American fishing areas on Lake of the Woods, provides as good fishing as the Canadian waters, but weather and wind conditions are in favor of the Ontario water.

The American-side fishing areas are vulnerable to the winds that sweep across the big traverse of the lake. For instance, a couple of weeks ago, with a brisk northeast wind coming in across the lake, several boats out of the Springsteel Island area were swamped. Fortunately, except for a drenching and dunking in the lake, no drownings occurred.

The Ontario section of Lake of the Woods, from the Morson area and taking in Sabaskong Bay, is well-protected from the winds that prevail, being provided with numerous islands and bays. And the fishing in these waters is more varied than on the American side, which is largely restricted to walleyes, saugers, and northern pike. Miles Bay, for example, is a choice smallmouth bass water. Last week's Winnipeg Tribune, in listing the noteworthy fish that were taken in the provinces of Manitoba and Ontario, made mention of 4 lb. 3 oz. smallmouth bass caught in Miles Bay. And there were several three-pounds plus bass reported from the Obabikon Bay camps. In the Obabikon Bay area there are a number of crapple beds, and for the panfish angler using light tackle, these slab-sided fish furnish great sport.

Should mention, too, that Harlan Huseth and Morris (Mouse) Efteland are the owners of a twin-outboard motor cruiser, and have made a couple of "shakedown" cruises on Lake of the Woods. The boat is equipped with a pair of 18-horse outboards, and should be an ideal fishing outfit. Mouse and Harlan are in the market for a pair of yachting caps, the kind with a lot of gold braid and bearing a crossed-anchor insignia. There should be some means to warn the saugers that Mouse and Harlan are boat-owners.

They Were a Good Team

That was a fine team that coach Jerry Snyder and the Middle River American Legion post put on the field in junior baseball competition this season.

It was the first season in junior baseball for Middle River. In a first-round sub-district game at Roseau on Tuesday afternoon, the Thief River Falls team, rated number two in conference play, were fortunate to edge out the Middle River club, 10-8. The Middle River club, a free-swinging and heavy-hitting outfit, banged out fourteen hits, and but for some wild pitches and passed balls, would have turned in a win over the locals.

And the Middle River club was without the services of Larry Johnson, one of the better players in the conference. Johnson, a pitcher and shortstop, and a fine hitter, is employed by the Kiene Farms at Kennedy, and it was impossible for him to attend the tournament. It was perhaps fortunate for the local juniors that Larry was not on hand.

Report on the Cripples

The 9-8 win that the Thieves scored over the Twin Valley Twins here on Sunday night proved costly. Dennis Bakke, catcher, following a collision at the plate in the seventh inning, was taken to Northwestern hospital. It was feared that the former Newfolden Nordies all-round athlete had suffered a serious neck injury, but after examination and observation the injury was diagnosed as a sprain. Dennis was released from the hospital on Tuesday.

And southpaw pitcher Freddy Jensen came up with a lame back and had to leave the contest in the fifth inning. Fred has been pitching very effectively for the Thieves this season, and it is due largely through his efforts that manager Joey Poole's club can boast a record of six wins and but three losses. Latest reports are that the back injury is proving stubborn, and there is a question whether or not the lefthander will be ready for next Wednesday night's tilt against Fertile.

The Crookston Pirates, thanks to the cooperation of the Thief River Falls Thieves, who defeated the Twin Valley Twins, 9-8, continue to hold first place in the Norman-Polk league standings.

Manager Rod Olstad's Crookston club, in a game played at Crookston last Wednesday evening, were shut out by Twin Valley and righthander Al Santwire, 5-0. The win moved the Twins into a temporary tie with the Pirates for the league lead, but the loss to Thief River Falls on Sunday night dropped the Twins into second place.

Tonight, with game time at 8:15 P.M. at Fertile, the North All-Stars will meet the South All-Stars in the league's annual All-Star tilt.

4 Workers in U.S. for Each Citizen over 65

Today there are only four persons in the U. S. labor force for each elder citizen of 65 or over. In 1940 when the Social Security program was getting under way, there were six available workers to each oldster. In 1920 the ratio was eight people in the labor force for every citizen of 65 or over.

The rapid change in the above ratios is one of the most important cost factors in meeting the problems of our aging population, but some of its effects, particularly on the younger workers, are not fully recognized, says the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

Steady decline in the ratio of taxable workers to retirement-age citizens means a steady increase in the share which each worker must pay to meet the cost of every new increase or extension in Social Security benefits, says the bureau's report. The younger the worker, the larger the share he must expect to pay in the total costs of such increases, it points out.

In the early days of the Social Security program, collections were much greater than outgoes because of the small number of claims. Expenditures have increased rapidly in recent years, however; this is partly due to the larger number of claims being paid as the plan continues, and partly to successive increases voted by Congress, both in benefits and in number of persons covered. Net results, of particular impact on the pocketbook of the younger worker, are these, according to the report:

Social Security outgoes have overtaken collections. The old age "Trust fund" or reserve of Government bonds accumulated in equal to the amount of future benefits promised to persons then on the benefit rolls. Today the trust fund amounts to less than one-fourth the value of such promised future payments, without any allowance for the potential claims of those not yet on the benefit rolls.

Older workers with only a few years left to pay Social Security taxes, and persons already on the benefit rolls, pay little or none of the added costs of new benefits granted them. Thus collections made from the pay checks of younger workers, together with matching contributions by their employers, must make up the difference, the report points out.

As medical science and more healthful conditions enable more people to live longer, we are at the same time retiring more people from useful work, and at younger ages. For women, the Social Security retirement age was lowered in 1956, and for men in 1961; the age requirement for disability benefits was removed entirely in 1960. Already there is mounting pressure to lower retirement ages further, while increasing benefits and covering more people, says the report.

Drivers License Systems Differ in American States

More Than 1,800,000 Are Issued in Minnesota in '61; 88 Million in U.S.

A total of 88,852,012 motor vehicle operators licenses were in force in the United States during 1961, according to figures recently released by the Bureau of Public Roads. The estimate was 1.7 force during 1960.

The five state area, including Minnesota, chalked up a total of 5,982,281. Of these, Wisconsin was high with 1,855,322, followed closely by Minnesota with only 20,000 less. Iowa ranked third with 1½ million, while the Dakotas came up with a combined total of 820,000, with South Dakota 100,000 in the lead.

A closer scrutiny of the variations in the drivers license systems in the five states reveals some interesting comparisons. For instance, Minnesota issued 205,825 chauffeurs licenses in 1961 (of which 9,785 were for school bus operators), or 50,000 more than Iowa, and 140,000 more than Wisconsin, while none was issued in either of the Dakotas. Minnesota, also had by far the largest number of learners permits where, again, none was issued in either of the Dakotas.

Iowa, North Dakota and Wisconsin issue drivers licenses for only 2-year terms while Minnesota and South Dakota allow a term of 4 years All of the five states except North Dakota have their renewal date set for the licensee's birthday. North Dakota's requirement is on July 1. Three of the states, Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota charge $3 for a new or renewal license. South Dakota charges only $2 and Wisconsin charges $2.50 for a new license and $2 for a renewal.

Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin each had around 1½ million motor vehicles in both private and commercial types registered in 1961.

George Farr, DFL State Chairman, and Dr. Charles W. Mayo join in the V for victory sign to promote passage of constitutional Amendment No. 2, as Mrs. Charles W. Hymes and Val Bjornson, State Treasurer, look on. Mrs. Hymes and Dr. Mayo are Co-chairmen of the Amendment No. 2 Committee. The amendment, made necessary by the State Supreme Court's ruling forbidding further issuance of bonds in violation of the state's 100 year-old debt limit, would substitute 60% approval of both houses of the legislature as a requirement for incurring any state indebtedness instead of establishing a ceiling of any specific amount.

Potato Breeding Work Explained at Crop & Soils Day

Horticulture Professor at Minnesota 'U' Tells of Potato Experiments

Somewhere among the 14,000 plants which visitors saw waving in the breeze on a six-acre field just outside Crookston Tuesday may be a new and better variety of potato.

But it will be 12 to 15 years before it's known whether any of the seedlings in the field will survive rigorous and extensive testing, said Florian Lauer, associate professor of horticulture at the University of Minnesota.

He explained potato breeding work at the annual Crops and Soils Day at the University's Northwest Experiment Station. The seedlings came from tubers of plants which came from true potato seed grown in the greenhouse the previous year.

The Crookston station is important in potato variety development because here the seedlings are grown and selections made under conditions prevailing in the Red River Valley, one of the nation's principal spud growing areas.

Only about 5 per cent of the seedling in the field at Crookston will be selected for further testing. Over the coming decade or more, they and their "descendants" will be subjected to increasingly extensive testing for horticulture characters, yielding ability and processing qualities, as well as resistance to common scab and late blight. Throughout this time, the selections will be indexed in the greenhouse to maintain them free of viruses.

The tests become progressively more extensive as time goes on.

A selection surviving all of these tests will finally be entered in large-scale demonstration trials simulating grower conditions. Three of these demonstration sites are located in the Red River Valley, one at Osseo and one at Hollandale.

When a selection passes all tests with flying colors and merits release as a named variety, the stock is increased at the University's North Central Experiment Station, Grand Rapids, for further increase by certified growers. When sufficient stock is available, the variety will be named and released.

Beltrami Board Holds '62 Budget to 1961 Figures

The Beltrami county board held the line in approving its 1963 budget July 10 to highlight the regular semi-annual meeting of the couunty's governing body.

Acting on the recommendation of County Auditor Wayne Alsop, the board voted to retain taxes at last year's level, authorizing a general tax levy of $351,100 and a welfare levy of $339,660.

Alsop told the board that by holding the line, the county might risk a slight deficit next year, should unexpected emergencies arise, but felt that, in light of the present business and tax structure of the county, no increase was necessary.

Tree Experiment Is Launched at Bemidji

To improve the breed of timber-producing trees through the use of selected seed, the Minnesota Conservation Department forestry division is launching two pilot projects, the first of their kind in the nation.

The seed plantations, at Hibbing for Norway pine and at Bemidji for white spruce, utilize 22 to 28 year old stock originally planted by the CCC. The Lake States Forest Experiment station at the University of Minnesota is cooperating in the project.

The purpose, as explained by Emil Kukachka, forestry section chief, is to stimulate seed production from superior trees and hold those trees to a height at which workers can readily harvest the cones.

The two areas were selected because the trees had shown a phenomenal survival rate, 80 to 90 per cent. All were hand planted during the 1930's.

"Cones purchased at random more frequently than not may come from dwarfed or deformed trees that are easier to harvest for seed," Kukachka said. "These tend to reproduce more scrubs. It costs no more to plant quality seeds, from which trees will grow faster, more perfect and produce more usable lumber"

In four plots, the trees will be thinned, soil disced and fertilized and the trees topped. There will be alternate treatment in the program over a five year period to determine which best stimulates cone production.

"To get cones from superior trees now often calls for scaling a 75-foot Norway pine," Kukachka said. "We will attempt to hold the tree to about 25 feet in height by topping. Accessibility of the cone is as important as the quality."

The entire project calls for five years of continuous study.

Many 'Hoppers in Marshall, Kittson

Extension Entomologist Reports at Crookston

A heavy hatch of grasshoppers in Kittson and Marshall counties in northwestern Minnesota was reported at Crookston Tuesday.

John Lofgren told plant pest clinic visitors at the Northwest Experiment Station Crops and Soils Day to check roadsides, fence rows, field margins, hayfields and idle land for grasshopper infestation and take control measures if necessary.

Lofgren is extension entomologist at the University of Minnesota.

Present grasshopper population in northwestern Minnesota is mainly in the half-grown stage; a few 'hoppers are fully grown. Red-legged and two-striped grasshoppers are the dominant species.

For control recommendations, see your county agricultural agent.

"I decline to accept the end of man. It is easy enough to say that man is immortal simply because he will endure: That when the long ding-dong of doom has clanged and faded from the last worthless rock hanging tideless in the last red and dying evening, that evening, that even then there will be one more sound: That of his puny, inexhaustible voice, still talking.

"I refuse to accept this: I believe that man will not merely endure: He will prevail. He is immortal, not because he alone among creatures has an inexhaustible voice, but because he has a soul, a spirit capable of compassion and sacrifice and endurance."

—William Faulkner

Informed Electorate

There is good reason to believe that people are becoming more tax conscious, and that encourages the hope that voters will apply the brakes to spending in time to avert a financial disaster. But it is only a hope, and there is no assurance that common sense will prevail in time.

Scarcely a day passes that does not bring reports of proposals by President Kennedy for new spending programs. The proposals that he has been making lately have been of the type that have mass appeal, and obviously are offered for their vote-getting effect. The 1962 political campaign is under way and politician Kennedy is at his tricky best.

We are sure that President Kennedy is not seriously in favor of some of the proposals he has been making. He knows, for instance, that Social Security is already in serious trouble financially, and any extension of benefits that would add further to the immediate cost of the program cannot be justified by foreseeable income. Such proposals come close to being dishonest.

But from now on we are going to be subjected to a lot of that sort of thing, which means that those who oppose that which is unrealistic will have to defend themselves from charges of being against progress.

Government is not a racket at the village or township level because at that level the problems are close to the people and the voters generally are well informed. But the more remote the problems, the less informed is the electorate and the greater are the opportunities for the misrepresentation of facts.

At the present time the facts, nationally, should be fairly self-evident. Our government is in financial trouble. Friendly nations are coming to our rescue to some extent. Several nations have paid their obligations to us before they are due in order to help us through our difficulty. But our gold reserve continues to diminish.

Only as the voters are fully informed on these matters can we expect them to come up with the right answers. It is in the best interests of our nation that the electorate be fully informed on all of the problems with which we are confronted. Only informed voters can make the right decisions.

New Court Proposal

A group of Wisconsin attorneys has offered an interesting proposal for the establishment of an international court that has considerable merit. To start with, the court's jurisdiction would be limited to the few nations whose legal structures and conceptions are based on English law. They suggest that it be organized by the United States, Great Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand and its compulsory jurisdiction would be limited to such matters as the five nations would agree upon. In commenting on the proposal the St. Paul Pioneer Press points out:

> "Proponents of the plan emphasize that its merits include unusual comity. The suggested signatory nations all have similar historical and cultural heritages and basically similar political, educational, religious and social and economic systems and objectives. They have legal systems based upon common law and a deep and abiding respect for the freedom of the individual and for private property. Judges would have similar backgrounds and English would be the official language. The natural confidence that exists among the nations would permit a broad base of compulsory jurisdiction, say supporters."

Provisions would be made for a gradual expansion to include other nations experienced in the English legal system and nations that would want to be indentified with the group. The Wisconsin lawyers say the proposal "is a modest and gradual approach to the establishment of an international code of law."

Starting small is sometimes the best way to begin. The present World Court has had few matters referred to it largely because of a lack of confidence in its procedures. All of Britain's once vast colonial system has been indoctrinated more or less with the English system and it is reasonable to assume that the English system would serve as the proper base for the new structure which would gradually adjust itself to changing conditions.

They Just Grumble

American manufacturers are increasing the use of foreign-made parts in their products. One company is spending $97,000 for a part for a turbine, including shipping charges and a 15 per cent import duty. This is $40,000 less than what it would cost to manufacture the item in its own plant.

From a Wall Street Journal report we pass along the following figures on parts imports which are especially significant to the extent that they indicate a trend:

Parts imported for:	1961	1957
Automobiles	$48,162,659	$17,669,736
Aircraft	68,831,844	37,195,227
Tractors	19,918,310	6,067,775
Pleasure boats	928,164	138,306
Vacuum cleaner	946,257	58,259
Sewing machine	3,155,094	1,841,868
Electric motors	1,289,167	909,198

These figures explain why we have unemployment in our country. But the cost of labor is only one factor that determines the price of a product. Another very important factor in the higher cost of manufacturing in our country is the higher cost of government. Taxes at all levels enter into the cost of every operation. Government is tremendously expensive and this cost is an important cause of our growing inability to compete.

Unfortunately we are inclined to accept costly government as one of those things we can do nothing about. Actually much could be done to reduce wasteful and unnecessary spending. But the tax spenders, at all levels are well organized, and the tax payers are not organized. They just grumble.

Washington Approves

The New York Times, generally quite realistic, seems to be delighted with the prospect for an early visit to the moon. It gurgles with joy in looking forward to what is ahead of us, stating excitedly that:

> "Breathtaking audacity marks the program for a manned landing on the moon which is now reported to have won Washington's favor. A single huge C-5 rocket would fire a capsule into orbit about the moon. A small manned vehicle would leave the capsule, land on the moon, discharge its passengers and later return them to the original capsule still circling the moon. Then the lunar explorers would return to earth—much in the manner of commuters on the 5:29 p. m. Stamford local."

When the New York Times starts talking that way then we are quite sure that as a nation we are off our rocker. We are sure a trip to the moon is not going to be as simple as the Times makes out, and estimates as to the cost of trying to accomplish that feat range from a low of 20 to a high of 40 billion dollars. These estimates are in terms of our present 47 cent dollar and in terms of a 10 cent dollar the cost would of course be substantially higher.

When we think in terms of the cost it is easy for us to become very unenthusiastic about flying to the moon. We can think of many better ways to waste the dollars. Well, it's nice to know that Washington favors the idea.

Hearing Under Way

When the Billie Sol Estes case started to get nation-wide publicity Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman stated that it was "being ballooned out of all proportion." He did not favor a congressional investigation, stating that the department would do its own investigating.

But the investigation which proceded nevertheless, has revealed a great deal of information that will be useful in plugging some loopholes that no doubt have been costly. Estes probably isn't the only swindler who has taken advantage of lax administration in dealing with the government over a period of many years.

Surprisingly, Mr. Freeman was one of the last officials in Washington to hear about the Estes case, which had been under investigation for some time by Texas state authorities before the federal government became interested. The investigation apparently is in good hands and it is well to wait until the final report is in before reaching conclusions.

Cause and Effect

(Chicago Tribune)

Speaking before the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants here, Sen. Barry Goldwater referred to pending legislation (which he opposes) to provide prison sentences for farmers who exceed acreage allotments to transfer them to Billie Sol Estes or anyone else. His remarks, we think, constitute a cogent editorial:

> "Estes just happened to get caught. Corruption of this kind always occurs when the government tries to control the whole economy. The inevitable result of government intervention to control part of the economy is further intervention, until eventually the government controls the whole economy and we have a police state."

The socialist planners will cotinue their efforts from crisis to crisis, the senator believes, until the day arrives when Congress, in a period of economic distress, will grant the totalitarian controls they seek. And when that occurs, constitutional government and the liberties enjoyed by Americans under the Bill of Rights will come to an end.

Robert J. Lund Retires — Les Ihle Buys Agency

MERGER TO BE EFFECTIVE TUESDAY, JULY 31st.

ROBERT J. LUND INSURANCE AGENCY
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

July 14, 1962

DEAR FRIENDS —

It is with mixed emotions that I announce my retirement from the insurance business in Thief River Falls. Since 1927 I have operated the Lund Insurance Agency and after so many years in this field it is not easy to step out. My activities in various capacities in the community date back to 1922 and during that period of 40 years I have been favored with the confidence of a large number of you whom I like to look upon as friends.

I have sold my insurance agency to Les Ihle of this city who in recent years has been a friendly competitor. The effective date of the sale is July 31st, 1962 and the transfer of records will be made as of that date.

There will be no interruption in the servicing of your insurance now in my agency. Immediately on and after August 1st you will please contact the Ihle Agency relative to any matters pertaining to your insurance. I am confident that Les Ihle and his staff will give you excellent service. Mrs. Margaret Olsen who has been my secretary and faithful employee for many years will be employed by the Les Ihle Agency. I can recommend Les very highly to you and therefore trust you will now favor him as you have favored me in the past.

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to you for your confidence and consideration over the years and especially, of course, your patronage. I will continue to maintain my office in its present location for the handling of my personal interests and of course I will be happy to have you drop in at any time for a visit.

Sincerely yours,
Robert J. Lund

Thief River Falls, Minnesota

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE THIEF RIVER FALLS COMMUNITY —

The purchase of the Lund Insurance Agency is both an opportunity and a responsibility.

The Lund Agency has over a period of many years provided a dependable insurance service, guided by the highest standards of business integrity. I am very pleased to have the opportunity to carry on the responsibility of his agency and to continue to serve the many fine policyholders. We feel fortunate that Mr. Lund will continue to live here and be available for consultation. And we all extend to Mr. Lund our best wishes for his health and happiness in the years of his retirement.

We are happy to announce that Mrs. Margaret Olsen will join our staff as office manager. Her ability and experience in the insurance field is generally recognized and under her supervision the transfer of the Lund Agency accounts to our office will be greatly simplified.

The many excellent companies that Mr. Lund has in his agency are being transferred to us and they will strengthen our service a great deal. We try to keep our policyholders informed on all changes that take place in the business of insurance protection — with their best interest in mind.

We welcome to our agency, the Lund Agency accounts and pledge the best possible service in handling them. And we solicit new accounts with the assurance that under our expanded operation we will be able to provide dependable insurance protection with the best of either mutual or old-line companies. For the time being we will continue to operate in our present location.

Sincerely yours,
Les Ihle Insurance Agency

Excessive Speed No. 1 Traffic Death Cause

You wouldn't drive your car off the roof of a 13-story building. But you'd achieve the same effect by hitting a stationary object while driving 70 miles an hour.

Speed is not always the primary cause of traffic accidents, but it often turns a minor accident into a fatal one. Last year, speed was the third on the list of Minnesota accident causes, but first as a cause of traffic deaths.

The faster you travel, the faster things happen, and the greater the damage when an accident occurs.

Minnesota speed limits are 30 miles an hour in any municipality; 50 miles an hour at night and 60 during the day, and 60 during the night with 65 and 70 during the day in a few instances on some freeways. But the posted speed limit is not always the safe limit. Ice and snow on the highway, heavy rains that cause poor visibility, construction; and other factors, including driver fatigue, may require speeds considerably below those posted.

Slow down when approaching hills, curves, streets, highways, railroad crossings, flags, flares, fuses or rotating emergency red lights.

At night, never drive so fast that you cannot stop within the distance of your headlight beams. It will take you 400 feet to stop when traveling 60 miles an hour, and a headlight casts a clearly illuminating beam of only about 350 feet.

Your Minnesota Drivers Manual has more information on speed laws and regulations. Get one at your nearest driver examining station or at the Highway department.

N.W. School Notes the Centennial of Land-grant Act

'U' M. Speaker Points out College Contributions to Agriculture in the U. S.

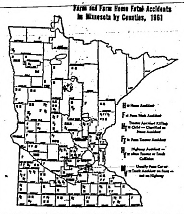
World leadership by the United States in agriculture and education have resulted from the signing of the Land-Grant College Act by President Lincoln 100 years ago, said A. C. Hodson, head of the University of Minnesota's department of entomology, fisheries, and wildlife, at Crookston Tuesday, July 17.

Using the centennial of the Land-Grant College Act as his theme, Hodson spoke at annual Crops and Soils Day at the University of Minnesota's Northwest School and Experiment Station.

He pointed out that within the span of less than two months in 1862 President Lincoln approved three acts which have been largely responsible for the pre-eminence of United States in Agriculture today. In rapid succession, Lincoln signed into law the act creating the Department of Agriculture, the Homestead Act and the Morrill Act, a bill which provided the means for establishing state colleges and for the teaching of agriculture and mechanic arts.

Together, these acts put into motion the settling of unoccupied lands and the development of scientific and technological advances in farming which must be continued today to meet current and future problems of production and distribution, said Hodson.

Author of the Land-Grant Act was Representative Justin Morrill of Vermont. Under the terms of this act, each state received a grant of 30,000 acres for each of its members in Congress. The income from the sale of this land was to provide an endowment fund for the continuing support of the colleges. Minnesota received 120,000 acres.



Farm and Farm Home Fatal Accidents In Minnesota by Counties, 1961
H = Home Accident
F = Farm Work Accident
H T = Tractor Accident Killing Child — Classified as Home Accident
F T = Farm Tractor Accident
H Y = Highway Accident — often Tractor or Truck Collision
Usually Farm Car or Truck Accident on Farm — not on Highway

MORE PEOPLE are killed in farming than in any other industry, says Glenn Prickett, extension farm safety specialist at the University of Minnesota, in urging Minnesotans to observe National Farm Safety Week, July 22-28. This map shows farm home fatal accidents by counties in 1961. Check it to see how your county rates. Farm and home fatal accidents totaled 161 for the state as a whole last year, with 63 occurring in farm work and 98 in the farm home and vicinity. Of the farm tractor fatalities, 23 percent involved persons under 14 years of age.

Rural Traffic Safety Is Next Week's Theme

The "country cousin" should take time during Farm Safety Week, July 22 through 28, to reflect upon the poor rural traffic record and resolve to make a special effort to improve the picture, according to a release today from the Minnesota highway department.

Traffic safety became a part of farm safety when horsepower began replacing horse flesh, and it is a wise farmer who realizes that it will become increasingly important in the "jet streams of today and the future."

In Minnesota, about 69 per cent of the fatal accidents, and about 71 per cent of the traffic deaths occur in rural areas. Last year alone, there were 869 accidents involving farm tractors or animals on state roads.

It is apparent that the slow-moving farm tractor, the "work horse" of the field, can be a hazard on a country road when in competition with the high-powered automobile. It should be kept in the field whenever possible and operated with extreme caution whenever it is necessary to drive from one field to another, the Department points out.

Another extreme hazard is presented by "cornfield corners" at intersections where crops and foliage obstruct vision. They are factors in many of the more than 4,200 mishaps that occur annually as vehicles are driven from alleys or driveways in the state. They also contribute to hundreds of accidents at intersections of main thoroughfares. SLOW should be the rule when approaching these "blind" corners.

The rural dweller has the major responsibility of keeping his area safe, especially when it is evident that it is not the "stranger" who causes the accidents. More than 87 per cent of drivers involved in Minnesota accidents live within 25 miles of the accident scene, statistics show.

Civil Service Offers Jobs As FHA Supervisor

Positions are open with the Farmers Home Administration for farm management supervisors in Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota, according to the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

Starting salaries are $4,345 and $5,355 per year. Persons in this area who are interested in the professional career as a supervisor are asked to contact the civil service representative at the local post office for information and necessary forms for filing.

Polk County Gets $11,963 To Aid Library Program

To cover a grant made by the state board of education to the Crookston-Polk County Library, a check in the amount of $11,963 has been received by Martin Vanseth, Polk county auditor and custodian of the library fund. The money is to be spent at the direction of the library board for materials which include books, magazines, pamphlets, film service and framed pictures.

Crookston-Polk County Library became eligible for this grant and previous ones because county commissioners levied a tax for library service in 1959 and so qualified for state and federal monies under the National Library Services Act of 1956. Previous grants were $30,000 in 1959 and $25,000 in 1960.

In April of this year, Hannis S. Smith, director of libraries for the state department of education, spoke to an interested group in Red Lake Falls in regard to joining with Polk county for regional library service At that time he said that such an alliance would make the two counties eligible for a state-federal grant in the amount of $100,000 over a three-year period.

EAA Chapter 121 To Meet Tonight

Aircraft Group Studies Smith Miniplane Plans

Plans of the popular Smith Miniplane will be studied by members of Minn-Kota Chapter 121, Experimental Aircraft Ass'n., at the group's monthly meeting tonight at 8:30 p. m. at the Thief River Falls airport.

Two Grand Forks men, who are contemplating construction of the sporty little biplane, will bring plans of the airplane along. It is expected that at least two will be built and possibly as many as four, on an assembly line basis, according to James Nilsen, Grand Forks. The "Miniplane" was designed by Frank Smith, Fullerton, Cal.

Numerous other topics will be discussed at Thursday's meeting, notably the 9th annual International Fly-in of EAA at Rockford, Ill., Aug. 1-5. Chapter 121 will be represented by at least two members.

Give Us This Day

Harvest time makes a man think.

The bread God gives us has to be cut, threshed, shipped, baked, wrapped and delivered before it ever reaches our mouths. And long before, it had to be sowed in a ploughed field, cultivated, irrigated, and fretted over a thousand times.

Lots of work in it for man. No gift wrapping with a ribbon around it.

But don't think we could get along without God! Leave out His part and there would be no harvest — no point in all our work.

So wheat inspires worship! And every Sunday in Church reminds us that we never labor alone . . . that our labors gain fruitfulness from God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Premiums totaling about $3,450 were paid out to exhibitors in 4-H and open class competition. Sunday afternoon's circus matinee was just completed when the heaviest rain of the fair fell.

A total of 1,460 exhibits and demonstrations were included in the 4-H program which was up slightly from last year's total. After 2½-Day Search

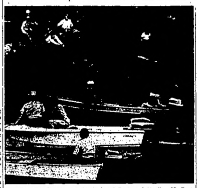
Recover Nordbo Body From Red Lake River



RECOVERY of the body of Raymond Nordbo, 39, Portland, N.D., was made by skin diving crews in the Red Lake river northeast of St. Hilaire about 11:45 a.m. Sunday. The body was noted from the old bridge about half a mile downstream from the point where the construction worker was lost in the river while working on new bridge construction Friday. The above photo shows the method used by the divers in searching the river bottom on Saturday. A rope was stretched across the channel, permitting systematic searching and dragging operations.

Nearly two and one-half days of searching the Red Lake river near St. Hilaire ended shortly before noon Sunday when the body of Raymond Nordbo, 39, construction worker from Portland, N. D., was recovered by a skin-diving crew from Grand Forks. Nordbo had drowned early Friday morning when a crane being used to hoist steel for construction of the new bridge northeast of St. Hilaire tilted and the rushing current swept him from a heavy steel beam which dropped into the water.

The drowning victim was carpenter foreman for Sornsin Construction company of Fargo, N. D. but was assisting in setting steel for the bridge when the accident occurred about 8 a. m. Friday. Fireman from Thief River Falls and volunteer workers from the area dragged the river to no avail Friday and the diving crew also worked all day Saturday and Sunday morning. Recovery was made after persons on the old bridge saw the body floating on the water about half a mile below the point where Nordbo disappeared.

Current is made especially swift in the river as a result of a considerable amount of dirt pushed into the channel to provide a working surface for heavy equipment being used in bridge construction. The earth peninsula extends nearly three-fourths the distance across the stream which has been swollen by spring rains all season.

How It Happened

According to reports from workers on the job when the accident occurred, a large crane was being used at the end of the peninsula to hoist heavy steel beams into place. Nordbo was caught between the 55-ft, 5-ton section of beam and the water when earth settled under the heavy crane and machine began to tip. He scrambled up on end straddled the beam, workers said, grinning at the embarrassment of getting his feet wet and waiting for the crane to hoist the steel beam from the water.

The crane settled again, however, and the beam splashed into the river with Nordbo being swept from his perch by the racing current. He grasped a guide rope attached to the end of the beam and clung to it as five of the

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. EGENES

From sunny California, where the livin' is casual, and informality the keynote of much of the entertaining, comes this recipe, which makes use of one of California's products. We find it equally easy to "come by" for it uses also a product of our area, fresh country cream.

Mrs. Egenes states that she uses this dessert often; it fits so well into her busy life. And she has an added advantage of being able to pick the lemon right off their own tree!

LEMON MALLOW PIE

24 large marshmallows
1/3 cup freshly-squeezed lemon juice
1/3 cup water
Grated rind of one lemon
5 or 6 drops of yellow food coloring
1 cup cream, stiffly whipped

Heat the marshmallows, lemon juice, lemon rind, and water in a double boiler, stirring occasionally until marshmallows are melted. Add food coloring. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon.

Fold in whipped cream. Pile into baked pie shell and chill until set. Serve cold, garnished with whipped cream.

This one's yummy and cool, wonderful for a bridge lunch. It takes practically no time at all in preparation.

Mrs. Egenes can appreciate this feature. She is another of our really busy homemakers. What with PTA and a part-time job, in addition to her duties as a home-maker, she hardly finds time to engage in her hobby, which is sewing.

Her husband is an inspector at Lockheed Aircraft in Burbank, California. They have five children, three of whom, Marlys, Roger, and Carol, are married. Lana and Timmy are at home. (We just bet they can do justice to this pie, these two.) There are three grandchildren in the family also.

Today's homemaker tells us that she has used some of our recipes from the Times, which arrives at her home from 'way back here, and thought we might enjoy this one from the far west.

The Library Corner

by Tom Lynskey

At this month's convention of the National Education Association, delegates happily passed around the anonymous spoof, "Fun with Hamlet and His Friends", a humorous parody of William Shakespeare's dramatic tragedy, "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark". This riotous parody is written in the unmistakeable style of that best-known reader, "Fun with Dick and Jane". An excellent weekly news magazine printed exerpts from this comic story, and I am certain that my readers would enjoy reading them too.

"See Hamlet run. Run, Hamlet, Run. He is going to his mother's room. I have something to tell you, mother, says Hamlet. Uncle Claudius is bad. He gave my father poison. Poison is not good. I do not like poison. Do you like poison? Oh, no, indeed, says his mother. I do not like poison.

"Oh, there is Uncle Claudius, says Hamlet. He is hiding behind the curtain. Why is he hiding behind the curtain? Shall I stab him? What fun it would be to stab him through the curtain. See Hamlet draw his sword. See Hamlet stab. Stab, Hamlet, stab. See Uncle Claudius' blood. See Uncle Claudius' blood gushing. Gush, Blood, Gush. See Uncle Claudius fall. How funny he looks, stabbed. Ha, Ha, Ha.

"But it is not Uncle Claudius. It is Polonius. Polonius is Ophelia's father. You are naughty, Hamlet, says Hamlet's mother. You have stabbed Polonius. But Hamlet's mother is not cross. She is a good mother. Hamlet loves his mother very much. Hamlet loves his mother very, very much. Does Hamlet love his mother a little too much? Perhaps.

"See Hamlet run. Run, Hamlet, Run. I am on my way to find Uncle Claudius, Hamlet says. On the way he meets a man. I am Laertes, says the man. Let us draw our swords. Let us duel. See Hamlet and Laertes duel. See Laertes stab Hamlet. See Hamlet stab Laertes. See Hamlet's mother drink poison. See Hamlet stab King Claudius. See Everybody wounded and bleeding and dying and dead. What fun they are having! Wouldn't you like to have fun like that?"

Two War Stories

This week I am reviewing two books: "Night Drop" by S. L. A. Marshall, and "The Greatest Raid of All" by C. E. Lucas Phillips.

"Night Drop" is an exciting story of the American airborne invasion of Normandy. Hours before dawn on June 6, 1944, the American 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisons dropped in Normandy behind Utah Beach. Their mission was to establish a firm foothold for the invading armies. What followed is one of the great and veritable stories of men at war.

Although the German defenders were spread thin, the hedgerow terrain favored them. The American successes when they eventually did come were bloody, sporadic, and often accidental. The reader will know what is meant when the author says: "The battle scene in modern warfare is commonly an empty landscape. To feel fire all around, see comrades fall by the score, yet note not one living target in sight is the average lot of the infantryman."

In these pages the reader will meet men like Harrison Summers, who became a second Alvin York as he went from house to house killing a total of sixty or seventy Germans. There are also light and even humanly touching moments: when General Maxwell Taylor drops from the sky to find himself alone on a dark night, he walks to where he at last meets a lone GI, and they give each other a big hug.

"The Greatest Raid of All" is the tense account of the commando raid to blow up the largest dry dock in the world, the Normandy Dock in St. Nazaire harbor, a thin track of water between two coasts bristling with German guns. The plan was to ram an old destroyer, filled with delayed action explosives, into the dock gates and then to disembark the commandos to blow up the dock machinery. Sir Winston Churchill called the raid "a deed of glory intimately involved in high strategy."

The Miss America preliminary pageant will be sponsored by the TRF Jaycees. A national winner in the Make-It-Yourself-with-Wool contest this year, she has just returned from a trip to Hawaii. Fashion illustration and design is her course of study at North Dakota State University and she will model and show garments at the talent portion of the pageant. Nineteen years of age, JoAnn is 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighs 128 pounds, has brown hair and blue eyes and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verner Odegaard.

Gonvick Represented

JoAnn Odegaard In Queen Pageant

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

(Fifth in a series of eight personal interviews with candidates for the 1962 Miss Aquacade contest being held in connection with the TRF Jaycees 8th Annual Aquacade August 4.)

It is a foregone conclusion that when JoAnn Odegaard becomes Mrs. somebody, she is guaranteed to keep her husband in stitches. It should be a natural. With a sewing hobby that has brought her national acclaim and an interest in clothes that is far above average, even for a teenage girl, the future household should be well supplied with home-made and fashioned garments.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verner Odegaard of Gonvick, JoAnn is 19 years of age and has light brown hair and blue eyes. She is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 128 pounds. A 1961 graduate of Gonvick high school, she has completed her freshman year at North Dakota State University at Fargo where she plans to major in fashion illustration and design

Sewing has long held a fascination for JoAnn who has turned her hobby into a successful stepping stone. Entering the Make-It-Yourself-with-Wool contest four years ago, she won the district and state junior division and competed at the national contest in Portland, Ore. Two years later She placed third in state junior division competition.

Wins National Contest

This year she hit the pinnacle of success in the contest. Entering senior division competition at the district contest in Thief River Falls, she won first place and went on to sweep state and national honors. Her award was a trip to Hawaii from which she has just returned. She plans to model her winning wool suit at the pageant contest August 4 and show some of her other creations and designs.

High school held a number of activities for JoAnn who seems to take an active interest in anything that holds a hint of enjoyment. She was a member of the high school band for four years, center on the girls basketball team, make-up editor for the high school paper, member and vice president of the Girls Athletic association, member of the Future Homemakers of America and delegate to the student council for two years.

During her first year in college she joined Kappa Delta sorority and the home economics club, stating she restricted her activities because she was gone from school a considerable amount of time.

Former 4-H Queen

As a member of the Pine Lake 4-H club for three years, she served as vice president and president. In 1960 she was Clearwater county 4-H style revue queen and the following year was also a state fair trip winner in the style revue.

Holder of a senior lifesaving certificate in the American Red Cross swimming program, JoAnn is working with the Gonvick recreation program this summer as an instructor in swimming and golf. She is a lover of outdoor activities and particularly enjoys the pool at Pine Lake and the golf course. Water skiing is also a popular activity when the opportunity presents itself.

JoAnn has two brothers, Arvin, 15 and Dennis, 14 and a sister, Debra, 6. Her father is a rural mail carrier.

T. Knutson Quits Legislature Race

Terrance Andrew Knutson of Oklee, previously announced candidate for state representative from the 66th district, appeared in Thief River Falls municipal court on Thursday, pleaded guilty, and was fined $75 on a charge of driving after suspension of his driver's license. His title card and auto license plates were also ordered impounded by Judge Stanley N. Mortenson.

Knutson was apprehended by the state highway patrol on a warrant recently issued at Big Lake where Knutson was wanted on a charge of driving without a driver's license. Apprehension of the son of former Congresswoman Coya Knutson was made easier by the large signboard bearing his name and attached to the top of his car.

After trial here on the charge of driving after suspension, Knutson was transferred to Big Lake where he was fined $50 on the charge of no driver's license. On Friday he announced that he was withdrawing from the political race for personal reasons.

Suspects Sought In Armed Robbery

Two armed men, one believed to be an Indian, robbed the Red Owl store in Gonvick of about $800 in cash and took another estimated $400 to $600 from customers in the store on Monday. They are believed to have fled in a tan-colored Rambler station wagon which was being driven by a woman accomplice.

Investigation has revealed, that the car used in the robbery was stolen in Michigan and it has been reported that authorities have a good idea as to whom the robbers are. Max Graham, state crime bureau agent stationed in Thief River Falls, is working with Clearwater county authorities in investigation of the case.

The men had been in the store for some time, according to reports, and forced the cashier to open the cash register at gunpoint. Customers and salesmen in the store were also relieved of their wallets by the two men.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McEnelly and son John of Huron, So. Dak., returned to their home Friday after visiting at the home of the Randall Nopers, Mrs. McEnelly's brother and sister-in-law. They attended the Lincoln high school reunion, Class of 1937.

State Legion to Meet at Duluth July 26-28

2,210 official delegates have been chosen to convene at Duluth July 26-28, for the Minnesota American Legion's 44th Annual Convention. Because the Minnesota Department has reached a sixth consecutive all-time-high membership the official registration is expected to be the greatest in its history. George Abalan, Duluth, Department Commander, will preside. The Minnesota Legion Auxiliary convenes in annual assembly at the same time.

Principle Legion speakers will be Governor Elmer L. Andersen, National Commander Charles L. Bacon, and William H. Williams, special agent in charge of the Minneapolis office of the FBI. Other persons will be called upon for remarks and greetings, but only those three are scheduled for addresses.

The Governor will speak to the delegates at 10:40 a. m. Friday while Commander Bacon is slated to appear at 11:00 a. m. Thursday the 26th. Williams will be heard at 2:00 p. m. Friday.

Thirty-two resolutions are known to be up for consideration, but more may be presented before committees meet for study and recommendations to the floor. Action on the resolutions will occupy much of the attention of the delegates Friday and Saturday.

Prospects of a close contest for department commander will enliven the convention. Candidates for the office are Howard E. Lohman, Moorhead, and Donald M. Miller, Worthington. The immediate past three commanders have been elected without opposition. A race has also developed for the office of sergeant-at-arms. All elections will climax the convention Saturday morning preceding the mammoth parade scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Other highlights of the conclave will be the memorial service set for 7:00 p. m. in the ball room of the Hotel Duluth, Thursday, July 26; also the drum corps contest slated for Friday evening at the Denfield high school stadium. Nine groups are expected to compete for the title now held by the Hamm's Post 501 Indians of St. Paul.

All Legion convention sessions will be held in the Ball Room, Hotel Duluth.

Meanwhile, the Legion Auxiliary will be holding its Convention at the Washington junior high school auditorium, Duluth. Mrs. Merrill K. Smith, Elmore, will preside over sessions starting Wednesday evening, July 25th.

National President, Mrs. J. Howard McKay, will be principle speaker for their meeting and will participate in other programs. The ladies have a full schedule of activities, also climaxed Saturday with election of officers for the next year.

By tradition, Mrs. Phillip Adams, White Bear Lake, present first vice-president, will automatically be elevated to president, and Mrs. William R. Mitchell, Tracy, will move up from second to first vice-president. The only contest will be for the office of second vice-president, and there are two candidates to be considered, Mrs. Cy Leivermann, Chaska, and Mrs. Sigurd Nelson, Moorhead.

This will be the sixth time that Duluth has been host to the State Legion Convention, and experienced hands, led by Vern Grover, general chairman, have smoothly completed arrangements for the welcome and entertainment of the delegates. One of the most successful and largest conventions on record is anticipated.

Drowning Victim Body Recovered Sunday Morning

workers tried to form a human chair and reach him, some wading into the river up to their shoulders. Just out of reach of their grasp, Nordbo lost his hold on the rope and disappeared in the muddy water.

Fire Dep't. Called

Pennington county sheriff's department and Thief River Falls firemen answered a call to the scene about 8:30 a. m. Boats were employed in the attempt to recover the body to no avail as the rapid current made efforts difficult and hazardous. The diving crew was then summoned and the men walked the river with the use of a guide rope strung across the channel.

Nordbo was a native of Finley, N. D., and moved to Portland four years ago. He is survived by his wife, Beulah; a son, Larry; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Halvor Nordbo of Finley; four brothers and four sisters.

Commends Divers

Charles Richards, Pennington county sheriff, expressed appreciation to the diving crew and others who generously gave their time to the search. He particularly commended the members of the Walleye Sports Divers of Grand Forks and two other divers from Bemidji who joined in the search for Nordbo's body.

The divers were the same who volunteered services and recovered the body of a trainman from a river near Ada in May. They offer their assistance as a public service when called upon to help in similar situations, are employed in various occupations and range in age from about 17 to 35.

Richards also thanked the St. Bernard's Ladies Guild, Fred's Mobil, Bridgeman Creameries, Sornsin Construction company, Willard Fleegel family and volunteers who worked on the search, provided lunch or other services.

PREPARING boats for dragging the Red Lake river just northeast of St. Hilaire are members of the Thief River Falls fire department which was called to the scene. Raymond Nordbo, about 39, was drowned in the river where current is made swift by partial blocking of the channel. Nordbo, carpenter foreman for the Sornsin Construction company of Fargo, was working on the bridge project when the accident occurred. He was dropped into the river when dirt gave way under a crane which was raising a heavy steel beam and was last seen clinging to a rope in the area indicated by the arrow. This Times photo was taken just as firemen arrived on the scene.

Mrs. C. Collins Is Scholarship Award Winner

Mrs. Charles A. Collins of Middle River has been notified that she is to be the recipient of a $250 scholarship to be used for study in teaching of retarded children. Word of the award was received by Mrs. Collins in a letter from Mrs. Marion E. Hollenbeck, secretary of the Minnesota American Legion auxiliary.

This scholarship was awarded as a result of an essay on "Why I Want to Teach the Mentally Retarded" which was written by Mrs. Collins and submitted in the state contest. Given by the auxiliary to encourage more teachers to enter the field of education for the retarded, the scholarship will be used by Mrs. Collins next year.

Two Candidates Oppose Sam Brattell, Seeking Reelection in Third

Beltrami County's first district will have a four-way race for county commissioner in the September primary as Walter Fenske, Bemidji township, filed as a candidate just before closing time Tuesday night.

Opposing Fenske will be Howard Menge, Bemidji manager of Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.; Wilfred Marks, Bemidji insurance agent, and R. M. (Bob) Garlock, East Bemidji dairy farmer.

Primary races are also assured in the third and fifth districts. In the third district, H. A. In the fifth district, Harris Saehau and Clarence Gilstad will oppose incumbent Chester Martin. All are from Blackduck.

Only other contests for county offices are for county attorney and county coroner. Douglas Cann, Bemidji attorney, will oppose Herbert E. Olson, Bemidji attorney, incumbent, for the attorney's post, while Leslie Schippers of Blackduck will oppose B. C. Olson, Bemidji, incumbent, for coroner.

Incumbent county officials unopposed for re-election are Paul Olstad, treasurer; Wayne Alsop, auditor; John Cahill, sheriff; Martin Sathre, register of deeds; C. L. (Pat) Stapleton, superintendent of schools, and A. L. Bye, county surveyor. No one filed for court commissioner.

Incumbent commissioner for the first district is Lyle Caughey who is now serving as chairman of the county board. He withdrew his candidacy for re-election in order to run for the Minnesota House of Legislature. Opposing Caughey is Leonard Dickinson, Bemidji, incumbent.

Thief River Grain	0	7	.000

Results of last week's games:
Hamm's Beer, 13, vs. Thief River Grain, 10.
Hartz Stores, 11, vs. Holsum Bread, 5.
V.F.W., 8, vs. Bridgeman's, 3.

Schedule this week:
Monday, July 23 — Thief River Grain vs. Holsum Bread
Tuesday, July 24 — Bridgeman's vs. Hamm's Beer
Thursday, July 26 — Hartz Stores vs. V.F.W.

What could well be the league championship game in the city softball competition is on the schedule for Thursday evening, July 26, when, on the East Side diamond, the league-leading Hartz Stores team meets the V.F.W. With but three weeks of play remaining, and with but two games on the schedule following next Thursday's game, the Hartz team, by defeating the second-place Vets could clinch at least a share in the league title. A win for the Vets would knot the league race into a two-way tie for the league lead.

Another important game on the week's bill is the Bridgeman's vs. Hamm's Beer tilt slated for Tuesday evening, July 24. The two teams share third place in the league standings, and they'll both be out for a win in an effort to better their league playoff positions and keep alive their league championship hopes.

In last week's feature game, the Vets, with Wally Grovum taking over the pitching duties when Gary (Doc) Carlson experienced a streak of wildness and issued four consecutive bases on balls to start off the game, defeated the Bridgeman's, 8-3.

Other games found the Hamm's defeating the Thief River Grain, 13-10, in a high-scoring tilt; and the Hartz Stores defeating the Holsum Bread, 11-5.

Halstad Defeats Thieves 12 to 8

The Halstad Red Sox scored four unearned runs in the last half of the eighth inning, breaking an 8-all deadlock, and went on to defeat the Thieves, 12-8, in a Norman-Polk league game played at Halstad on Sunday afternoon.

The loss brought the Thieves' league record to six wins and four losses, and manager Joey Poole's club will have to register a win in Wednesday night's here against Fertile to insure a berth in the league playoffs.

With the local club crippled by injuries to catcher Dennis Bakke and pitcher Fred Jensen, manager Poole was forced to reshuffle his lineup. Righthander Tony Poole was given the starting assignment, with John Aune doing the catching. In the two-plus innings that he hurled, Tony gave up five walks, and was tagged for five hits, including a two-run triple by Ron Tronnes, giving Halstad a 7-1 lead.

Jensen attempted to pitch in relief, but after hurling two-thirds of an inning he was forced to the sidelines because of his back injury. Sturdy Harlie Drees, who hasn't pitched for several seasons, finished the game for the Thieves, and the St. Hilaire native hurled real well, giving up but one earned run and five hits in five innings.

The Thieves, trailing by an 8-2 score entering the fifth inning, rallied for six runs to put the game into a knot. With one out, John Aune single to right-center, and when the ball was fumbled by the centerfielder, Aune advanced to second; Tony Poole singled to left field, scoring Aune; Pat Poole walked; Dick Williams lofted to center field; Drees banged a single to center, scoring Tony Poole; Paul Klungness and Joey Poole walked, forcing in Pat Poole. And manager Irv Warner of the Halstad club called in his son, Cactus Warner, from shortstop to take over the pitching duties of starter Darrell Kaldor. John Drury greeted young Warner with a single to left, scoring two runs; and when Jerry Mehlisch made a low throw to third base, Joey Poole scampered home with the tying run.

In the hectic eighth, Tronnes gained a life when his ground ball skipped through Paul Klungness. Greg Henderson bounced to third baseman Tony Poole, but all hands were safe when Klungness dropped Poole's throw at second. Mehlisch drew a walk to load the bases. Warner singled, scoring Tronnes; Kaldor flied to left field, with Henderson scoring after the catch. Warner was "hung up" between first and second, but on a bad throw he was safe at second and Mehlisch came in with Halstad's third run of the inning. Henry Holte bounced out, third to first, but Ron Carlson's single to left field plated Warner with the game's final tally.

South All-Stars Edge North 8 to 6

Scoring six runs in the final four innings of the game, manager Chuck Johnson's South squad defeated manager Rod Oistad's North squad, 8-6, in the annual North vs. South Norman-Polk league All-Star game played at Fertile on Thursday night. The win marked the second successive year that the South All-Stars have been victoriuous over the North All-Stars.

The North All-Stars gained a 6-2 lead after four innings of play, piling three runs in the first and adding a pair in the second, and a singleton in the fourth inning.

The North, batting first, found Harlie Drees opening with a ground single past shortstop; Bill Cline followed with a ground single inside third base; Joey Poole hit into a force play, pitcher to third, retiring Drees. Dale Perusse slammed a single into left field, scoring Cline. John Drury hit a slow roller down the third base line, with Poole scoring on the play, and when pitcher Darrell Kaldor made a wild throw to the plate, Perusse came around to tally the North's third tally.

In the second, with one man out, Dick Palmer, who started on the mound for the North, singled past third base. A wild pitch moved Palmer to second. Drees lifted a short fly to shortstop Dean Bowyer. Cline drew a walk. Poole's single to center tallied Palmer and Cline, and gave the North a 5-0 lead.

The South marked a pair of runs on the scoreboard in the second when Don Bowyer poked a single into left field, moved to second on Cactus Warner's line single into right field, and when Kaldor beat out a slow roller, the bases were filled. Al Santwire hit a dribbler to first base, and all hands were safe when Bowyer beat Perusse's throw to the plate. An infield out, Rasmus to Perusse, permitted Warner to score the South's second tally

A walk and singles by Perusse and Drury scored the North's final run, and gave Oistad's club a 6-2 lead in the fourth inning.

In the fifth, with two men out, the South, on singles by Henry Holte, Don Wermager, Don Bowyer, Mickey Holen, and Warner, tallied three runs off the southpaw slants of Doug Donley, who had replaced Palmer on the mound for the North in the fourth.

The South scored an earned run in the sixth to knot the game at 6-all. And in the seventh, off the righthanded slats of Dick Schuchardt, the South picked up an unearned run, and which proved to be the winning tally. With one out, Don Bowyer drew a walk. On a steal of second, Bowyer was apparently out, but a dropped throw by second baseman Rasmus gave the Ada athlete a "life". Holen flied out to left field. A wild pitch permitted Bowyer to advance to third, and a high throw to third by catcher Jerry Lindell sent Bowyer in with the go-ahead run. In the eighth, with one out, Santwire beat out a bunt, stole second, advanced to third on an infield out, and scored on Johnson's single, giving the South an insurance run.

The North made a strong threat in the top of the eighth having the bases filled with one out, but an attempted squeeze play went awry, with Drees being out at the plate, and Holen whiffed Bergman for the third out. In the ninth, Holen set down the North in order.

Bemidji Golfer Wins Shortstop

Bemidji's Joe Mayer, sinking a long putt for a birdie four on the final hole, edged out Lyle Hornbacher to win the championship flight honors in the 27-hole medal play shortstop tournament played over the rain-swept golf course here Sunday. Sixty-six golfers participated in the tournament.

Mayer carded a two-under-par 34 in his first round of play to take a three-stroke lead. Hornbacher, a former Moorhead State college golf captain and now a teacher at Heron Lake, scored a 35 on his second round, whittling Mayer's lead to two strokes.

In the third round, Mayer carded a birdie three on the first hole, to build his lead to three strokes, but a double-bogey seven on the third hole dropped his lead to one stroke over Hornbacher and Grand Forks' John Bennett, who was also in contention. Mayer scored a par five on the fifth hole, and when Hornbacher notched a birdie four, the championship flight honors were all even. Bennett, who took a six on number five, came back with three treys to reach number nine hole even up with Mayer and Hornbacher.

On the ninth hole, Mayer scored his title-winning birdie, while Hornbacher carded a par five, and Bennett scored a bogey six.

Bennett scored remarkably well on the number six hole, having a pair of eagle two's and a birdie three on the par four hole.

The First of the Season

The Canadian football teams, the professionals, opened their exhibition season last week. In an important game played at Montreal, the Calgary Stampeders edged out the Montreal Alouettes, 30-28.

It is of interest to note that Sandy Stephens, the former Minnesota All-American, played the entire game, on offense, at quarterback for the Montreal club. Stephens threw three touchdown passes, and sprinted 97 yards for a touchdown on a kickoff return late in the game.

Montreal came close to salvaging the game in the final seconds when Stephens clicked on two long passes to carry 77 yards to the Calgary 5-yard line when game-time ran out.

Coach Bud Grant's Winnipeg Blue Bombers, champions of Canadian football, played their annual intra-squad game on Thursday night, and 19,500 fans turned out for the game. According to all reports, the Winnipeg team, with such famed backfielders as Kenny Ploen, Leo Lewis, Roger Hagberg, Gerry James, Charlie Shepard, and others, are "loaded". Among the newcomers who made a favorable impression was Bob Deegan, Gopher end last season.

And over at Bemidji, the Minnesota Vikings are going through their early-season drills. On Saturday, August 4, the Vikings will meet the Dallas Cowboys in a controlled scrimmage game. Tickets for the game, which are priced at $2.50 each, may be ordered from the Athletic Department, Bemidji State College, Bemidji, Minnesota.

In this controlled scrimmage arrangement, the Viking and Cowboy offensive teams will match their combined talents against the defensive teams. It will be scored on an Offense vs. Defense basis, as the all-Viking game of a year ago.

A Reminder

A reminder to baseball fans that the American Legion's junior baseball district tournament will be played on the Fair Grounds diamond here on Thursday and Friday; July 26 and, 27.

According to the tournament pairings announced some time ago the winner of sub-district two, which will be either Ada or Moorhead, will meet the winner of sub-district three, either Fertile or Clearbrook. These sub-districts had their tournaments disrupted by rain and will conclude their championship finals today. This district tournament game will be played at 6:15 p. m. on Thursday.

At 8:15 p. m., Fergus Falls, champions of sub-district one, will meet East Grand Forks, who won the sub-district four title by defeating Lake Bronson, 11-9, in the finals of the sub-district tournament held at Roseau last week.

The district championship finals will be played on Friday night, and the winner will gain a berth in the state tournament.

Is That So?

Bob Scheffing, manager of the Detroit Tigers, is quoted as follows: "I'm not saying how they'll finish, but I believe that the three best teams in the American league are New York, Detroit, and Baltimore. They were the three best last year."

The Minnesota Twins, the Los Angeles Angels, and the Cleveland Indians should be interested in Scheffing's quote.

And speaking of the Twins, there were several local baseball fans in attendance at Met stadium when Bob Allison and Harmon Killebrew hit their first-inning grand-slam home runs against the Baltimore Orioles. Among the crowd that cheered that record-breaking performance were Charles Rodekuhr, Harold Johnson and Tommy Fuller.

Miscellany

Dean and Don Bowyer, the twins who have been factors in Ada's high school athletic success the past several seasons, will enroll at Mayville Teacher College in Mayville, N. Dak., this fall. The two boys were splendid guards on coach Bill Brady's Ada high school basketball team this season, with Don being an exceptional playmaker and scorer. One of the reasons that the twins chose Mayville is perhaps because of the fine baseball program at the college. . . Henry Holte, the angular loose-jointed center of the Halstad Pirates last season, and who was probably one of the most effective players that the Prowlers faced all year, will be attending Wahpeton School of Science next year. . . I mentioned Charles Rodekuhr some paragraphs ago, with regard to his witnessing the grand slam home runs of Killebrew and Allison. But Charley is just as proud of having been in the right-field stands in Wrigley Field in October of 1932 when, in the World's Series between the Yankees and the Chicago Cubs, Babe Ruth hit the home run off pitcher Charley Root that is famed as being the home run that the Babe called. Babe, you will recall, made a gesture that he would hit the ball into the stands, and that's what he did.

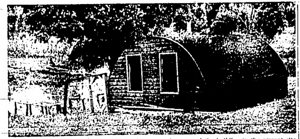
THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume Fifty-one | Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota | Monday, July 23, 1962 | Number Fifty-nine



BIRD HOUSE of the Thief River Retriever club has now been completed and is in use on facilities furnished free of charge by Glenn Jorde at his farm located about two miles north of the city. Formerly a brooder house, the building was donated to the club by Efteland brothers. Club members moved the building to the present site and constructed an outside pen and fenced runway to the water. Pigeons and ducks are kept in the house and used by club members for training dogs to retrieve. A self-feeder is located in he building and back-up water from the river provides the water supply.

Retriever Club Is Boon to Hunters

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

CONTINUOUS work with the dog is important in field training and the local retriever club offers greater possibilities for this. Several members in the process of training their dogs may go out together and offer assistance to one another. In the above photo, Leif Erickson prepares to receive a live pigeon which has been retrieved by his black Labrador "Blackie." Obedience training is the first major step in getting a dog to work well in the field. This training, coupled with the dog's natural instincts, will mean much to the hunter who takes his dog into the field this fall.

"POCKETS" a black Labrador owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pluth of this city, is shown on retrieve with one of the live pigeons used by the local retriever club for dog training. Since dogs are trained to be soft-mouthed in retrieving, it is rare when birds are injured in the process. "Pockets" has been entered in a number of field trials this year and last year and has rated high in most of them.

Persons having an interest in outdoor activities and a liking for dogs could spend an interesting Sunday afternoon by watching members of the Thief River Retriever club put their dogs through training trial. Organized only this spring, the club has about 30 members and amazing progress has been made in training dogs to perform in the field.

While members need not necessarily have hunting dogs to be club members, the benefit of club membership is primarily to those who wish to give field training to their animals. Black Labrador and Golden Retriever are the two most common breeds being trained at the club grounds.

With membership fee of only $5 per family per year, the club could be considered as a successful shoestring operation. Glenn Jorde has permitted free use of part of his farm by the club in an area where there is both water and soil bank land for retrieving practice. Efteland brothers have contributed a small brooder house which has been moved to the site and is used for keeping pigeons and ducks. The birds are used to train dogs for live retrieving.

Site of the field trail area is about two miles north of the city on the Jorde farm. Ole Ekeren is president of the club with John Moum as vice president and Harry Pluth as secretary-treasurer. Initial credit for organizing the club and arranging facilities must go to Pluth, an experienced handler in field trials and owner of a dog which has placed high in a number of trials held in nearby states and Canada.

Plan Field Trial

While the group hopes to hold a field trial with competition among local dogs this summer, uncertain weather has prevented such an event so far. Members are hopeful that such a trial can be held soon to acquaint the public with what is being done by the club and what can be accomplished by field training. The club has designated Wednesday night as training night and as many members as possible are encouraged to work their dogs on Wednesday evening. The public is invited to view the proceedings on any day or evening.

Obedience training, which can be given in the home yard of the dog owner, is the first and probably most important step in dog training. After the dog has been taught to heel and can be controlled by the handler, field training may be offered. Most hunting breeds have inherent traits in retrieving and need only constant practice to work at the direction of the handler.

Training Objective

Through field training, dogs should be able to mark and remember where three birds have been dropped—generally the maximum a dog would be expected to handle under field conditions. The dog is trained to stay with the handler until all birds have been dropped. He is then given a signal to retrieve the first bird, return it to the handler, and await signals for the second and third birds in the same manner.

Padded dummies are used for both land and water retrieving and live birds are also used. On land retrieves, pigeons are used for training purposes. Flight feathers are pulled on one wing and the feet tied to prevent the birds running. Blanks are fired with a shotgun to simulate hunting conditions and the birds are thrown into the air so that the dogs can mark where they land. Ducks are used for live retrieves on Water. Since dogs are taught to be soft-mouthed, it is rare that a bird is injured and they can be used many times.

Chances are good that a large number of downed game birds will be salvaged through use of dogs given such training this summer. At any rate, I don't believe I would mind hunting with the owner of such dogs—especially after taking to the field without one.

"The first and ever-present problem of fiscal life is power. For power makes devils of those who possess it; power is insatiable; and by its very nature intolerant of rival power."
Aldous Huxley

Japanese Election

Japan has survived another national election with the conservative government assured of a solid majority. Although they have been in office almost continuously since political life was resumed after the war, the Liberal-Democrats have increased their representation in the Upper House.

In the campaign the Socialists charged that "American imperialism is the common enemy of the people of Japan and China." Such charges indicate that Japanese Socialists are in reality Communists and against the neutralism they profess.

Japan has made a remarkable recovery since the war and it is good to know that the nation is prospering under the direction of a stable government that is friendly to us.

An Honest Senate Vote

President Kennedy was a member of the United States Senate before he became President, and based on his own background and experience in that body he should not permit himself to go into a tirade every time that legislative body rejects one of his proposals. He deserves a few spankings just for the lack of respect he has shown for the legislative branch of our government.

The offended President is now going to direct a campaign personally to defeat the members of Congress who have not supported him. That's very interesting. The Constitution does give him the right to nominate judges and justices. We can recall nothing in the Constitution however that suggests that he should select the members of Congress. He has not yet reached the status of dictator.

We are satisfied that the members of the Senate were justified in killing the "medicare" bill for the sole reason that it was a bad bill. It was bad mainly because it would have further weakened the nation's Social Security program, which already is dangerously close to being on the financial rocks.

From the time of its inception Social Security has been a plaything for the politicians. In each campaign-year session, Congress has liberalized the benefits of Social Security without making adequate provision for meeting the additional costs, and by ordinary insurance company standards the program is defunct now.

If the usual procedures for dealing with insurance company officials, who deliberately swindle their policy holders, were applied to the members of Congress as managers of Social Security then most of our members of Congress would be in prison now.

It is in the light of a bad past record that we commend so heartily the members of the Senate who had the courage to vote against the President's proposal that so obviously was made, not in the public interest, but in his own political interest in the coming campaign.

Take Your Choice

Voters will be called on to decide for or against three proposed constitutional amendments in the Minnesota general election next November. As far as we know there is no organized opposition to any of the proposals, but it might be well to have some discussion of each of them in the interests of better informed voters. Possibly there are good reasons why one or more of them should not be approved in their present form.

For today's lecture let's consider No. 1. This amendment would consolidate the swampland fund with the permanent school fund, increasing the size of the school fund by $30 million and taking that much away from our state institutions. Just why we should take from one and give to the other is not clear to us, but that is not the important change that would be made.

At the present time these funds can be invested only in federal government bonds, Minnesota state bonds and the bonds of other states, the bonds of political subdivisions of the state, and in first mortgage loans on improved Minnesota farms. The proposed change would permit the investment board to invest up to 40% in corporate bonds and up to 20% in high grade preferred and common stocks. In these more speculative fields the investments presumably would bring a larger return. But that which is more speculative is also less secure and that is the factor which must be taken into consideration.

There is a tendency thruout the country to be less conservative in the investment of trust funds of this kind. A recent Wall Street Journal report on the trend says that some states have removed practically all barriers. In the state of Ohio a retirement system fund has been used to buy a hotel property, holding a deed to the $7 million property that will be completed next year. Says the Journal.

> "Many states are retreating from such traditional investments as municipal and Government bonds, which are characterized by a high degree of safety and relatively low yields. They are turning instead to investments which involve higher risks but offer greater opportunities for yield and capital gains. These include real estate, mortgages and corporate stocks and bonds."

So there you have it. These are your trust fund dollars. How do you want them to be invested? Shall safety be the determining factor or shall we yield to the temptation of a larger return.

And let's not overlook the possibility that if we permit the federal government to keep on drifting into insolvency it won't make much difference where our trust funds are invested. It could happen that our dollars would go the way of the German mark and then the trust funds might be worthless. In that event the best thing to own probably would be mortgaged real estate.

A Good Effort

It is good to know that at least one agency in Washington is trying to cut costs. Under the direction of Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Defense, a defense supply agency has been established to supply the army, navy, air force and marines with the items they use in common, and to do it efficiently.

It is hoped that this agency will cut costs by from two to three billion dollars a year for the armed forces.

The DSA operates a wholesale warehouse system which delivers to the service-operated retail outlets. It will operate on a $3 billion revolving fund.

Ailing Alliance

It appears that it will be necessary for our country to take a second look at our Alliance for Progress for our South American neighbors. Maybe it would be well to back up and take a fresh start.

When President Kennedy reported on the Alliance he called it:

> "A vast cooperative effort, unparalled in magnitude and nobility of purpose, to satisfy the basic needs of the American people for homes, work and land, health and schools."

Apparently some of the political leaders of South America were not as much concerned about what the Alliance could do for their people as they were in what it could do for them. American aid was to be channeled chiefly through the govrnments themselves — an invitation to graft. It also was an invitation to revolution, resulting in several new governments.

One of the things that was hoped for and that hasn't developed was increased investment of foreign capital. On the contrary foreign capital has shown little inclination to invest in the Latin American countries. Nor is there likely to be much interest in Latin America by foreign investors as long as governments are so lacking in stability and the natives are so lacking in ititiative.

Barron's Weekly sums up the general situation as follows:

> "For the lands of Latin America, clearly, the urgent task is to bring some order out of today's near-chaos. For Washington, the challenge is equally vital: it must sweep away the myths which befog its view to the south. The pressing need now is for a meaningful and realistic policy, based on the cornerstones of fiscal sanity and economic responsibility. The high hopes of Punta del Este, less than a year later, are dimming fast. Unless both continents awaken to the stern realities, there can be little alliance and less progress."

Rachel Carson's Warning

(New York Times)

Rachel Carson, who has charmed readers with her rhapsodic accounts of the natural life of the sea and the sea-shore, has written a three-part series for the New Yorker that few will read without a chill, no matter how hot the weather. Her subject is the controversial one of our increasing use of chemical poisons in a generally unsuccessful effort to eliminate insect pests and the extent to which we are, in the process, subjecting ourselves to the hazard of slow poisoning through the pollution of our environment. It is controversial because it involves government policies and affects an important source of profits for the chemical industry.

Miss Carlson will be accused of alarmism, or lack of objectivity, of showing only the bad side of pesticides while ignoring their benefits. But this, we suspect, is her purpose as well as her method. We do not combat highway carelessness by reciting statistics only of the millions of motorists who return safely to their garages, nor do we find a cure for disease by boasting of the reduction in mortality rates.

Miss Carson does not argue that chemical insecticides must never be used, but she warns of the dangers of misuse and overuse by a public that has become mesmerized by the notion that chemists are the possessors of divine wisdom and that nothing but benefit can emerge from their test tubes. If her series helps arouse enough public concern to immunize government agencies against the blandishments of the hucksters and enforce adequate controls, the author will be as deserving of the Nobel prize as was the inventor of DDT.

THE ANDERSEN LETTER

from

Solid Growth

Each month, it seems, new records of income and employment are being made. Minnesota's per capita income is rising more rapidly than the national average, and our rate of unemployment for the state is now down to 4.3 per cent compared to a national 5.5 per cent. Our fine record is made despite above average unemployment in northeastern Minnesota. With the stimulus of a taconite amendment added to fast write-offs I believe northeastern Minnesota could quickly match the record of the rest of the state. There's a buoyant confidence in Minnesota that I hope can survive the national uncertainty that started with the steel price argument and subsequent stock market decline.

Water Fun in Minnesota

We have just issued a new folder "Water Fun in Minnesota" that lists public access to Minnesota lakes and streams. If you have a boat and trailer and want to explore new places you would find this a mighty handy reference. A postcard request to me, State Capitol, St. Paul, will bring one.

Next Step on National Park

As the next step toward a national park for Minnesota, the National Park Service is sending in a team of specialists next month to make a detailed study of the Kabetogama peninsula. One will be a geologist, another a biologist, a third a park planner—and one or two other specialists. I plan to pursue our national park project very closely.

Water Safety

We have been losing far too many people in water accidents—mainly drowning. A year ago we projected plans for an intensive water safety program. Our county sheriffs are cooperating in a splendid way and a fine record is being made. Up to the end of June, state deaths from drowning were 34 compared with 53 a year ago. If we can maintain the present vigilance, an all time low record may be made. Every parent can help by watching youngsters, particularly those under six, every single minute they are near the water.

Looking Ahead

Reports are beginning to come in from the many advisory committees that I established in the last year and a half. Great service has been rendered by a large number of people. From these studies sound proposals for the years ahead will emerge. Minnesota has started on a great road of development of significance to every person in our state. It is a profound privilege to serve as your Governor and I deeply appreciate it.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson

Manager Chamber of Commerce

Recently my wife, Beverly, and I returned from our wedding trip and our trip to Chamber of Commerce Manager's Institute at the University of Colorado. In taking this trip we naturally drove thru a good portion of the Midwest.

Needless to say, there are areas that look somewhat more prosperous this year due to more desirable agricultural prospects for this season. We saw no area at all, however, that is without problems of its own just as we do.

For instance, how would you like to own land worth four hundred dollars an acre, irrigated, with a beautiful crop of sugar beets, potatoes, corn and barley standing on it—only to have a hail storm smash it into pulp on the ground? That was the case at Ft. Morgan, Colorado. Or how would you like to have your corn in only to find that the rain won't let you cultivate it and the weeds take it over? That is the case in southern Minnesota in many instances. And there are other examples too.

In Boulder, Colorado, itself, it appears that the overdevelopment within some lines of business make it so competitive that many private enterprises can only fail until anticipated growth and activity take up the slack.

The point I want to make is that bad things can happen in life as well as good and we have to take them all together without becoming completely discouraged. Adjusting ourselves to changes of short and long duration alike is one of the most difficult things for people to do. We aren't prone to change readily. But we must make adjustments from time to time. We must keep our attitude positive and progressive, and for some that will require effort this year.

Business and community existence doesn't just happen. It occurs as a result of a sequence of positive decisions made by people with faith in many things including themselves, and by people with an eye toward a brighter tomorrow.

So with an eye toward tomorrow let's keep our chins up today and make plans for continued positive movement here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota — Thief River Falls.

of Rhyme & Reason

by MARY LUNDIN

HAD A LITTLE SCRAPE WITH THE LAW LAST WEEK. Rather, I should say, I had a little scrape that involved the law. The chain of circumstances has several important links and they bear discussion.

One of my good east-side neighbors called the wife one morning and asked if we had noticed any damage to our car. We hadn't. Upon inspection, however, we noticed a slight fender dent and badly dislocated headlight. It would likely have gone unnoticed for several days if not called to our attention.

It just so happened that the good neighbor previously mentioned had her car parked next to mine in the city parking lot south of the Laundromat on LaBree avenue one evening. Upon hearing a crash, she went to the door and saw a car leaving the lot. Fortunately, she jotted down the license number. She checked her car, found undamaged, and noted the damage to mine. The result was a call to our house the next morning with the information.

The thought of someone driving away from a damaging accident, no matter how minor, without a backward glance, rather irked me. The fact that the headlights had been adjusted the same day added to the irritation. A call at the police station, with the accident report and license number thoughtfully provided, revealed the identity of the car owner. He was from southern Minnesota.

Patrolman Rene Werner handled the investigation and several days later arrived at the office with the car owner in custody. The elderly gentleman claimed not knowing that accident had happened but admitted it could have been done by his car. Final result was that he paid for damages and, on the basis of his claim, no hit-and-run charges were filed.

I could not help but think that Patrolman Werner and the local police department did more than what should be expected in following through on my minor complaint. And it brings to mind the innumerable times that the department and its personnel have done more than required to provide assistance. We may take considerable pride in our boys in blue. As a community, we should be grateful for their services.

UNCONFIRMED REPORT — A local man and a beautiful woman answered a call for prospective lion tamers with the Marlo Bros. Circus which was here for the county fair. The manager said he would make a decision after comparing the two. First to enter the cage, the beautiful woman threw off her robe to reveal a stunning, scanty but colorful costume.

She motioned to the lion. Obediently the fierce-looking animal crept toward her, licked her elbow and rolled over twice. Much impressed, the manager turned to the local man and asked, "Can you do any better than that?" Replied the man, "I'm sure I can, sir, but first you'll have to get that lion out of there!"

It is also reported that Jack Edmiston called his Rex Cafe waitresses together one day. "Girls," he said, "I want you all to look your best today. Greet every customer with a smile, put on a little extra make-up and see to it that your hair is in place. "Governor coming again?" one waitress asked. "No," Jack explained, "but the beef is tough again."

The storm a couple weeks ago was quite a blow. Mrs. Art Lull reported that on their farm six miles southwest of the city a stone about the size of a coconut had been hurled through their barn roof, pushing up the shingles. The farm is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Freeman.

Taken from a Rotary exchange paper, the following poem is our thought for the day:

CAPSULE WISDOM

Money can buy a host of things,
But not a happy heart that sings,
Not true contentment, not real friends,
Not one small talent that transcends,

The greatest value, money wise,
Of things material we prize,
For folks who find contentment know
The joy of living is to grow
And use our talents in some way
That meets the challenge of each day.

This makes us gratefully aware
Of daily miracles we share,
Not due to things we have possessed
But to the values we have stressed.

To which we add:

The thought is true, without a doubt,
But cash I cannot do without.

Economic Study Made of Population Shift

Rapid growth of Upper Midwest cities is absorbing a substantial part of the region's rural migrants, and "an increasing share of them can be expected to remain in the region", according to the Upper Midwest Economic Study report on "Migration and Population Growth".

The report released today was prepared by Professor Larry A. Sjaastad of the University of Minnesota department of economics as part of the Upper Midwest Research and Development Council's program for accelerating the economic growth of the region.

The entire region, comprising Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, 26 counties of northwestern Wisconsin, and upper Michigan, had a population gain of 500,000 during the 1950s but would have grown another 392,000 had it not been for net migration losses.

An urban in-migration of 190,000 during the decade only partially offset a rural out-migration of 582,000, establishing a retention ratio of 45 per cent for the four full states in the region.

Regarding the lost population potential, Dr. James M. Henderson, research director, commented that other areas of the country have greater problems than the Upper Midwest since "many other areas are finding a decline also in their urban areas. The Upper Midwest is growing in its urban parts so here we do not have a picture of overall decline, but one of an adjustment process."

Professor Sjaastad observed that population change in the region is subject to various interpretations. On the negative side, he said, is the fact that the region cannot hope to recapture its migration losses.

"On the plus side is the relatively rapid growth of the urban areas and the high degree of labor force mobility from relatively low income areas."

Rural out-migration is the result of national agricultural adjustments. It is severe here because the proportion of rural population is high."

From 1950 to 1960 urban population in the Upper Midwest grew nearly as rapidly as in the United States as a whole, 26.5 per cent as compared with 29.5 per cent.

Sjaastad said, "Economic growth in the United States during the twentieth century would have been seriously retarded had it not been for the great technical advance in agriculture releasing millions of persons for non-agricultural employment. The Upper Midwest has shared in the burden of this economic growth to a disproportionate extent by virtue of its strong agricultural orientation"

He predicts that "as the cities of the region grow in size and number, and rural populations decline, an increasing share of the rural out-migrants probably can be expected to remain in the region."

A significant effect of out-migration noted by the report is that is has altered the age structure of the Upper Midwest population in such a way as to increase the proportion of "dependents" or nonlabor force members (persons under 15 and over 65 years of age).

Net out-migration is concentrated among the younger age groups. Over half of the net migrants during the decade were under 25 in 1960, with the big bulge occurring at high school graduate age.

Age groups from roughly 20 to 50 in each state in the region contained proportionately fewer persons than the United States as a whole, averaging 35 per cent here as against 39 per cent for the entire nation.

This migration information will be used by the Council, along with facts from other research, to formulate a program of action designed to strengthen and expand the regional economy. All major segments of economic activity are being studied. Data are compiled by states, and in the case of migration are broken down by counties.

Langen Charges Agric. Dept. with Favoring Estes

Congressman Appears at Tuesday Hearing of Investigating Group

Congressman Odin Langen last week charged the Department of Agriculture with showing favoritism in 1961 and 1962 toward Billie Sol Estes in the department's handling of the Texan's bond for grain storage operations.

In documenting his charges at Tuesday's hearing of the investigating committee, the Minnesota congressman pointed out that during the period between May and December of 1960, Estes' bond had been increased by $500,000 while approvals were made for the storage of 8 million bushels of grain. "Then in 1961," said Langen, 'this same man, with the same operation, was permitted to increase his storage by 28 million bushels, but his bond wasn't increased one nickel."

Langen noted that Estes' grain storage bond had been regularly increased until the Texas boy wonder called on Agriculture Department official Carl Miller on January 25, 1961. "After that time," said Langen, "Estes' bond stayed the same while his empire pyramided. It's obvious that the peddler of free hats, suits, shirts and cantaloupe had transferred his headquarters from Pecos to Washington."

Congressman Langen also questioned the wisdom of the Department of Agriculture in permitting Dabney Townsend to continue in his policy-making position after finding it necessary to transfer his co-worker Carl Miller. "From the testimony we've heard from both men," concluded Langen, "they were in full agreement on the handling of Estes' bond. So why transfer Miller and at the same time allow Townsend who was instrumental in the original decisions affecting Estes, to continue on the job?"

Ducks Unlimited Cites Prospects

Sees Some Improvement in Canada Breeding Area

Cautious optimism keynoted the latest report on breeding ground conditions in Canada from Ducks Unlimited

Although the major "duck factories" in the prairie and parkland areas are still far from full production, spring rains and good moisture conditions through June are maintaining potholes and marshes at satisfactory levels.

However, several important potential breeding grounds remain dry due to a lack of spring run off, and a shortage of breeding ducks returning from the south means that there will be no great explosion in the population of ducks using the flyways this fall.

An important factor now, the report said, is the amount of precipitation through July. If rainfall is normal during the month, brood survival should be good and many ducks who failed to bring off a successful early hatch will be encouraged to re-nest.

Broods from re-nesting birds form an important part of the overall production, the report emphasized.

Commissioner Prout Discusses Posting In Letter to Times

Clarence Prout, commissioner of conservation for Minnesota, has explained the land transfer situation in Eastern Marshall county in a reply to a letter recently sent by the Times requesting such information. Posting of part of the 15,000 acres as wildlife management area by the division of game and fish has been done within the past few weeks to acquaint sportsmen with the areas which will be open for public hunting this fall.

Transfer of the 15,000 acres was made by George Selke, former commissioner of conservation, as one of his last official acts before being succeeded by Prout under the new administration two years ago. At a meeting of interested persons in St. Paul a short time later, a tentative agreement was reached whereby about 8,000 acres of the original 15,000 transferred would be returned to jurisdiction by the division of land and minerals.

Commissioner Prout's letter includes the following statements:

"We are now in the process of evaluating the 8,000 acres of land the Marshall county commissioners asked be returned to the jurisdiction of our Division of Lands and Minerals from the jurisdiction of the Division of Game and Fish.

"I have discussed the posting of this territory with Mr. James W. Kimball, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, and he said he does not believe any of the 8,000 acres has been posted as yet, designating them as wildlife management areas. We believe it is our duty to post state lands that are open to hunting, in order that the public may know where they can freely hunt on publicly owned lands.

State Lands Open

"This is in line with our belief that the state lands should be open for recreational purposes, especially hunting, since so much of our privately owned land is now posted against public hunting. It should be common knowledge that all of the state lands in the state forests are open for hunting. Of course in this state we do not allow hunting, except under special conditions, in any of our state park areas.

"As soon as we have made a revaluation of the 8,000 acres and they are returned to the jurisdiction of the Division of Lands and Minerals, they will still have to be separately evaluated as to their need and suitability for agricultural pursuits. The mere returning of these lands. . . does not make them available for purchase for agriculture. This is a separate determination to be made by our Lands and Minerals appraisers."

LAST YEAR crowds on Crazy Days jammed the streets to check the multitude of bargains offered on the sidewalk sale. Crowds are expected to be bigger than ever this year with more merchants offering more items and additional activities planned. Anyone with items which they wish to sell or swap is encouraged to bring them to the "open market" which will be located on Second street between Main and LaBree avenues. Anything from carpet tacks to used camels may be sold at this market.

KrazY dazE Kum ToT.r.F. This Weak

There is no question about it—Friday and Saturday will be a boon to descriminating shoppers, bargain hunters, curiosity seekers and all others looking for a good time. July 27 and 28 will be Crazy Days in Thief River Falls and all machinery is oiled and ready to be put into motion.

The first gears will begin at 9 a. m. sharp Friday when a parade of costumed employees will open the two-day event The parade will form near the post office and the line of march will move north on LaBree to Third street, west on Third to Main avenue, south on Main to Second street and east on Second street to disband near the post office.

Immediately following the parade, about 9:30 a. m., the sidewalk sale will begin. Merchants will unveil their wares on tables outside their stores and hundreds of values will be offered to the public. This street sale has been a popular feature of each annual Crazy Days for several years.

Several added features will be part of Crazy Days this years. Half a block of Second street from LaBree avenue west to the alley will be reserved for an open market place Anyone having items to sell or trade may bring them to this area and do their best to market the items. It is expected that a considerable amount of "horse trading" will be done in this area. Any items are acceptable and anyone at all may participate.

LaBree avenue from Third to Fourth street will be reserved for sales of used cars and machinery. Local auto dealers will offer ridiculous prices on used autos, some of them even worth the money asked. Be sure to stop and look them over—there may be just what you have been looking for in the array to be displayed. Merchants from outside the downtown business district have also been invited to set up a display and sales area downtown.

Added emphasis for the parade will be prizes of $10 for first place and $5 each for second and third place—to the person with the best costume. Youngsters in costume may also participate in the parade and compete for silver dollar prizes to be given to the five top costume winners.

Trudy Waale Writes of Girl Scout Roundup under Way in Vermont

Miss Trudy Waale of Thief River Falls has supplied the Times with the following report on the International Girl Scout roundup currently under way at Button Bay State park in Vermont, which she is attending along with a group of girls from Fosston.

"Girl Scouts together, happy are we" is the refrain that rings out throughout Button Bay State Park, home of the 1962 International Roundup. We are happy, all 10,000 of us.

We tent together in patrols of eight; ours includes Yvonne Johnson, Emily Aalgaard, Lois Ness, Bonita Kopel, Marbeth Schon, Margaret Evenson, and Marguerite Bjerken all of Fosston — and myself from Thief River Falls. There are four patrols in a troop. Our troop consists of girls from New York, California, and Ohio in addition to us Northern Minnesotans.

At 6:59 the 450 acre site is quiet, but at 7:00 reville sounds, and our little city wakes. 1,056 charcoal burners are started and our busy day has begun. And there is plenty to do—swap small handmade articles or geological specimens typical of a region, such as gold from Alaska or miniture cotton bales from Louisiana; swim in Lake Champlain; observe demonstrations from all over the United States such as Texas branding, or one such as our own, making krumkage; paint, sketch, or write; speak your mind in a forum or a discussion group; study the stars through one of the 21 camp telescopes; or sing along with 10,000 at one of the three big arena events planned for our 50th anniversary in scouting. If only there was time enough to take part in everything.

The first of the arena events was held last night. We were welcomed by Mrs. Charles Culmer, President of the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. after which a challenge from President Kennedy, "What Can You Do to Serve Your Country" was read. Representatives from 12 regions sang their songs and presented their symbols which were placed on a huge backdrop map of the United States.

A salute was given to the foreign Scouts from 21 different countries by having an international parade of campers and their flags. The girls from the different countries and states joined and marched out together, all seeking our common goal, "Honor the Past, Serve the Future." American flags totaling 288 were carried out and encircled the arena as we all sang "America."

This was an inspirational beginning to an exciting and educational ten days.

Dr. Earl Dagg, Is Radiologist At N.W. Hospital

must take three years of post-graduate training in the diagnostic and therapeutic use of x-rays and nuclear medicine. Training must be taken in hospitals approved by the American College of Radiology and examinations must be passed. Radiology is a relatively new specialty as compared to the other major specialties.

In his work, a radiologist sees patients by consultation. Other physicians refer patients to him for study. Since he is specially trained to use x-rays in making diagnosis, his assistance is invaluable to physicians who have major training and experience in other fields. The radiologist is also trained in superficial and deep x-ray treatment in cancer therapy and has had specialized training in use of radioactive isotopes.

Basic Training

Basic training for all radiologists includes the following:

Becoming familiar with the x-ray appearance of all disease from pediatrics to geriatrics;

Use of fluoroscopy for the examination of primarily the chest, stomach, bowel and spinal canal;

Diagnostic use of radioactive isotopes (nuclear medicine) in diseases of various organs, particularly the thyroid and blood;

Radiation therapy in use of x-rays for treatment in a variety of conditions, including cancer.

To Enlarge Department

Dr. Dagg spoke highly of the equipment now in use at the hospital and that which is planned for purchase in the enlarged radiology department. Equipment includes diagnostic x-ray and fluoroscopic equipment with all necessary protection to reduce the level of radiation given patients to a minimum. Ortho-voltage radiation therapy equipment designed to treat many types of cancer as well as benign conditions is also used.

Included in the plans for the enlarged department will be a new dark room for film processing and a completely new additional diagnostic room. There are plans being made for an "image amplifier", the most recent improvement in fluoroscopy, now extensively used in larger medical centers. The equipment gives much clearer visualization with much less radiation than fluoroscopy.

It is also hoped, Dr. Dagg said, that in the future there can be a radioisotope laboratory with facilities for utilizing the many isotopes now available for diagnosis and treatment.

SALLY Johnston, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnston of Roseau, will represent the Roseau Civic and Commerce association in the Jaycees Aquacade Miss America Preliminary Pageant to be held in Thief River Falls August 4. Last year's queen, Susanne Pitblado, was a Roseau entry. Sally is 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 112 pounds, has light brown hair and blue eyes. Representing Roseau . . .

Sally Johnston Is Aquacade Finalist

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

(Sixth in a series of eight interview stories with candidates for the title of Miss Aquacade at the Miss America Preliminary Pageant to be held at Lincoln high school August 4 in connection with the 8th annual Jaycees Aquacade.)

Music hath charms — particularly for those who have the ability to enjoy it from the viewpoint of a participant. Such is the case with Sally Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnston of Roseau, who is one of the finalists in the Jaycees Miss Aquacade contest in Thief River Falls on August 4. Music is a big part of her life.

Eighteen-year-old Sally is 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 112 pounds, has light brown hair and blue eyes. A 1962 graduate of Roseau high school, she was active in a number of extra-curricular activities, many of them relating to her vocal talents. Roseau is the home town of the reigning Miss Aquacade, Susanne Pitblado, who won the Miss Minnesota talent contest with a piano solo.

As her talent number in the Miss Aquacade program, Sally will sing "Norwegian Echo Carol" by Grieg. Possessor of a fine soprano voice, Miss Johnston sang solos in high school music contests during all four years of high school. This spring she captured an A rating at the state-area music festival held in Thief River Falls when she sang "Come Unto Him All Ye That Labor".

In addition to solo work, Sally was a member of the mixed chorus, girls chorus, trio, sextette and triple trio. She has studied voice for four years and taken piano lessons for about eight years. A member of the choir at the English Lutheran church, she is often soloist for church services and at community functions.

Other Activities

Not content to let music completely dominate her high school activities, she served as president of the Future Homemakers of America, took an active part in declamation work, was a member of the radio club and the Girls Athletic association. She has served in her church as president of the Lutheran Daughters of the Reformation, secretary and treasurer of the LDR, secretary of the youth group and Luther League, typist and co-editor of the Luther League paper.

Hobbies in addition to music include swimming, archery, oil painting and sewing. She has won a number of medals in archery as a member of the archery club at Roseau and makes many of her own clothes. "I suppose animals are a hobby, too," she said. "I'm always bringing home cats and dogs and we have them around the place all the time." Last winter she was a member of the curling club and this summer is a member of the swimming club.

To Attend Concordia

This fall Sally will enroll at Concordia college in Moorhead where she plans to major in elementary education or perhaps music. This summer she is babysitting for her sister although the past two summers she worked as a waitress in the Encore Cafe.

She has a brother, Eddie, who is a salesman for Polaris Idustries at Roseau; an older sister, Mrs. Richard (Gail) Johnson of Roseau; and a younger sister, 15-year-old Eileen, who will be a student at Roseau high school this fall. She is looking forward to the Miss Aquacade contest and the opportunity to meet other contestants.

Final drive-in concert of The Thief River Falls Municipal-Legion band will be presented immediately following the close of Crazy Days activities Friday evening at the municipal parking lot near the intersection of Fourth st. and LaBree av. N.

Only one other appearance will be made by the city band this season. That will be an outdoor concert at Tindolph Park at 1 p. m. Sunday, August 5, as a prelude to the 8th Annual Jaycees Aquacade water ski show.

The public is cordially invited to attend both concerts. Those who attend Friday night's event may drive their cars to the parking lot and park in any convenient location near the band stand. A special program of favorites has been prepared and includes "Summer Evening Serenade", "The March of the Spanish Soldiery", "Far Away Places", "French Military Marching Song", "The Waltz King" and "Hallelujah".

Some Armyworms Are Found in Pennington

Armyworms have been found in Northwestern Minnesota and several very light infestations in Pennington county, reports County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. This insect can be found in almost every small grain field. Although the armyworm is widespread in the state, the potential for damage appears to be confined mainly to lodged grain and the margins of grain fields next to heavy grass margins. Farmers are urged to check lodged grain and grasses.

If armyworms are controlled in lodged areas, treatment of the entire field may not be necessary. Farmers should check for armyworm in the evening — they will be found up on the grain and can be readily observed. During the day armyworms are curled up on the ground under the grain and plant debris.

Spraying is economical only when there are 4 to 6 larvae per square foot. Farmers should check their fields closely before considering spraying. There is no need for panic in spraying for this insect. At least one field has been sprayed in the Warren area to control armyworms.

Fully grown larvae reaches 1½ inches in length. The head is pale grey-green and honeycombed with darker lines. The general body color ranges from light grey-green to grey-brown. There is a fine whitish broken line down the middle of the back bordered by a darker mottled one reaching halfway down the side. Below this is a pale orange stripe with a white border; next a brownish mottled stripe and just above the legs, a pale orange stripe with a white edge. Each leg along the middle of the body has a dark band along the outer side. Field identification should be confirmed by sending larvae to this office.

Armyworms can be controlled with heptachlor ¼ lb. per acre; toxaphene 1½ lbs. per acre; or dieldin 3-4 oz. per acre. Heptachlor at the above rate should not be applied within ten days of harvest; dieldrin within seven days and toxaphene within thirty-forty days of harvest.

Legion Tourney Under Way Today

The Fair Grounds diamond will be the site of the 1962 American Legion junior baseball district tournament. The tournament, with four teams participating, will begin this evening, Thursday, and conclude on Friday night, with the championship finals. Four teams—Fergus Falls, Moorhead, Fertile, and East Grand Forks—will compete.

This evening's pairings will have Fertile, of the third sub-district, playing Moorhead, the second sub-district winner, at 6:00 p. m. And at 8:15 p. m., the Fergus Falls juniors, winners in the first sub-district, will play coach Roger Achen's East Grand Forks team, the champions of the fourth sub-district.

The winners of tonight's first-round games will play tomorrow night, Friday, for the district title and a berth in the state tournament.

Officials for the tournament are Ralph Skay, manager, Irv Wilson, local Legion representative, and Joe Mrkonich and Rod Max, umpires.

Norman-Polk Loop Directors Meet in Fertile Monday

The directors and representatives of the member teams of the Norman-Polk baseball league will hold a meeting at Fertile on Monday night, July 30.

At this meeting, final arrangements will be made for the league playoffs. And, pending the completion of the postponed games that remain on the schedule, a tentative league playoffs schedule will be drawn. Crookston and Twin Valley have clinched playoff berths, but several teams are in contention for the remaining playoff positions.

Newcomers Club Plans Welcome Service Packets

To make new residents of the city more welcome in the future, the Thief River Falls Newcomers club has undertaken a project to provide these families with informational packets and certificates from local merchants. Requests for participation have been sent to about 120 local business places.

Mrs. Herman Dargus, corresponding secretary for the club, urged businessmen contacted to state their intentions as soon as possible so that plans can be made. Other business places which are interested but have not been contacted may obtain further information from club officers.

The group plans to provide each new family in the city with a kit containing a map of the city, informational sheet on what the city has to offer, sticker of Minnesota indicating the location of the city and merchandise certificates from local business places. Several firms have already responded to the mailed inquiry, Mrs. Dargus said.

Local Firemen Taking Course in Special Fields

Four drills which make up a 12-hour course in fire fighting are being given to members of the Thief River Falls fire department with the first drill being conducted on Monday, according to Roy Langevin, chief of the department.

Swan Anderson, representative of the vocational division of the Minnesota board of education, is conducting the drills on ventilation, ladders, masks and pumpers. Anderson was a member of the Duluth fire department for 26 years, chief of the Little Falls department for four and one-half years and has been in his present employment for five years. Three remaining drills will be conducted on successive Monday evenings.

3 Persons Die in Two-car Crash in Village of Ogema

Three persons died early Tuesday in a collision of automobiles on U. S. 59 in the Mahnomen county village of Ogema.

Killed in the accident, the highway patrol said, were Albin Ben Kvare, 53, driver of one car, and his passenger, John S. Kvare, 55, both of Route 1, Waubun, and a passenger in the second car, Shirley Marie Kent, 17, Ogema.

The driver of the second car, identified by the patrol as Shirley Louise Raad, 17, Bagley, was injured seriously.

Wildlife Cover Plantings Made

Approximately 220,000 individual trees and shrubs were planted this spring for wildlife food and cover by the conservation department's game and fish division, it was reported today. One-half of the total were evergreen types designed to provide winter cover for both upland game and deer. Almost 170,000 of the seedlings were planted on state-owned wildlife management areas with the balance going on private land.

Thief River Falls, 8, at Halstad, 12.
Halstad, 8, at Ada, 2.

Schedule this week:
Saturday, July 28—
Fertile at Halstad, 8:15 P.M.
Sunday, July 29 —
T. R. Falls at Erskine, 8:15 P.M.
Twin Valley at Fertile, 8:15 P.M.
Ada at Crookston, 6:00 P.M.

The Norman-Polk league's regular schedule is slated to wind-up on Sunday, but there are a number of postponed games to be played and until these contests are made up the league officials will not be able to designate the league playoff berths or dates.

To date it appears that a two-team race will continue for the league championship, with the Crookston Pirates and the Twin Valley Twins being in contention for first place. Manager Rod Olstad's Crookston club was to have played the Erskine Merchants at Crookston on Sunday evening, but the defending league-champion Merchants failed to appear. According to the reports received, the Pirates have declared the game forfeited.

Twin Valley kept firm hold on second place by scoring a 6-0 win over the Fosston Jets in a game played at Twin Valley on Sunday.

And a crippled Thief River Falls club barely held its third place rank while losing a 12-8 decision to an oncoming Halstad Red Sox Club at Halstad. Manager Joey Poole's Thieves hold a half-game lead over the fourth place Fosston Jets.

Manager Irv Warner's Halstad club marked up three victories during the week, scoring wins over Erskine, Thief River Falls, and Ada. As a result the Red Sox made quite a jump in the league standings, moving up into fifth place, and trail Fosston by one game.

To Policy Holders now Being Served by the Lund Insurance Agency:

I take this means of presenting to you the young man who has served on my staff during the past three years and with whom, I hope, you will become better acquainted.

Ralph Jorstad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jorstad of this city and a graduate of Lincoln High School. He joined my staff in his senior year under the school program of distributive education. His objective was to learn the insurance business and he has made very satisfactory progress in all phases of the operation of a general agency. I can recommend him to you as a young man of integrity who already is well informed, and in whom you may have confidence.

He will be active with me and with Mrs. Margaret Olsen in serving the policy holders whose policies will be transferred from the Lund Insurance agency to our office on July 31. This transfer will not involve the writing of a new policy until the expiration date unless a change is desired.

Mr. Jorstad and I will appreciate having an early opportunity to discuss your insurance problems with you personally.

Thank you,

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son, brother and father, Lawrence Goethe, who passed away July 20, 1952:

Each evening sun may set.

Thieves Lose to Fertile Nine 11-4

Fertile, behind the steady six-hit pitching of lefty Arlen Swenson, defeated the Thieves, 11-4, in a Norman-Polk baseball league game played on the Fair Grounds diamond Wednesday night.

The Thieves are scheduled to meet the Erskine Merchants at Erskine on Sunday night.

In Wednesday night's game here, the Thieves were guilty of erratic play as they committed seven miscues in the seven-inning game.

After Fertile had tallied twice in the first inning, on a walk to Paul Sannes with two men out, an error, and singles by Bill Kostick and Rod Olson; the Thieves came back with a pair in the last half of the first to knot the game. Harlie Drees opened with a single, stole second and, after Marv Lundin had whiffed, moved to third on Joey Poole's single, and scored when shortstop Olson muffed John Drury's ground ball. When Drury was "hung up" between first and second, Poole dashed home with a run to tie the game at 2-all.

In the third, a walk, a force out, and an error plated a Fertile run, but the Thieves notched a tally in the bottom of the inning to again tie the game. Tony Poole walked to open the inning, but was forced at second on Drees' ground ball to first base. Lundin rapped a ground single to right field, sending Drees around to third, and on Joe Poole's fly ball to center, Drees came across the plate after the catch, and the game was at 3-all.

Fertile erupted for five runs in the sixth inning, with Tony Poole giving up three walks, uncorking a pair of wild pitches, and with the Thieves' defense making three errors. Fertile's Rod Olson poled a home run over the left field fence to account for one of the Fertile tallies.

In the seventh, off relief pitcher Drees, Fertile racked up three runs and three hits. Dick Werdahl rapped a one-run double to left-center, and Chuck Johnson sliced a two-run single down the right-field foul line.

Siebert Coming Back

Baseball Clinic at T. R. Falls Tues., July 31

COACH DICK SIEBERT

Dick Siebert, nationally-known University of Minnesota baseball coach is conducting his second annual Wheaties Baseball school thruout the state and will hold a clinic for school age ball players at the Fair Grounds ball park in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, July 31, Ralph Skay, Lincoln high school athletic director announces.

Mr. Siebert will be assisted by Hal Younghans, baseball coach at Minneapolis Henry High School, and Tom Warner, St. Paul Cretin High School mentor. While Siebert will be working the infielders, Younghans will be handling catchers and pitchers, and Warner the outfielders.

The youngsters are being split into separate age groups this summer. The morning sessions will be devoted to those in the 9-12 age bracket, while the afternoon school will be spent with boys 13 and over. In the event of rain the classes will be conducted indoors Mr. Skay states.

All school-age ball players in the area are invited to attend the school and invitations have been extended to community recreation directors in the area. There is no charge for the participation. The boys are required to bring with them only their gloves and shoes while uniforms and other equipment is optional.

The Siebert Wheaties Baseball school is a must for all boys playing, or interested in sand lot and high school baseball. No one coaching collegiate baseball is better qualified to work with youngsters than the Minnesota University head mentor, who just completed his 15th season with the Gophers. His varsities won Big Ten Championships in 1956, 1958, 1959, and 1960, and took NCAA crowns in 1956 and 1960.

Aquacade Water Ski Rehearsal Is Slated Saturday

Rehearsal for the 8th Annual Aquacade water ski show will be held Saturday at 1 p. m., according to Wendell Olson, head of the group for the Thief River Falls Water Sports club. Skiers are asked to meet at the Tindolph park boat dock promptly at 1 p. m. so that an effective rehearsal can be held.

James Winjum Jr., chairman of Sunday events for the annual Aquacade, stated that all events will proceed as scheduled. A horseshoe contest at the park will take place at 12:30 p. m. with a concert by the Municipal-Legion band to follow at 1 p. m. A boat parade at 1:30 p .m. will precede the ski show slated for 2 p. m. The entire event is free to the public at Tindolph Park. Swimming events will follow the ski show.

Booster button sales, the financial backbone of the Aquacade, will be given additional emphasis this week. Friday night's street sale will again be held with an all-out effort made to sell the colorful Aquacade pins. Funds from the button sale are used to support the non-profit events of the Aquacade, including parade, expenses of visiting royalty, water show and Miss Minnesota appearance.

Junior Baseball's Best

The American Legion's junior baseball district tournament will be played on the Fair Grounds diamond here this evening, Thursday, and Friday night. First round games this evening will find Fertile playing Moorhead at 6:00 p. m.; and Fergus Falls meeting East Grand Forks at 8:15 p. m. The district finals will be played at 8:15 p. m. Friday night.

This event, in importance and scope, is comparable to the Region Eight basketball tournament. Fact is, the area encompassed by this district in baseball, including as it does such cities as Moorhead and Fergus Falls, is larger than the Region Eight basketball area.

It is hoped that the tournament will be blessed by good weather, and the forecasts are favorable. And it is probable that included in the number of fans who attend the games will be several major league scouts and "bird dogs".

There are some boys with great talent and potential for professional baseball. Among these prospects, and perhaps the most highly-publicized player in the tournament, is Fergus Falls' pitcher Barry Johnson. Johnson has been a factor in the success of the Fergus Falls juniors for the past four years. If he has his stuff, and there is no reason to believe that the six-foot two-inch right-hander has lost it, the fans will see a brilliant prospect.

And another pitcher who is sure to attract attention is Fertile's hard-throwing Rod Olson. Olson hurled a 5-0 shutout on Monday, giving up but two hits, as Fertile defeated Clearbrook for the sub-district title. The chunky Fertile righthander will be a senior in high school next year, so he is an "untouchable" as far as the scouts are concerned. But they will undoubtedly make a "book" on him.

Incubator of Talent

That the American Legion's baseball program is an incubator of baseball talent can be judged by the list of former Legion players who participated in the recent major league All-Star game. On the American league squad were such former grads as Roger Maris, Bobby Richardson, Tom Tresh and Ralph Terry of the Yanks; Brooks Robinson and Milt Pappas of the Orioles; Earl Battey and Rich Rollins of the Twins; Dick Donovan and John Romano of the Indians; Hank Aguirre of the Tigers; Billy Moran and Lee Thomas of the Angels; Bill Monbouquette of the Red Sox; Jim Landis of the White Sox; Dave Stenhouse of the Senators; and Norm Siebern of the Athletics.

And on the winning National league squad were such players as Don Drysdale and John Roseboro of the Dodgers; Stan Musial and Bob Gibson of the Cardinals; Del Crandall, Warren Spahn, Bob Shaw and Frank Bolling of the Braves; Bob Purkey of the Reds; Dick Groat of the Pirates; Richie Ashburn of the Mets; and John Callison of the Phils.

And the managers, Ralph Houk of the American league, playing at Lawrence, Kansas, and Fred Hutchinson, playing at Seattle, Wash., are former Legion juniors.

Baseball's Great Road Show

Baseball's greatest road show is apparently the New York Yankees, and the statistics support this contention. In forty-four playing dates on the road, the Yankees have helped their rival attract a total of 1,297, 316 playing fans. This is an average of 29,484 fans a game. At home, though, the Yankees are averaging about 20,000 fans per game.

If the Yankees continue to attract fans on the road at the present rate, by season's end the New York club will have exhibited its talents before 2,231,145 playing customers. This mark would easily surpass the road attendance of 1,946,679 set last season. And you will recall that last season there was a tremendous interest in the home run race between Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

This attendance boom is good news for the entire league. Under league rules, the home club keeps most of the receipts, with the visitors getting 27½ cents of each paid admission. The Yankees' treasury is doing all right on the road, too.

The Tops

The second annual Norman-Polk North vs. South All-Star game was played at Fertile on Thursday evening of last week, and for the second successive year the South squad was victorious, winning this season's tilt by an 8-6 score.

And the fans that were in attendance were treated to fine exhibition of baseball, and the play of the shortstops was exceptional. For the North, Bill Cline of Fosston, a graduate of Bemidji State college, was at shortstop; and for the South, Dean Bowyer, a graduate of Ada high school this spring, was the shortfielders.

Cline had the edge on offense, being at bat two official times (he walked three times), getting one hit and scoring three runs. Bowyer had five trips to the plate, no hits, reached first on a force play and scored one run.

Defensively, Bowyer was the busier, having three putouts and four assists, while Cline had two putouts and two assists. Neither committed an error.

Highway Department Pays $55 Million for Right-of-Way Since '57

Minnesota has acquired $55½ million in land and buildings during the past five years for right of way purposes in the construction of the state's share of the national system of interstate and defense highways, according to a report by the right-of-way division of the Minnesota highway department.

Included in the land purchases were 4,481 parcels representing 5,768 acres of rural land; 2,295 residential units, 263 business units and 687 apartment houses.

The proportionate share of these funds already paid out went for land acquisition on portions of the five interstate freeways that will traverse the Twin Cities five-county metropolitan area from east to west and north to south, including a circumferential route. These routes will total 206.6 miles, or 23 per cent of the state total.

Ninety per cent of the $55½ million already expended for interstate right of way was reimbursed by the federal government according to the Federal Highway Act of 1956, which set up the method of financing the nation's interstate and defense highways. This represents 5½ per cent of Minnesota's estimated total expenditure of around $1 billion for completion of the project by 1972.

It is predicted that expenditures for rights of way will continue to be heavy for the next few years or until the bulk of the needed land is acquired.

It is estimated that close to $200,000,000 will be required for Interstate highway rights of way in Minnesota before the state's share of the system is completed. This total will include approximately 32,000 acres of land, 6,000 residences, 800 business units and 1,360 apartment buildings.

NP Engineer Fired after Derailment

Fireman Also Discharged After Mishap in Montana

The Northern Pacific Railway has discharged the engineer and fireman on the North Coast Limited which derailed on a mountain grade near Missoula, Mont., June 10. One child was killed and nearly 300 passengers were hurt in the accident.

Engineer Elden Lynn and fireman Gerald Haines said they received dismissal notices from the railroad last Thursday. Neither would say whether the notices gave any reasons.

Earlier Lynn blamed brake failure for the crash while railroad officials testified at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing that the train was traveling 87-89 miles an hour when it was derailed in an area where the speed limit is 30 miles an hour.

A physician indicated that the engineer was under the influence of alcohol when he took command of the train about 2½ hours before the crash.

Timber Sold in Koochiching Co.

Spirited bidding on seven tracts of state timber ran the price from 25 per cent to 40 per cent over appraised value during a timber auction sale July 10 at International Falls, the Conservation Department announced today.

All jack pine offered for sale was sold as were 2,000 cords of spruce. In all, 25 of the 46 tracts offered were bid in at the appraised value or higher.

The timber is located on state-owned land in Koochiching county.

Ill-fitting Shoes Cause of Ailments

Doctors Advise Women Concerning High Heels

Feet hurt? Well, you're not alone. According to the Minnesota State medical association, aching feet are one of today's most common health problems.

It's no wonder feet hurt, says the association. They carry your weight around all day. Everyone walks at least a few miles each day, around the house, or office or shop. And with each step there's 150 pounds — more or less — of weight bearing down on your foot.

One of the major causes of foot trouble, according to the association, is improperly fitted shoes—shoes that conform to style but ignore the shape of the foot. Women's shoes are the big problem. Excessive heel height and poor support lead to poor gait and alteration of posture.

Shoes selected on the basis of appearance rather than comfort cause fatigue, and not infrequently produce corns and bunions by undue pressure on localized spots. A well-fitting shoe is snug at the heel and roomy in the toes. Spike heels worn occasionally for short intervals do no harm. For everyday use, however, all women would be happier and more graceful if they avoided excessively high heels.

The stiletto heel of excessive height is a current fashion. If the shank of these shoes is made of inferior steel, there is a constant strain on the ligaments. A sudden change to flat shoes at the end of the day irritates the ligaments still more.

Delegates Attend Church Institute for Education

TALC and Lutheran Free Churches Join Training In Four-Level Program

Several persons for the Thief River Falls Conference of the American Lutheran church were among more than 200 members of TALC and the Lutheran Free church from eastern North Dakota, northern Minnesota and Manitoba attending a district instructor's institute held recently in Moorhead.

Conducted at Concordia college, Trinity Lutheran church and the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in that city, the sessions were centered on "The Faith We Teach". The institute was one step of a four-step program aimed at training of all teachers in the church education program.

People attending the session were given instruction by persons who received training at a national level and in turn will serve as leaders in conference teaching. Teachers in church schools will then be trained as the final step in local congregations. The local conference training session will be held at Trinity church in Thief River Falls on September 11 and 18 from 7 to 11 p m.

Among those attending the Moorhead session were Mrs. Peter Aune, Middle River, pre-school; Mrs. Norval Torkelson, Warren, primary; Mrs. Carl Torgerson, TRF, junior; Mrs. May Isaacson, TRF, intermediate; Mrs. Ebba Sagmoen, TRF, high school; Rev. Harold Hofstad, Warren, adult; Rev. R. A. Wangberg, TRF, pastor; and Paul G. Anderson, TRF, dean.

Widow of Former Pastor to Speak at First Baptist

Mrs. E. L. Brenneise, who with her late husband pioneered in missionary work in Mexico until his recent death, will speak at both morning and evening services in the First Baptist church next Sunday, July 29th.

Rev. Brenneise was pastor of the First Baptist Church from June, 1953 through June 1956. After a short pastorate at Paynesville, Minnesota, Mr. Brenneise took his family to Mexico and worked as missionary there until last year when he passed away.

Mrs. Brenneise will have an interesting program and will tell of the progress of missions in Mexico. The meetings will be open to the public.

Number of Drownings Down in State to Date

Half of the state's 1962 drowning victims thus far have been under 15 years of age. And one-fourth of the total of 50 Minnesota water fatalities involved were youngsters under five years old, according to a spokesman for the Minnesota Safety Council.

Despite the fact that the state's water casualty toll showed 20 less drownings than last year at the same time, the water safety section of the Safety Council expressed sharp concern over the youthfulness of water victims.

"We have had too many cases involving glaring lack of parental supervision," said Carl W. Moen, water safety chairman. "The incidence of drowning involving people under 20 is almost double what it was last year."

Moen warned state residents that the hottest weather of the year is ahead of us. Experience has shown there is a direct correlation between the drowning incidence and weather. Sadly enough, when the temperature climbs, so does the number of drownings.

The water safety section has issued state-wide appeals to parents to support their community "Learn to Swim" programs. Analysis of drowning deaths has disclosed that almost 85 per cent of all victims are non-swimmers.

Since 1944, the first year official records were maintained, a total of 2,484 persons have drowned in state waters. The average annual drowning toll is 135.2 victims.

Although Minnesota ranks first among the 50 states in the number of fresh water lakes and, accordingly, "opportunities" for water tragedies, the state is perennially among the top 20 in water safety performance.

Despite a marked increase in water activity during the past decade, statistics show that during the first half of the record period (1944-1952) drownings average 146.9 per year, followed by a sharp decline for the second half of the period (1953-1961) to an average annual rate of 123.5.

Motoring Group Gives Travel Tips to Camera Fans

Taking pictures while travelling has become an American custom. The only trouble, according to AAA, is that much film is wasted on the wrong subjects or scenes—or through photographic error.

First of all, keep your camera handy on the seat beside you, says the Minnesota motoring organization. Travel by car means mileage and fast scenery changes; you never know what picture opportunity lies ahead around the next bend in the road.

You can snap many interesting subjects right through the windshield so keep windows clean. You can photograph scenes moving at a speed of 20 miles or less even with simple box cameras. Remember to shoot a subject head-on rather than one passing in front of the view-finder.

Editorials . . .

"Surely the first obligation of a political thinker is to understand the nature of man. The Conservative does not claim special powers of perception on this point. But he does claim a familiarity with the accumulated wisdom and experience of history, and he is not too proud to learn from the great minds of the past."

Senator Barry Goldwater

Disease Control

Hoard's Dairyman calls our attention to the interesting fact that "in Sweden's 300,000 herds of cattle not one case of brucellosis has been found since 1957, over five years ago." The Swedes discontinued vaccination in 1951 and now they are no longer blood or milk testing. The disease is considered eradicated.

Disease control for either humans or livestock is generally a costly operation, but experience teaches us that failure to control is more costly. The expense of a control program can be anticipated and taken in stride. The unexpected loss of a herd can be disastrous.

Beyond the Frontier?

In his Sleepy Eye Herald Dispatch, W. E. Barnes reminds us that each individual's share of the national debt is steadily increasing. He estimates that each family's share is now in the neighborhood of $30,000. And, as he points out, the debt is steadily increasing.

The unwillingness of our federal government to at least live within its means and keep the debt from growing larger is becoming increasingly serious. As a result our credit is not as good as it was and our creditors are not keeping secret the fact that they are losing confidence in the American dollar as a medius of world exchange.

We are afraid that beyond the frontier the New Frontiersmen are leading us to we probably will find a desert. No san person can believe that the solution for our present problems will be found merely by waving a magic wand. As individuals we do not get out of debt by going farther into debt. Good management for our government involves the same basic considerations as good management of our personal affairs.

We have some rough adjustments ahead of us, due to our own mismanagement and foolishness. The longer we delay our return to sound practices and good management the tougher those adjustments will be.

McNamara On the Job

There is one man in Washington who seems to have his feet on the ground. He is Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Defense, who thinks the government should make a serious effort to get honest value for each dollar it spends.

A successful interception of an intercontinental balistic missile last week brought joy to the champions of the successful Nike-Zeus that passed its first test high above the Pacific. Up to now the Defense Department has $1.2 billion dollars invested in the Nike-Zeus. Following the successful demonstration army officials were in favor of putting it into quantity production at once. Over a four year period the program recommended by the Army would cost from $12 to $14 billion.

But Secretary McNamara is not satisfied that the three-stage rocket is ready for quantity production. He wants more proof of the Nike-Zeus effectiveness under actual war conditions. So despite the delight expressed by some congressmen and the well-earned praise now being given to the Army for the successful downing of an ICBM, the Defense Department stresses that this shot is only one of a long series of trial shots.

Incidentally McNamara is experimenting with new procedures in the overall defense program that he hopes will result in savings of several billions of dollars. Wouldn't it be wonderful if there were more department heads like that?

Taxes and Unemployment

There is much talk of tax cuts and tax reform these days and it is a subject that does deserve serious consideration. Thinking in terms of taxes imposed upon us by the federal government, our taxes are much more severe than the taxes imposed by other governments. The high cost of government at all levels in our country is an important factor in the weakening of our economy and our ability to compete effectively in world markets.

This is especially true for our corporations, the organizations to which we look for most of our employment, and our business and industrial growth. Since 1930 the tax on the net profits of corporations has increased from 19 per cent to 52 per cent. This tax is imposed on the net profits before any dividends are paid to stockholders, and the stockholders must pay additional income taxes on the dividends they receive. In other words under our present law the net profits of a corporation are taxed twice. Partnerships and cooperatives are not penalized by this double burden.

This condition has not been detrimental to our corporations to any great extent up to the present time because they have been competing mainly with other American corporations that have been subject to the same tax laws. The heavy tax load has been accepted merely as another cost of doing business and passed along to the customers in the form of higher prices. The excessive income tax imposed on corporations has in effect been a sales tax, paid by the consumer in the form of higher prices. That was yesterday.

Today things are different. Today our large industries are still competing with each other, but they also are competing with efficient, mass-producing industries of other industrial countries that are operating under much more favorable labor and tax costs. And too many segments of our national economy are now in trouble because of that condition. One result is unemployment.

Another result is the movement of American capital to other countries, where operating conditions, including taxes, are more favorable.

And what is the answer? Well, obviously, the first consideration must be a recognition of the facts, and any suggestion that our corporation taxes may be excessive is not going to meet with hasty approval by the run-of-the-mill politicians. When that question comes up for discussion they are going to have an urgent appointment two states away.

But our corporation income tax structure is one of the main causes of our economic difficulty that started long before Kennedy became a presidential candidate. The Kennedy administration didn't write the present tax laws. But it is our guess that President Kennedy could make a real contribution toward the recovery of our economy by initiating a thorough study of our tax laws to determine to what extent they are a contributing factor to our inability to meet foreign competition.

Any corporation that must earn so huge a profit that it can pay a fair return to its stockholders after setting aside a reasonable sum for replacement and expansion and after paying 52 per cent of the net profit to the federal government is operating at quite a handicap in the international market.

"Oh, Mamma Mia"

In his syndicated column Robert Ruark recently told of instances of sculduggery he had noted in backward countries thruout the world where food from America, to be distributed free to hungry natives, had been sold to those who could afford to pay, and the receipts pocketed. He is understandably skeptical about the effectiveness of many of our good deeds, stating:

"It has been my experience that the more undeveloped the nation, the more eager are the few politicans and business sharpies to steal from their poorer brothers, as witness the tale of the purloined powdered milk and the shameful famine relief wheat in Ethiopia. Tractors become converted into cash for the pockets of the few rich. The grains go on the black market and the price of bread soars.

"In the donation of cash, such as under the President's Alliance For Progress program, the diversion of intendedly honest moneys is even greater. Argentina is asking for $130 million in aid for low-income housing and highway construction. And, oh, Mama Mia I would like to see how that money finds its way into dishonest pockets while the housing is shoddied and the roads split at the seams after a month.

"I suppose we have done some massive good with our billions abroad. But I am sure afraid that what happened in the backward countries was far less successful than the results in larger, more adaptive countries such as Japan, Germany and England. From what I've seen, the underdeveloped ones are still underdeveloped while the politicians get richer and the peasants continue to starve."

Poor Rich Boy

We presume that by choice, all people would prefer being born rich. There seem to be some disadvantages that go along with the acquiring of wealth the easy way however. It is interesting to know that some wealthy parents are concerned about these disadvantages and make a special effort to give their children a normal upbringing. The Miami News tells of one such family:

"American Families who have built great fortunes and conducted themselves in the traditions of responsible wealth have won the esteem of their countrymen.

"From all accounts, Walker P. Inman Jr., more familiarly known as Skipper, heir to a 30-million-dollar Duke family tobacco fortune, is to be reared in the tradition that wealth is a responsibility and not a privilege.

"This lad is growing up quietly in rural South Carolina much as any country boy, and from all indications his guardians plan to guide him along a course that will spare him the temptations to which some of his relatives have yielded.

"Capitalism needs all the friends it can get—even in the U.S.A. Abuse of privilege in the form of ostentation and recklessness that great wealth permits damages the position of capitalism as the best economic foundation for all of us."

In the world of today capitalism, as a system, is constantly on the defensive, and it does need friends and defenders. The extremely wealthy have a special responsibility in the field of conduct and self-discipline. Ordinary folks do not like to read about rich people falling into their swimming pools with their dress clothes on. People who live in stone houses should not throw glasses.

Candidates Listed in September 11 Primary

The slate for Minnesota's Sept. 11 primary election was filled out with a minimum of surprises as the filing deadline was reached Tuesday.

Competition arrived for State Rep. C. Donald Peterson, Republican aspirant and party endorsed candidate for lieutenant governor, only 10 minutes before the secretary of state's office closed.

Entering the race at that 11th hour was Bernard E. Ericsson, Minneapolis. Ericsson four years ago beat GOP-endorsed State Rep. Art Ogle of Mankato for the same office in the primary but lost to the DFL's Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, now a gubernatorial candidate, in the general election.

Ericsson, 70 and retired, claims to have worked, both for a newspaper and a landscape architect during his active life.

A three-way race developed for the DFL congress nomination in the 7th District when Bill Kjeldahl and August Duren, both of Fergus Falls, made late filings. DFL-endorsed Harding C. Noblitt, Moorhead, had filed earlier.

It will be the fourth attempt in recent years by Duren to win a Congressional nomination. He ran in 1954 and 1956 as a Republican and in 1960 as a Democratic-Farmer-Laborite.

Incumbent Republican Congressman Odin Langen is unopposed in the 7th.

Kjeldahl opposed the DFL-endorsed candidate for state treasurer two years ago but fell by the wayside in the primary.

State TB Agency Makes Grants for Research Work

Three grants for research in tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases have been approved by the executive board of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association, St. Paul, announced Josiah G. Neal, managing director.

Glen Lake State sanatorium will receive $5,785 for research in isoniazid (drug used in treatment of tuberculosis). The University of Minnesota Medical school will receive $3,863.50 for experiments in treating advanced and drug resistant TB cases, and the Mayo association, Rochester, has been awarded $1,200 to help pay for a spectrophotometer to use in histoplasmosis study.

These grants are in addition, Mr. Neal said, to $12,700 appropriated for research in tuberculosis and other respiratoy diseases since the first of the current year.

Show Gospel Film at Grygla Sunday

Rev. Arthur F. Ortmann of Warroad will show the gospel films, "Part Time Christian" and "The Jealous Heart", in the Grygla school auditorium next Sunday, July 29, at 3:00 p. m. Everybody is welcome.

THEATER at Epidavros was one of the many sights witnessed by Kathy Hartje, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hartje of Thief River Falls, as she is residing in Greece this summer as an American Field Service exchange student. One of Euripides most famous tragedies, "The Bucchae," was performed before 12,000 persons on the day Kathy attended the theater. Two of the greatest actors in Greece were in the production and visitors watched from the same stone benches used by the ancient Greeks thousands of years ago.

Plan Drive to End Scabies in Sheep

Campaign to Be Staged in Minnesota in 1963

Sheep producers, marketing groups, farm organizations and state and federal agencies have joined to plan an all-out attack to eliminate scabies in Minnesota sheep flocks in 1963.

Meeting in St. Paul earlier this week, over 50 representatives of these groups agreed on general plans outlined by officials of the Minnesota Commissioner of Agriculture, and J. G. Flint, secretary, Minnesota Livestock Sanitary Board.

Scabies is an infectious skin disease, causing skin damage, sometimes death in flocks, and loss of markets for producers.

The new plan calls for inspecting all Minnesota flocks between December 17, 1962, and January 17, 1963. Infected flocks will be dipped, at little or no cost to owners, in chemicals which kill the mites causing the scabies.

Livestock experts estimate that there are over 20,000 flocks in Minnesota and that less than one-half of one per cent of these will show any indication of scabies.

Details for the effort are now being worked out by cooperating groups. Besides producer and marketing groups, other agencies involved include the Livestock Sanitary Board; the Animal Disease Eradication Division, U. S. Department of Agriculture; Minnesota Department of Agriculture; University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service and College of Veterinary Medicine; and vocational agriculture instructors.

Minnesota Leads in Wildlife Lands

Minnesota leads the nation in the number of acres of land acquired for wildlife purposes under the Pittman-Robertson program, a federal-state cost sharing plan to encourage the restoration of America's waterfowl and other wild birds and animals. The bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife of the U. S. Department of Interior, in calling attention recently to the 191,000 acres of such lands acquired by Minnesota through its department of conservation, game and fish division, said the purchases include over 100,000 acres of wetlands for waterfowl. The federal bureau is currently observing the 25th anniversary of the signing of the Pittman-Robertson Act.

State TB Association Issues Annual Report

Annual report of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association has been released and indicates total income of $372,723 for the 1961-1962 year. Income included $322,032 in net Christmas Seal campaign receipts and $39,489 from apportionment from affiliated associations as well as $11,201 from other income.

Disbursements for the year totaled $353,592 and included $87,886 for health education; $75,252 for case finding; $46,998 for regional organization and field work; $17,215 for administration; $109,721 for seal campaign expense; $1,312 for statistical and fact finding; $1,986 for clinics and health examinations; $1,617 for rehabilitation; and $12,594 for medical research.

In 1961 a total of 863 new cases of tuberculosis were reported and 97 Minnesota residents died from the disease. A total of 317,258 tuberculin tests were given in 1961 and all reactors given x-rays. Reaction rates were about 1 per cent for children under 12, 1.31 per cent for children 12 to 14 and 20 per cent for adults. The association reports that 700,000 Minnesotans harbor TB germs and 35,000 will break down with active TB sometime in their lifetime.

The disease is not inherited, is contagious and is a public health problem, the association stated. Drugs used to treat tuberculosis prevent the TB germs from multiplying, giving the body an opportunity to overcome the disease. It costs Minnesota taxpayers approximately $6 million annually to care for the state's TB patients.

Regional Report

Kenneth Taylor, northwest region director stationed in Thief River Falls, had his annual report published in the state publication. The region is comprised of Pennington, Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Koochiching, Itasca, Marshall, Red Lake, Polk, Beltrami, Mahnomen, Clearwater, Becker, Hubbard and Cass county.

Organization and case-finding were listed by Taylor as the two areas of concentration. Organization work has involved contacting the volunteers, explaining the reorganization of the association and how it affects them, and what it is hoped will be accomplished under the system.

"Case-finding had been concentrated chiefly in the schools," Taylor reports. "In the 5 to 19 age group, approximately one-third received the tuberculin test. Testing by Sunnyrest Sanatorium accounted for about 10,000 of the 22,000 tests given. Of those tested, 361 were new reactors.

"Under the 5-year plan now instituted, our resources will be concentrated in the areas of greatest need. This plan proposed that we broaden our case-finding program to include industrial employees and high incident groups." Herman A. Kjos of this city is vice chairman of the regional advisory council.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It was in May, several years ago that Mildred moved next door. That was a break for Eric. It is so easy to get acquainted with one's neighbors.

The first date naturally called for careful strategy. You don't want to seem too eager — but you want to know what she likes . . . and what she's like. Eric's and Mildred's first date was a Youth Fellowship supper at the church.

Eric happens to be a leader of this group. And Mildred happens to be an earnest Christian girl.

Of course, happens is a very broad word. It means that Eric's and Mildred's parents had once decided that a son or a daughter ought to be given the advantage of religious training.

Now Eric and Mildred are engaged. And everybody says they were meant for each other. And the altar before which they take their vows will be the heart of the religious life of their family. Thus it happens!

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS, BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINN.

July 9, 1962

Pursuant to law the Commissioners met in the Commissioners' Room in the Court House at 10:00 A.M., July 9, 1962.

Members present: Hanson, Olson, Almquist, Lindberg and Tasa. All present.

Gene Beito of the Carnegie Public Library Board and Miss Shanahan, Librarian appeared and expressed appreciation for the assistance given in past years. Statistics were presented that reflect an increased usage of the Library facilities. An average of 200 persons a day are using the Library with an increase up to 32% from the rural area and the balance of 68% from the City. In addition the Library has 67 out of County patrons who pay a membership fee. In view of the ever increasing needs and rural usage the Board was asked for an increase in the appropriation from the County. After discussion it was moved by Hanson seconded by Lindberg that the sum of $2,000.00 be appropriated to the Carnegie Public Library for current operations and the sum of $1,000.00 was appropriated to be set aside by the Library Board for future expansion of their facilities.

Motion carried.

Moved by Olson seconded by Almquist that the sum of $2,500.00 be transferred from the Revenue Fund to the Incidental Fund. Motion carried.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Lindberg that the Auditor be authorized and instructed to call for bids for Fuel oil for heating the Courthouse. Bids to be opened at 11:00 A.M., August 7, 1962. Motion carried.

Moved by Olson seconded by Almquist that the sum of $400.00 be allowed the County Assessor for Clerk Hire for the year 1962. Motion carried.

The minutes of the meeting of June 5, 1962 were read and approved as read.

Mr. Cowan and Mr. March of the Office of the Corps of Engineers in St. Paul appeared in response to a request for a meeting by the County Board to discuss problems arising from control of the Red Lake dam and from alleged restrictions in the river nearer to the City. Twelve interested farmers from the area that had flood problems from the river met with the Corps engineers and the Board, the County Engineer and with Ralph Hauswirth from the area office of the Soil Conservation Board. The operation of the Red Lake dam was explained and problems arising from and related to the control were reviewed.

The dam is actually under the operation of the Indian agency but with Corps direction. By agreement a minimum level must be maintained in the lake and although the lake is lowered in the winter, many factors must be considered in order to assure an adequate level after the spring run-offs.

Although enough observers are in the area for normal conditions the Corps suggested that some additional observers from the group assembled be additional observers to assure a better control. Julian C. Lendobeja was suggested as a logical observer and the Corps would have an additional river gauge installed at some convenient point in the river.

Some of the farmers present then conducted the two Corps men on a tour of the Kratka and River Valley area.

A petition was received from residents in Polk Centre Twp. and others asking that a section of S.A. road No. 12 be rebuilt from S.A. road No. 3 south to the County line, a distance of 4 miles. The petition was received and acknowledged but because of lack of funds no action was taken.

Aquacade Pageant Program Features Kennedy Troupe

Fargo Entertainers Add Musical Comedy To Sat. Night Show

Ken Kennedy

Lee Stewart

Special entertainment to assure a fast-moving and enjoyable program has been secured for the Miss America Preliminary Pageant to be held Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. Ken Kennedy and a troupe of entertainers from Fargo will furnish music and laughter for the pageant which is part of the 8th annual Thief River Falls Jaycees Aquacade to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Two 20-minute segments of the program will be devoted to Kennedy and his group which will include a female vocalist, instrumental musician and Lee Stewart, singer, dancer and mimic. The program as presented by the visitors promises to be light and appealing with a general musical-comedy type of entertainment.

Kennedy himself is a show business veteran. He played with orchestras while still in high school, directed his own orchestra upon finishing college and then went into radio and television work. He has served as master of ceremonies on radio, television and stage and traveled throughout the northwest to appear on a number of programs.

Discovered Peggy Lee

It was Ken who discovered and named Peggy Lee, one of the country's top girl vocalists. He also named and sent Patty Clark and the Layne Sisters, Shirley Ryan and others on their way up the show business ladder. When not traveling around the area, he is active in Fargo affairs, having served as president of Kiwanis, Jaycees, Park Board, Gavel club and other organizations.

Lee Stewart has been at WDAY in Fargo for the past 10 years. In addition to his talent as a singer, he is a good mimic and dancer. In his routine he does all-sings, dances and gives his impression of various male singers.

Rainfall Stops As Temperatures Range Into 80's

Temperatures finally reached into the 80's again and only a trace of precipitation was recorded during the past several days, according to the report issued by North Central Airlines personnel at the municipal airport.

High and low temperatures for the past several days were 76 and 47 on Thursday, 81 and 52 on Friday, 81 and 53 on Saturday and 84 and 59 on Sunday with a low reading of 43 degrees noted last night.

Forecast calls for fair and cooler today with warming temperatures tonight and cooler tomorrow. Possible thunder showers are predicted for tonight throughout the area. High temperatures today will range from 70 to 75 degrees with lows tonight expected to be between 45 and 50 degrees. Light northwest winds are expected tonight.

Co. Wheat Support Is $2.14 in Pennington

Support price for 1962-crop wheat in Pennington county will remain at $2.14 per bushel, unchanged from the "advance" support price announced earlier this year, Winton Knutson, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today. Price-support rates for wheat stored in terminals are also unchanged. Marshall county support rate will be $2.12.

The chairman explained that legislation requires that the final wheat support rate be determined on the basis of the wheat parity price as of the beginning of the marketing year and of wheat supply relationships of the same date. Currently, wheat supply relationships indicate a support level at 75 per cent of parity.

Since 75 per cent of the July 1962 wheat parity price is less than the previously announced minimum national average support price of $2, the final support price will be the same as the minimum. (The final rate may be higher but not lower than the minimum price.) The $2-per-bushel 1962 support price reflects 82.6 per cent of the July 1962 wheat parity price.

To be eligible for support, wheat must have been produced in 1962 in a commercial wheat-producing area, and it must grade No. 3 or better of No. 4 or 5 on the grading factor of test weight only.

Farmers who planted within their 1962 farm allotment will be able to market their entire production without marketing quota penalty, but they will not be eligible for price support on their 1962 wheat unless they signed up and are participating in the 1962 wheat stabilization program. This provision does not apply to durum wheat producers in designated counties who are participating in the special durum program.

In general, the wheat stabilization program provides for reducing each allotment farm's wheat acreage by at least 10 per cent below the farm allotment established on the basis of a 55-million

Goodridge Lions Hear Phone Head On Area Service

H. W. Peterson Speaks On Extended Area Work at Meeting Wednesday

Extended area service for telephone service from Goodridge to Thief River Falls was discussed at the Goodridge Lions Club meeting last Wednesday evening at the agricultural classroom of the Goodridge school. Speaker was the general manager of the Garden Valley Telephone company, H. W. Peterson.

Many of the factors involved were discussed, including the loss in toll revenue and the additional lines needed for this type of service. The additional cost would probably be from $1.25 or $1.50 per subscriber, but an extensive study would have to be made before this was determined, Peterson said. Even with a continued toll charge, the Garden Valley Telephone company is planning to add additional physical and carrier circuits between Goodridge, Grygla and Thief River Falls.

Peterson emphasized that the company didn't want to see any present subscribers lose their present service because of additional charges for extended area service. A house-to-house survey would have to be made of present subscribers on the matter of extended area service before the plan could go into effect. This would be expensive for Garden Valley ut the company was willing to do this if there is sufficient interest. There would also have to be a hearing before the state railroad and Warehouse commission.

Club members voted to conduct a mail survey of the area to determine the interest in extended area service, in cooperation with the Garden Valley company. Sixty-one people have already signed a statement that they are in favor of this type of additional service.

Christ Clausen, the director for this area from Grygla, suggested that Grygla and Gatzke should also be included in a survey. It is planned for representatives of the Goodridge Lions club to meet with the board of directors of the Garden Valley company at the next meeting at Erskine on August 21.

Mr. and Mrs Leonard Sanvig and boys of Cloquet, visited at the home of Amanda Larson Sunday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Konickson, both families residing in the St. Hilaire community.

Baskets of white peonies banked the altar of the church. Mrs. Paul Sjulson, St. Hilaire, played the Lohengrin processional. "Wedding Prayer" was sung prior to the ceremony by Mrs. Max Jenson, who also sang "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt together at the altar.

Given away by her father, the bride was in a white nylon Chantilly lace-over-taffeta gown which she herself designed and fashioned. The gown featured a bodice which terminated in a point at the back and with a bow in the front, above a full skirt of soft pleats. Her veil was held in place by a wreath of sweetheart roses. The bridal bouquet was an orchid arranged on a white Bible with snapdragons and streamers.

Marian Swenson, St. Hilaire, attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a street-length dress of sky blue, fashioned with a lace panel in the back. Her flowers were a bouquet of yellow and white carnations.

The tapers were lit by the bride's brother, Mark Swenson. All the men in the party wore dark business suits with boutonnieres.

Mothers of the couple both wore beige dresses, with corsages of white and yellow carnations.

A reception, given by the bride's parents, was held in the church parlors after the ceremony, and attended by about 100 guests. A blue and white theme was carried out in the decor, including the 3-tier wedding cake which was baked by an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Ole Berglund. It was trimmed in white roses, and blue turtle doves, with a bridal couple in miniature topping it.

Waitresses were Cheryl Ulrick, Joyce Bowman, and Ann Berget, cousins of the couple. Two aunts of the bride, Mmes. Bonnie Johnson and Axel Bowman, cut the cake. KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. GEORGE WERSTLEIN

Another summer salad favorite is the featured recipe for today. This one is about the speediest we have run across yet. It is a light salad which goes well with a heavier meal, and is really good for any time of year.

LEMON SALAD

1 pkg. lemon-flavored gelatine dessert
1 medium can crushed pineapple, drained
2 pkg. cream cheese (medium-size packages)
1 small pimento, chopped
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup chopped celery
1 cup pineapple juice
1 cup water

Dissolve gelatine dessert in hot pineapple juice. If there isn't enough juice to make a cupful, add hot water to fill the cup. Add 1 cup cold water, or ice cubes, if you want too huury it along.) Stir until ice dissolves. Add cheese and other ingredients, and set in the refrigerator to firm up.

(This can be garnished with salad dressing pressed through a pastry tube, if you want to dress it up for guests. Bits of pimento cut into fancy shapes can also be used as topping with the dressing garnish.)

Mrs. Werstlein, whose late husband was associated with Northern State Bank for many years, is an expert needlewoman, although she would be the last one to admit to this. She also enjoys cooking and entertaining.

The Library Corner

by Tom Lynskey

"Gene Beito of the Carnegie Public Library Board and Miss Shanahan, Librarian, appeared and expressed appreciation for the assistance given in past years. Statistics were presented that reflect an increased usage of the Library facilities. An average of 200 persons a day are using the Library with an increase up to 35 per cent from the rural area and the balance of 65 per cent from the City. In addition the Library has 67 out of County patrons who pay a membership fee. In view of the ever increasing needs and rural usage the Board was asked for an increase in the appropriation from the County. After discussion it was moved by Hanson, seconded by Lindberg, that the sum of $2,000.00 be appropriated to the Carnegie Public Library for Current operations and the sum of $1,000.00 was appropriated to be set aside by the Library Board for future expansion of their facilities. Motion carried." Official Proceedings, Board of County Commissioners, Pennington County, Minnesota, July 9, 1962.

"Victory Over Myself" by Floyd Patterson, with Milton Gross, is one of the most interesting and inspiring books that I have ever read. "Victory Over Myself" is the personal story of the emancipation of Floyd Patterson that will be remembered long after many a new champion has been crowned and dethroned.

Floyd Patterson has come a long way. Unable to read or write at the age of 10, Floyd was more bewildered than belligerent: "I hated laughter because it seemed no matter what I did everybody was always laughing at me. They'd laugh at the dirt on my face and the torn, shabby, oversized shoes I wore, and the way I couldn't read or write or answer a question in school or even talk to somebody when they talked to me. It got so that I wouldn't look anybody in the face or want them to look at me. I'd run and hide. Somehow I was always running and hiding, and I guess that's how I got to like the darkness. There was safety in the darkness for me."

Yes, Floyd Patterson has come a long way. In winning his victory over himself, he has won something even more valuable than the heavyweight championship of the world. Floyd tells what that is in his autobiography. This book is much more than an account of the making of a champion, it is the story of the making of a man.

Fight fans of the community will have to really run to be first in line for this book. "Victory Over Myself" by Floyd Patterson. Read it! I know that you will like it!

ARLENE Christianson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Christianson, will be sponsored by Gully Co-ops in the Miss Aquacade pageant in this city Saturday evening. Holder of a Master's Degree in journalism from the State University of Iowa, Arlene plans a career in public relations. She is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 129 pounds, has brown hair and blue eyes. Her talent act will be impersonations of well-known people and her hobbies include cooking, sewing and the annual fall deer hunt with her father and his hunting party.

Another Finalist

Miss Christianson In Queen Pageant

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

(Seventh in a series of eight personal interviews with candidates for the Miss America Preliminary Pageant to be held Saturday night in connection with the 8th annual Joycees Aquacade.)

When there is a chill on the air, snow begins to fall and the deer hunting season opens, Arlene Christianson forsakes her indoor activities and takes to the woods in quest of the wily whitetail. This Saturday night, however, she will be in quest of the Miss Aquacade title at the Miss America Preliminary Pageant to be held at 8 p. m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium in this city.

Arlene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Christianson of rural Goodridge. Her father's farm is located in Hickory township, Pennington county, about midway between Goodridge and Gully, and she is sponsored by the Gully Co-Ops. She is 23 years of age, five feet six inches tall, weighs 129 pound and has brown hair and blue eyes.

In 1956 she graduated from the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston and then attended North Dakota State University in Fargo. With a bachelor of science degree in home economics and minor in journalism, she graduated from NDSU in 1956. Following journalism pursuits, she attended the State University of Iowa and his spring received her masters degree in journalism. She plans a career in public relations, believing that she is best suited for work for a food company.

School Activities

At the Northwest School Arlene was in triple trio, sextet, band and chorus. She served as editor of the school paper and was a member of the annual staff. Named a member of the National Honor Society, she also served as secretary of the class and graduated as one of the top 10 students scholastically

Equally active at NDSU, she was chairman of the all-college festival, secretary and president of the Associated Women Students, member of Phi Upsilon Omicron (national honorary home economics fraternity), and Kappa Delta Pi (national honorary education fraternity). She served as dietician and publicity chairman for the Lutheran Student association, was a member of the inter-religious council, joined the YWCA and served as a counselor to freshman girls.

While attending the State University of Iowa, she worked for radio station WSUI where she covered the police, courthouse and fire station beat and did rewrite work from the Associated Press wire service. During her first year there, she wrote press releases for the university.

Hunted Deer at 16

Arlene was sweet sixteen when her father permitted her to join the deer hunting party in the Fourtown area where the group has a camp. "I stay at a farm house near the camp. It seems that they like to do their own cooking as part of the hunt. I'm still waiting for that big buck to come bounding out in the open early in the morning, like you read about in magazine stories. So far I have killed two deer, but both were does." She also enjoys plinking with a .22 rifle but has not tried shotgun shooting

In addition to hunting, Arlene is interested in reading good fiction by noted authors, a passtime she has followed since her graduation this spring. She also enjoys cooking and sewing which may be classified as her hobbies. As her talent act for Saturday night's pageant, she plans to do impersonations of well-known people.

The Christianson farm totals about 480 acres and is farmed in partnership by Arlene's father and her uncle Merritt. Arlene has two sisters, Corrine and Corella, 18, who are twins and graduated this spring from Goodridge high school. They will be attending Bemidji State College this fall.

Machine Shop to Open at Red Lake

The first outside industrial project to move into Northern Minnesota to employ Indians will be started soon at Red Lake under a $340,000 Army contract, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey reported this week.

Signing of the contract ended a long effort to allow expansion by a firm which earlier was labeled "too small" to handle important federal production jobs.

The firm is John Edmonds and Sons, a machine ship on Black Duck, Minnesota. Edmonds has been awarded a $340,000 contract by the Army Ordinance Command to produce tail-fin assemblies for 81 mm mortar shells. The work will be handled by a new machine shop Edmonds will open at Red Lake. This unit will recruit local Indians for 14 new jobs.

The biggest job the Edmonds firm ever handled before was worth just $35,000.

Edmonds plans to apply to the Bureau of Indian Affairs for help from the Bureau's retraining program to equip local Indians with the necessary skills for the new machine shop at Red Lake.

Protection Against Big Bills
For protection against big medical and hospital bills, the average American family today spends about $75 a year in insurance premiums. That's a good buy — no question. But here's an even better buy: For only $32 a year, the average family gets all the potent prescription drugs it needs to keep big medical and hospital bills from ever coming up. That's why we say

IT'S AQUACADE TIME AGAIN in Thief River Falls and committees from the local Junior Chamber of Commerce have been working long and hard to assure another successful event. When everything proceeds as scheduled during the three-day event on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, little thought will be given by the public to the amount of volunteer work involved to handle the multitude of details necessary.

For example, take the queen committee alone. In addition to selecting eight candidates for the Miss Aquacade crown, nearly a full-time job in itself, Charles Holmquist and James Koller must arrange the program, secure entertainment for the pagenant program, work closely with the staging and ticket committees, select and arrange for banners for candidates, secure trophies, arrange for judges, make meal arrangements for candidates and judges, secure convertibles for the parade, schedule and make arrangements for Miss Minnesota appearance, plan activities for a Miss Minnesota luncheon and a multitude of other details.

And speaking of candidates for the Miss America preliminary pageant, a fine array of talent and beauty will again be featured this year. It will be difficult for the judges to select one from the eight to represent Thief River Falls in the district Miss Minnesota pageant, but residents of the city may rest assured that their queen will be an outstanding young lady. Four girls will be from Thief River Falls and one each from Gully, Gonvick, Roseau and Stephen.

Preliminary reports indicate that staging and lighting for the pageant will be exceptionally nice this year. The high school auditorium will be used and stage construction and decoration is under the direction of Fred Ballou and Ken Swenson. The event will be held on Friday at 8 p. m. with George Hildre and Bud Evans in charge of ticket sales. General admission is $1 per person with reserved seats being available on advance sale only at $1.75.

Through the efforts of several members of the Thief River Falls Water Sports club, the Aquacade water show will again be a free feature of the event. This will be open to the public on Sunday afternoon at Tindolph park with water ski acts, boat parade and swimming events to be presented in addition to a concert by the Municipal-Legion band. Don't miss the Saturday night and Sunday afternoon programs.

PSALM OF THE NEW FRONTIER (stolen from a medical publication) "The government is my shepherd, I need not work. It allows me to lie down on good jobs; it leadeth me beside still factories; it destroyeth mine initiative. It leadeth me in the paths of a parasite for politics' sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of laziness and deficit spending, I will fear no evil, for the government is with me. It prepareth an economic Utopia for me by appropriating the earnings of my grandchildren. It filleth my head with false security; my inefficiency runneth over. Surely, the government shall care for me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in a fool's paradise for ever."

Object of admiration at the end of an African safari was the head of a huge lion, killed by the wife of the sportsman. "Hit it with the .300 Weatherby Magnum you bought her?" queried a friend. "Not hardly," the sportsman grunted. "With the Chevy station wagon we borrowed."

Sen. Karl Mundt has been quoted as stating, "Capital punishment is when the government taxes you to get capital in order to go into business in competition with you, and then taxes the profits on your business to pay for its losses."

CHILD PSYCHOLOGY

My daughters think it quite a sin
To close a gate and keep them in.
Their manner turns to tones irate
When mommy locks the back yard gate.

I now conclude the trend should be
To subtle child psychology.
The goal accomplished still the same
But saving mommy from the blame.

I'll close the gate when home each day
To keep the youngsters from harm's way,
And then explain, without a doubt,
It's done to keep their mommy out.

Two Men Charged in Gonvick Holdup

One Has Been Returned to Gonvick from St. Paul

Two men charged with first-degree robbery had their preliminary arraignment in St. Paul municipal court continued Friday until today so they could get legal counseling.

The defendants are William Aird 25, and Andrew Buckanaga, neither with any permanent address, who are charged with the holdup July 15 of the Snyder Bros. drugstore in St. Paul and Bill's Dairy store in St. Paul last Monday.

Police said they also are holding a warrant against Aird charging him with a holdup in Gonvick. Willard LaJuanesse, 26, who was arrested with Aird and Buckanaga has been turned over to police at Gonvick in connection with the robbery there which netted about $1,200 at the Red Owl store.

SILVERTON 4-H club for three years has followed a practice which the club has hoped would be adopted by other clubs in the county. Members displaying livestock in the 4-H division have exhibited their animals in the same section of the 4-H barn under a large signboard bearing the club name. Ribbons won by club members are attached to the board at the completion of judging. Eleven members of the club are carrying the dairy project this year and seven of these exhibited at the fair. Left to right the exhibitors include the following: seated, Joan Rupprecht, Emily Nelson, Sandra Nelson and Steven Harder; standing, Leslie Nelson, Judy Rupprecht and Deanna Burtness.

Rotary Club Told of Architectural Drafting Course

Directors Vote To Buy Boat for Park Pool at Session Monday Noon

Members of the Thief River Falls Rotary club heard a brief resume of the architectural drafting course offered by the Thief River Falls and vocational-technical school and toured the drafting dinner meeting held at noon in the department following the Monday Elks club rooms.

J. M. Roche, club president, announced that the board of directors, meeting prior to the general membership session, had authorized the expenditure of $225 for the purchase of a boat to be used at the municipal swimming pool. Discussion of providing adequate facilities at the pool was held at the previous week's session.

Tom O'Gorman, instructor of the drafting course at the vocational school, noted that such courses were made available following a survey made in 1960 by the Minnesota Employment Service. In 1960 only St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth had vocational drafting courses being taught. Since that time, Thief River Falls has been the only school system to adopt the program.

Architectural drafting instruction is provided in two nine-month sections to make an 18-month course, O'Gorman said. During the first nine months they design and draw a house plan which is entirely of their own originality. During the second section they advance to larger buildings and more detailed drawing. Students are expected to provide their own tools and pay a fee of $20 per 9-month section for paper and pencils if they are under 21 years of age. Persons over 21 years of age are accepted on a tuition basis.

To date the course has only had two graduates, both of whom were immediately employed. There is a large demand for qualified draftsmen, the instructor said, and they find work in structural, mechanical, electrical and other departments of engineering firms. In their vocation they work with engineers and provide the detailed drawings for projects which the engineers design.

4-H Gets Seed for the Philippines

Fifteen Pounds Garden Seed Obtained to Date

The Pennington county 4-H council has collected 15 pounds of garden seed for trial in the Philippines. One large shipment of 9 lbs. arrived from the Valley Seed Company of New York. The firm is contracting for millet and sunflower seed in the TRF area and responded with the seed donation after reading of the project in the Thief River Falls Times.

The garden varieties donated by county families will be tried in the Philippines by the underprivileged under the supervision of missionaries. Some varieties may prove adaptable and provide food, others will have to be discarded because of climatic differences or other variable characteristics.

The project was embarked in by the council in response to requests by missionaries reported in the National 4-H News. It is designed to help the people to help themselves rather than to ship commodities.

Anyone wishing to contribute left over garden seeds may still do so by contacting the county extension office.

Silverton 4H Groups Livestock at Fair

"We've done it for three years now and hoped the other clubs would follow along, but so far they haven't done it." This was the statement made by Lloyd Nelson, adult leader of the Silverton 4-H club, in regard to the grouping of all animals shown by dairy project members in one place at the Pennington county fair.

This year seven of the 11 club members enrolled in the project had cattle on display at the fair. The 15 animals entered rated nine blue, four red and two white ribbons. With all animals stabled under a large club sign in the 4-H barn, they made an impressive display of club activity in the project.

Heading the group exhibiting this year from the standpoint of experience was Leslie Nelson. He has been a club member for 10 years, won two state fair trips on his dairy animals and received two red ribbons at the Minnesota state fair. Deanna Burtness, a veteran of five years of club work, showed the grand champion dairy animal here in 1959 and also has two red ribbons from the state exposition.

Emily Nelson, who also has shown dairy animals for five years, won one state fair trip and received a red ribbon there. Others showing cattle this year and years of club membership include Steven Harder, three years; Sandra Nelson, five years; Judy Rupprecht, six years; Joan, Deanna and Judy are all junior leaders in the club.

Junior and adult leaders in the club believe that the club grouping of animals shown stimulates interest in the dairy project and encourages exhibitors as club members to do a better job of keeping the exhibit clean and neat. Perhaps the club grouping can be done on a competitive basis in future years.

Plitt Surveys Contract Acreage

George Plitt, president of Valley Feed and Supply company of Spring Valley, N. Y., spent the weekend in the area to view the crop situation and make final arrangements for the processing plant to be located here.

Valley Feed and Supply is the firm which contracted with farmers this spring for acreage of sunflowers and millet which were to be processed for bird seed at a plant to be located in the building purchased from Farmers Co-Op Grain and Seed company. Plitt told the Times that about 20 per cent of the sunflowers contracted had been planted and about 50 per cent of the millet acreage agreed upon was also seeded.

No change in plans for the processing plant are anticipated as a result of adverse weather conditions which severely reduced crop prospects in the area. "We still have enough faith in the area to believe that the crops can be adequately produced in future years," the company president said. He added that some grain will probably be shipped to this city "initially" for processing at the plant.

The conservation department warden service reported today that there were 262 violations of the state fishing laws during the month of May.

There were a total of 321 arrests made during May for all game and fish law violations, the report said.

Nancy Newton Writes of Maryland Visit as Exchange Delegate

Nancy Newton of the Smiley 4-H club, who represented Pennington county as an exchange delegate from Minnesota to the state of Maryland in June, gives Times readers some of her impressions of her sojourn in the following article.

Maryland, My Maryland

When I first heard that I was chosen as one of the thirty-one Minnesota Delegates who would go to Maryland, I had mixed emotions. Mostly it was joy and gladness, since I'd never dreamed I'd have any chance of going.

My trip began on June 18 when I left for St. Paul with Miss Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent, and five other 4-H'ers who were to attend the junior leadership conference. On June 20, after moving over to Bailey Hall on the St. Paul Campus of the University of Minnesota, we got down to business. For the next day and a half we had continuous meetings designed to prepare us for our stay in Maryland. It was just like training for the Peace Corps, only much shorter.

After lunch Leonard Harkness greeted us and told us of our purpose on this trip: to exchange ideas and knowledge between Minnesota and Maryland. Mr. Harkness called on Kay Schwartz and Roger Sonnenberg, two fellow delegates, to tell what they had learned about Maryland.

The one thing I shall always remember about our orientation was the banquet Thursday night, June 21. It was given by the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce for the Junior Leadership Conference delegates. At this banquet we received our send-off. As we left everyone gave us a standing ovation. Each of us felt then that we would do our utmost to represent Minnesota the best way possible.

On Friday morning, June 25, we boarded our chartered Greyhound bus. We were finally on our way. The trip to Maryland took 2½ days with overnight stops in Chicago and Pittsburgh. Our host families met us at four different places along our route. I got off at the last stop, the National 4-H Center in Washington D. C., since my family lived only 20 miles from there.

While in Maryland I stayed with Mr. and Mrs. George Schaeffer and their three children—Becky, 16; Betty Lou, 13; and Bary, 4. They live on a 100 acre dairy farm and milk 35 Holstein and Guernsey cows. Mr. Schaeffer rents quite a bit of land for hay and pasture. He also owns another farm in partnership where about 30 cows are milked. They live in what almost could be called a suburban area as there are housing developments going up all around them. As you know, in our part of the country the barn and house are located quite close together. But in Maryland the barn is usually a half-mile or more from the house. So the Schaeffer house is located just about in the town of Germantown which is a little larger than Goodridge. Gaithersburg, a city two miles away has a population of 15,000.

I spent one week with my host family (June 24-July 1) and what a hectic one. They say Marylanders work hard during the day and really live at night. Believe me, it's true. We could be racing around all day working in the hayfield or visiting another farm, but at night there was always a picnic or meeting going on. And not because of me, it was like this all the time, but I enjoyed it tremendously.

4-H in Maryland is really quite different. They have separate boys' clubs and girls' clubs. But girls can belong to boys' clubs and vice versa. Becky, my host sister, belonged to a boys' club because she raised baby beef steers. There were actually almost as many girls as boys in Becky's club. The girls preferred calling their club the Beef Club rather than a boys' club.

My week in Maryland was so packed with activity that I'll only tell about some of the more important happenings. I arrived in time for supper Sunday evening. I walked in the door and here were all these people waiting to greet me. The relatives had wanted to see me and find out about Minnesota too.

We sat down to a meal of southern fried chicken and iced tea. Iced tea was the one thing we had at every meal. For living on dairy farms the people didn't seem to care too much for milk. The next day I toured the county court house, city hall, health dept., and the police dept. in Rockville, a nearby town. I learned that Montgomery County, the county I stayed in, is the richest county in the United States and also has the most policemen.

The next day we went out to "make hay". They would correct me when I called it haying. They were making hay. I said the hay was already made, but we never quite agreed on this issue.

On Tuesday Becky and I went to baby-beef judging. The kids meet once a week until fair time to practice judging. This was one thing I had never done before. They insisted I try it, so I did, but when it came time to hand in our score cards I kept mine. I later found out that I had gotten pretty close on some of them.

Thursday night my family gave a party for me. We invited Becky's friends plus the other two Minnesota delegates in Montgomery County and their hosts. During the evening I showed the slides I had brought with me and told them something about Minnesota. Then their assistant county agent, Bob Raven, showed slides on the trip to England a dairy judging team from Maryland had won.

Across the road from us lived a Mrs. Marge Mahy who was raised in southern Minnesota. She hadn't seen anyone from Minnesota for a long time so she took my host sisters and me out to lunch. We went up to Sugarloaf Mountain, a small mountain nearby. The scenery was beyond words. She then took us to lunch at the Comus Inn, a restaurant modeled after a New England style house, which was located at the foot of Sugarloaf Mountain.

On Sunday afternoon the hardest part of the whole trip came. That of saying good-bye to a family I had come to love as my own. Now I would go to Washington D. C. and stay at the National 4-H Center for one week. I will tell about my stay here in next week's paper.

acre-minimum national allotment, and shifting the diverted acreage into a conservation use. Payments are made to program participants for this diversion, as well as for additional voluntary reductions in wheat acreage. Special provisions are in effect for small farms.

The special durum program was authorized by legislation last summer to encourage increased production of durum wheat, which was in short supply. A producer who chose to take part in this special durum program rather than the wheat stabilization program was granted a "new 1962 allotment" equal to the 1962 wheat allotment plus 40 per cent of his 1960-61 average plantings of durum. In order to be eligible for price support under this program, generally, the producer must increase his acreage of durum above the 1960-61 average but not exceed the "new 1962 allotment."

Durum wheat premiums under the 1962 price-support program are 10 cents for ordinary durum, 25 cents per bushel for amber durum, and 40 cents per bushel for hard amber durum.

MEMBERS of the Thief River Falls American Legion Auxiliary sextette which returned Sunday after capturing first place in the music competition at the State Convention held in Duluth are pictured above. Left to right are Mrs. Frank Harger, accompanist, Mrs. LeRoy Nabben, Mrs. Jarvis Prichard, Mrs. Walter Halvorson, Mrs. Melvin Ernst, Mrs. Vernon Winters and Mrs. Norman Peterson. The group won the Blue Earth traveling trophy and a cash award. Duluth West won the chorus, trio and quartet competition with the Junior Auxiliary Chorus from Hugo winning first place in that division. Also attending from Thief River Falls were Mrs. Chester Swanson, local auxiliary president, and Mrs. Harold M. Johnson, member of the state finance committee. Mrs. Phillip Adams of White Bear Lake was elected department president with Mrs. William Mitchel of Tracy named first vice president and Mrs. Si Liverman of Chaska elected second vice president. Minneapolis was chosen as the site for next year's convention.

CROWDS of shoppers milled about the streets Friday and Saturday in Thief River Falls as merchants staged their annual Crazy Days promotion. As usual, the sidewalk sale provided carnival atmosphere and proved the most attractive to bargain hunters who walked, and looked and found many quality items at ridiculously low prices. While most shoppers searched for something they could use at Bjorkman's Clothing sidewalk sale, the young lady in the forground apparently was undecided as to where she should go next.

Queen Finalists

Eight finalists for the title of Miss Aquacade and the opportunity to represent Thief River Falls in district Miss Minnesota competition will compete for the coveted crown now worn by Susanne Pitblado of Roseau. Susanne, who was talent division winner at the Miss Minnesota pageant, will crown the new queen this year.

Contestants for the Miss Aquacade title will be featured in the pageant as they compete in swimsuit, evening gown and talent finals. Winners will be selected in each division and presented with engraved plaques. She will play "Harlem Nocturne" and "Hubcaps and Tail Lights" as her saxophone talent number. Considered "a natural" for the role of Miss Minnesota, Judith has a 35-21-35 figure, naturally curly hair, is 5' 6" tall and weighs 114 pounds. She graduated magna cum laude from Augsburg college the day after receiving her Miss Minnesota crown.

Special lighting and staging for the pageant is nearing completion and promises to be a striking addition to the pageant background. Talent performances by the eight queen candidates will be varied and interesting. Candidates include the following:

Students Reach Halfway Point On Canoe Trip

More than half of a canoe trip from Kenora to Hudson Bay and back again has been completed by four college students, including two boys from Thief River Falls. The quartet left Kenora in two canoes on June 19 and reached York Factory on Hudson Bay last Tuesday. At one stage of the trip they made more than 150 miles in two days of paddling.

The trip to York Factory was made along the shore of Lake Winnipeg and the return trip will be on the Nelson river. James Terrian and Jerry Wedul of Thief River Falls, Darby Nelson of International Falls and Bill Hosfield of Mound expect to complete the trip about August 20. Local families of the two boys visited with them Saturday by micro-wave telephone and were notified of the progress being made.

Miss Fern Barnett and Mrs. Pat Griffin of Moorhead left Monday after spending the weekend visiting with Miss Georgia Frissell, Mrs. A. Engen, and Mrs. Albert LaFrenz. Miss Barnett also attended the reunion of her Lincoln high school graduating class.

Fergus Repeats in Legion Event

Scoring unearned runs in clusters, coach Ted Olson's Fergus Falls juniors made a successful defense of their district title by edging out Fertile, 9-8, on Friday night in the finals of the American Legion's Ninth district junior baseball tournament played here.

The game, which was one rally and counter-rally, found Fergus Falls moving into the scoring column with two unearned runs in the top half of the second inning. Fertile's Rod Olson, who had pitched coach Dick Wedahl's club to a 7-4 win over Moorhead on Thursday afternoon, started on the mound in Friday's championship tilt. Olson struck out the side in the first, but in the second, after giving up a ground single to Barry Johnson, striking out Bob Ilegstad, and being tagged for a double by burly Dick Werner, he was taken out. Third baseman Paul Sannes came on in relief, and he whiffed Steve LeGrand for the second out. Lyman Theodorson bounced a grounder to third base, and on Olson's high throw to first, which caromed off the fence into right field, two Fergus Falls runs scored.

Fertile, in the bottom half of the second, came back with a pair of runs on singles by Dale Erickson, Gary Guulekson, Bob Gullickson, a hit batsman, and a walk.

In the fourth, Fergus Falls added three runs on three errors, a walk, a single, and a double. Fertile moved back into contention in the fifth when, with one out and the singling Sannes on first base, Olson poled a home run over the left-field fence.

The defending champions erupted for four runs in the sixth inning by putting together three walks and infield out and a line-drive three-run home run by Werner, to take a 9 to 4 lead.

The never-say-die Fertile club (and, incidentally, the Fertile team was awarded the tournament's sportsmaship trophy) rallied for four runs in the last half of the sixth, driving Fergus Falls' well-publicized righthander, Barry Johnson, off the mound. Gullickson opened with a single to right field. Jim Omlid followed with a single, Norm Jacobson whiffed, Ron Newell singled to score a pair of runs, and Sannes was nicked by a pitched ball. Olson singled through the mound, scoring Newell and coach Olson then called on relief duty from righthander Don Gamber who doffed the catching togs to take up the pitching chore. Erickson greeted Gamber with a single, scoring Sannes, and Fertile trailed by one. Gullekson grounded to shortstop, and on Johnson's throw to the plate Olson was called out. And Gullekson, attempting a delayed steal of second, was out, pitcher to second base to retire the side.

In the seventh, Fergus Falls was set down in order; and Fertile after getting a man on base on an error with one out, failed to move the runner around, with Gamber striking out Omlid and getting Jacobson to ground out, short to first for the game-ending out.

Two 2-hit Games in Legion Event

Two-hit pitching performances by Rod Olson of Fertile and Don Gamber of Fergus Falls featured the play in the first-round of the American Legion's Ninth district junior baseball playoffs here Thursday. Olson's pitching, and the three-for-three hitting of Paul Sannes, led coach Dick Werdahl's Fertile club to a 7-4 win over Moorhead. And Gamber's two-hitter, and fourteen strikeouts, sparked the defending district champion Fergus Falls juniors to a 7-1 win over the East Grand Forks juniors.

In the opening game on Thursday's program, Fertile's Olson limited Moorhead to but two hits, a single by Keith Geiszler in the fourth, and a double by John Savre in the fifth. And except for the fifth inning, when he issued four walks and hit one batsman, Olson was in control of the game. The three-run rally by Moorhead in the fifth pared the Fertil lead to two runs, 6-4, but Fertile picked up a tally in the last half of the fifth. Olson set down Moorhead in order in the sixth and seventh innings.

Fergus Falls, behind Don Gamber's steady pitching, had a comparatively easy time in defeating the East Grand Forks juniors, 7-1. The East Siders were handicapped considerably by the absence of Dennis Adair who was ill and Louis Lopex who was declared ineligible because of his lack of a valid birth certificate.

East Grand Forks averted a shutout by scoring a run in the sixth inning. Charles Clausen walked, advanced to second on a passed ball, and moved to third on Ray Gibbons' infield out. Ken Wavra walked, and on a double steal Wavra gained second and Clausen scored.

Thieves Defeated by Erskine Sunday 7-3

The senior baseball Thieves are still looking for the victory that will insure a berth in the Norman-Polk league playoffs. Playing at Erskine on Sunday night, manager Joey Poole's club dropped a 7-3 decision to the Erskine Merchants. The locals have a pair of postponed games to play, with the Crookston Pirates and the Ada Athletics, and it is expected that playing dates for these games will be set at tonight's league meeting at Fertile.

In Sunday night's game, the Thieves moved into a 1-0 lead in the second inning on an infield single by Les Olson, a stolen base, and a ground single into right field by Buzz Ward.

And the locals added a run in the top of the third when Pat Poole drew a walk, advanced to second on Harlie Drees' infield safety, moved to third on Marv Lundin's sacrifice, and scored on Joey Poole's fly ball to left field.

Erskine, in the third, taking advantage of four bases on balls, a single by Mark Parenteau, and an infield out, scored two runs to knot the game. And in the fourth, manager Al Carlson's club scored three runs and regained control of the game. Righthander Harlie Drees, who had started on the mound for the Thieves, pitched two thirds of the fourth inning, giving up two hits and a walk and two runs before lefty Freddy Jensen came on in relief.

Jensen pitched creditable ball for the Thieves in spite of his back "miseries". The southpaw was touched for a pair of infield hits and a double in the seventh, adding two runs to the Erskine total.

Doug Donley, a southpaw, went the route for the Merchants, and except for the second inning, when the Thieves bunched three hits, he scattered the base hits. The seven hits that he gave up to the locals did not include an extra-base blow.

Hartz Stores vs Hamm's Beer

In the week's feature game in city softball league competition last week, the Vets, with Wally Grovum tossing a two-hitters, defeated the Hartz Stores team, 7-2. The win boosted the Vets into a two-way tie, with the Hartz Club, for the league lead.

The 1962 schedule will be concluded on Thursday, August 9, folowing which a four-team playoff will be held to decide the city softbal championship.

Another highlight of last week's softball play was the victory of the Thief River Grain, by a 10-4 score, over the Holsum Bread. It marked the first win of the season for the youthful Thief River Grain squad.

And in another important game, the Bridgeman's trounced the Hamm's Beer, 14 to 4. The win insured a playoff berth for the Bridgeman's, but the Hamm's Beer, with four losses, need a win in one of their remaining two games to clinch a playoff spot. This week's slate will find the Hamm's meeting the Hartz team on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shetler and family left Sunday for a two-week outing to the Lac Laronge area in Saskatchewan, Canda. They hope to return with a hugh lake trout as they have done in past years. This part of Canada is justly famous for its fabulous fishing, a fact that Shetlers can attest to.

Gopher baseball coach Dick Siebert, for the second successive year, will bring his Wheaties baseball school to this community when, on Tuesday, July 31, the clinic will be at the Fair Grounds diamond here.

The instructional clinic began its tour on June 11 and will conclude its forty-community schedule on August 3 at Glencoe.

Siebert will be assisted by Hal Younghans, baseball coach at Minneapolis Henry, and Tom Warner, St. Paul Cretin high school coach.

Siebert, who was a major leaguer with the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics, will be working with the infielders. Younghans will be handling the catchers and pitchers, while Warner will instruct the outfielders.

This season the boys attending the clinic will be divided into two age groups. The morning sessions will be devoted to those in the 9-12 age bracket, while the afternoon class will be spent with the boys 13 years of age and older. The boys are only required to bring their own baseball gloves, while uniforms and other equipment are optional.

In case of rain on Tuesday, Ralph Skay, who is in charge of the preliminary arrangements here, has announced that the clinic will be held in the Arena.

Encouraging

An encouraging item out of the double-A Texas league states that 'Corky Johnson owned a no-hitter for six and one-third innings, July 11, in pitching the league-leading El Paso team to a 4 to 2 win over Tulsa. Johnny Lewis' double with one gone in the seventh broke up the no-hit bid, and then the Oilers combined two more safeties with a pair of errors for their runs in the eighth Johnson struck out 11 while walking just one."

It is the last sentence that is encouraging to the followers of the career of the former pitcher for the Bemidji high school and Erskine Merchants baseball teams. Corky, during his years of pitching in this area, was plagued by streaks of wildness, and if he gains control, and it appears that his control is improving, he may gain a major league berth

Like, Wow!

In an exhibition game played at Montreal on Thursday night, the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, champions of Canadian professional football, were humbled by the Montreal Alouettes, 53 to 0. It was one of the most one-sided defeats handed a western club by an eastern team.

The report that coach Bud Grant's Winnipeg club was subjected to such a beating must give some pleasure to Minnesota coach Murry Warmath, for playing a strong role in the Larks' winn was quarterback Sandy Stephens.

Stephens played throughout the first half, leading the Als to a pair of second-quarter touchdowns. And he remained in the game to start the third period and turn in the game's most spectacular play when, on an option run, he put on a dazzling exhibition of open-field running to carry the ball to the Bomber's five-yard line, where he tossed a lateral pass that carried for a touchdown.

And speaking of football, don't forget that the Minnesota Vikings and the Dallas Cowboys, of the National Football league, will be playing a controlled scrimmage game on the Bemidji State College field at Bemidji on Saturday, August 4, at 7:30 p. m. That is a band show, with Bill Bond's 70-piece Grand Forks band performing at the festivities at 7:30 p. m. At 7:45 p. m. coach Norm Van Brocklin and his Minnesota Viking staff will stage another of their "Learn Pro Football" clinics. The scrimmage will start at 8:30 p. m.

Tickets for the clinic and the game are priced at $2.50, and Harry Fritz, director of athletics at Bemidji State college, announced that a supply of tickets will be available here this week.

Agassiz Refuge Feeds Waterfowl

Grain Feeding Program to Continue, Says Dill

The grain-feeding program for waterfowl, which was initiated at the Agassiz national wildlife refuge last year, will continue this year, Herb Dill, refuge manager, stated, adding that last year's feeding program was considered a success in that it held ducks on the refuge during the harvest season.

Dill stated that surplus grain has again been requested from ASC. The grain will be fed on specially prepared sites on the refuge which have been graveled to permit using them in case of wet weather.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife service will cooperate with the Minnesota department of conservation on this program. State refuges at Thief Lake and Roseau River are conducting similar programs.

Dill added that anyone seeing ducks feeding in grain fields off the refuge during the harvest season is requested to report the matter promptly to him at Agassiz refuge, or to the Minnesota department of Conservation at Thief Lake or Roseau.

Kathy Hartje Writes Of Touring in Greece

Editor's Note: Kathy Hartje, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hartje of Thief River Falls, is visiting in Greece this summer as an American Field Service exchange student. Excerpts taken from her last two letters to her parents tell of some of her many activities in that country and are as follows:

When I come home I will have learned much of the way of life of the Greek people. By then I will have a better perspective of them in every way. For now, I will tell you of some of the things I have seen from day to day.

I saw the Acropolis! As we were driving into Athens from the airport, we saw, high on a hill, the beautiful white columns which somehow looked very familiar. All of a sudden the thought came, "Why, that's the Parthenon". At the end of my stay in Greece, we will visit the Acropolis, the Delphic Oracle, the temples of Reus and Neptune, and other places famous from ancient times.

Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Koronzi Rizien, and I started on a three-day trip. We went to Tripoli, Argos, and Corinth, with Epidavros as our final destination. This is across the Peloponnesus on the eastern side. Epidavros is one of the oldest theatres in Greece. I have been hearing about it ever since I left Minneapolis.

We drove toward Pyrgoas and ancient Olympia. We did not stop here, but I could see the ruins through the bus windows. All afternoon we traveled, mostly through mountainous country. They frequently stopped the bus so that I could take pictures. We stopped that evening in Tripolis, where we stayed overnight. Tripolis gained fame during the Revolution early in the nineteenth century. It lies near the center of the Peloponnesus, and since the Turks held this most strategic town, the Greeks sacrificed many lives to capture it for their cause.

Shortly after noon the next day we reached Nauplia. This was the first capitol of Greece after the Revolution. We drove to the beach and went for a swim. For a girl from Minnesota, this warm, clear water is quite a treat. I must mention here that the bus we were on was filled with people all going on the special excursion to Epidavros. After our swim we went back to Nauplia. High, overlooking Nauplia and the sea there is the huge fortress of Palamidi, which dates back to the Venetian conquest of Greece, more than a thousand years ago. Leading up to the castle are one thousand steps, carved out of the face of the cliff. In our tour we, of course, included the dungeons, where the guide told gory tales of the deaths by torture of prisoners. The Greeks have many national heroes, some of whom had been imprisoned in these dungeons.

In the late afternoon, we went on to Epidavros which is a short distance away. As we drew nearer, the traffic became extremely heavy, with traffic policemen every kilometer. People were coming by every mode of transportation. We learned later that 12,000 people attended, 7,000 of whom were foreigners. Each year they have festivals and stage the ancient Greek dramas in the original style. The one we saw was one of Euripides most famous tragedies, "The Bacchae," which in short has to do with the worshippers of the Greek god, Dionysus. It was magnificent; two of the greatest actors of Greece were there to give wonderful performances. We watched from the same stone benches used by the ancient Greeks thousands of years ago. After the performance we drove back to a seaside restaurant for our evening meal.

The next morning on our way home we toured Mycenae, where the palace of Agamemnon is located and which has recently been discovered and where they are still excavating We saw the tombs of Agamemnon, leader in the Trojan War, and Clytemnestra, his unfaithful wife, by whom he was killed upon his return from a victory over Troy.

We then drove on to Corinth. When Greece was at its peak, Corinth was a very great city, a city of riches. Here we visited a museum before returning to Amallos.

My stay in Amalios has almost come to a close as I leave for Salonika the 22nd. It makes me sad to leave my family here. I think they know that I have had a good, happy time here. However, I am looking forward to seeing Salonika — everyone I meet sings its praises to me — and especially to seeing my new sister, Demetra, with whom I have exchanged quite a few letters. Salonika is the second largest city in Greece. I will be there about four weeks so I am sure I have much left to see and do. I will write again soon after I reach my new home.

The member parade of approximately 300 4-H club members preceded the dress revue and share-the-fun acts.

Life Insurance Firms Make Many Minnesota Loans

Minnesota property owners had $708,550,000 of their mortgage financing needs extended to them by the life insurance companies of the country at the start of this year, the Institute of Life Insurance reports. These real estate loans covered 51,800 individual mortgages.

"During the past decade of record construction, especially in the housing field, mortgage debt in this country has almost tripled," the Institute commented. "The life insurance dollars of the nation's 120,000,000 legal reserve life insurance policy-holders have played an important role in providing the necessary financing for this gigantic construction job. The life insurance funds at work in this channel have increased $21,254,000,000 in the decade. During 1961, alone, new mortgage financing extended by the life companies to property owners totaled $6,785,000,000."

Of the total mortgages outstanding in Minnesota with the life companies at the start of this year, 13,520 for $155,884,000 were on farms; 10,350 for $125,537,000 were on non-farm FHA insured homes; 12,290 for $107,123,000 were on non-farm properties under guarantee by the Veterans Administration; and 15,640 for $320,006,0-000 were on other non-farm properties.

"Where there is much desire to learn, there of necessity will be much arguing, much writing, many opinions; for opinion in good men is but knowledge in the making."

John Milton

Canadian Austerity

In Canada the government has ordered indefinite deferment of pay increases for 50,000 federal employees until the "present emergency" is over. That makes sense. Canada is in financial difficulty and is taking steps to strengthen its economy. The program of austerity follows generally the plans that worked successfully in Europe where good management and sound policies have resulted in increased employment and general prosperity.

The 50,000 federal employees whose wages are frozen at the present level for the time being are not happy with the order. They feel that they are being discriminated against, and that such a limitation should apply to all, and that is right, of course, to whatever extent it is possible.

It is encouraging to know, however, that the actions taken by the Canadian government ,which were not adopted for their popular appeal, are already bringing good results. The Wall Street Journal reports that confidence has been restored in the Canadian dollar in world markets and that there is a noticeable increase in the flow of foreign capital into Canada, reversing a trend that had been the cause of considerable alarm.

It is good to know that there still is good government north of the border.

Vested Rights

The right of growers to produce on an allotment basis is not easily justified in a free country. Ray Cromley, in a NFA report, tells us that in some places in the United States a piece of land without a tobacco allotment may be worth $300. With the allotment the land may be worth $2,000. In these allocations of growing rights the federal government has granted vested rights to some fortunate producers and denies the right to other growers to compete with their favored neighbor. There is something basically wrong with that kind of an arrangement in a free country.

The Department of Agriculture is advocating more of this sort of thing. Secretary Freeman would establish a base, for instance, for the production of such things as turkeys and potatoes. The right to grow potatoes or turkeys would be limited to those who are now growing them. And their right to grow these crops in volume would be limited to their past production records.

In general terms, the turkey grower who has grown 1,000 turkeys a year would have that 1,000 figure established as a base for future production. And the grower who has a production record of 200,000 turkeys a year would be given an allotment based on that figure.

The big producer would be given a permanent franchise and the right to continue his quantity production. The small producer would be forced to continue small. That just doesn't sound like America.

In a recent referendum on production controls to be administered by the government, the turkey growers voted against them in spite of the fact that the smaller growers were not permitted to participate. This is a matter in which the growers of small and medium sized flocks should be seriously interested.

Not Our Problem

It seems that our country is getting more involved in the Congo problem. Acting Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations, favors military action to force the province of Katanga to become a part of a vast Congo nation. Our country and Britain oppose Katanga secession but hope to bring about the big nation unity by economic pressure.

Our guess is that what happens in the Congo at this time isn't any of our business, and that if the rich province of Katanga wants to become an independent state we have no right to interfere. Katanga is a large, mineral-rich area that has nothing in common with the jungle provinces that stretch out along the Congo river. There is no common language and there are no common interests. The river provinces have a great potential. The possibilities for development are enormous. Let those areas develop their own resources.

The only thing that united the Belgian Congo was the Belgian government, which brought together a vast colonial empire, made up of many African tribes. But they were never one nation, and real unity would be impossible at this time.

Let's let them settle their own affairs this time. We have nothing to lose by keeping our nose out of their business. Minding our own business would be a novel experience.

Clasroom Shortage

At study conducted by the Ford Foundation on classroom shortages in our colleges reveals that "the typical institution could increase its enrollment by 50 per cent without putting up a single new classroom or laboratory if it used its space more economically," according to the New York Times. The average classroom in the sixty Midwestern schools studied is used 17.6 hours a week; the average laboratory only 10.8 hours a week. The report is further quoted as saying:

"There will always be colleges which place a high value on low pupil-teacher ratios and small classes. But these institutions should have a clear understanding of what these luxuries cost, who pays for them and what they have to do without as a result."

The Ford Foundation no doubt is a more reliable source of information on any subject, on which it conducts a study and makes a report, than would be the groups that have a selfish interest in the problem. Those who speak for education too often are influenced by what is in the best interests of the educators. More classrooms and smaller classes mean increased demand for instructors, helping to maintain a teacher shortage.

Here in Minnesota the legislature is being pressured for huge appropriations for classroom construction. Before any appropriations are authorized the legislature should conduct its own independent survey of what the needs actually are. We are sure there is no emergency that would not permit a two-year study.

Junior Colleges

Dr. C. V. Newsom, former president of New York University, returned to his old campus recently to discuss "The University of the Future." Many changes are in the makng, he predicted, including a steadily increasing importance of the junior college. On this point he stated:

"In the organization of our total system of higher education in this nation, it seems clear to me that we are on the verge of certain major adjustments of considerable consequences. For instance, the dominant post-secondary program will become the two-year curriculum. This means that the most important post-secondary institution will be the two-year college, now frequently known as a junior college or community college. I have predicted this development for the last three decades.

"It is quite conceivable, in fact, that the Robert M. Hutchins idea of awarding the Bachelor's degree at the end of the two-year program will become standard practice. Many universities, both public and private, will discard the traditional freshman and sophomore years, and will only admit students who have graduated from two-year colleges. Some universities, on the other hand, at least temporarily, will create their own essentially autonomous two-year college units."

Dr. Newsom believes the schools of higher education of the future will be less formal and less rigid and agrees that many advanced courses, which will cater only to the most talented students, will be conducted through television, tape, film, records and reading programs.

He concludes:

"Obviously the future is not fixed; many variables exist that can modify even the most carefully considered projections of social, economic, and political movements. But, even so, educators must stop from time to time, especially now, to try to see where they are, where they want to go, and where they seem to be going."

Both at Fault

(Red Lake Falls Gazette)

After several months of trial, the new penalty program for airline no-shows, has been a bust. The airlines have billed a number of persons for not keeping their reservations or notifying the lines of their cancellations but the collection rate has been minute and the lines are not going to press their claims.

Perhaps the only solution to the problem in which both the public and airplanes have been at fault is better education. The airline industry is somewhat unique—it has a limited number of seats at fairly high prices and both the public and airlines undoubtedly want to maintain a reservation system. But when the public disregards the system and the airlines oversell reservations for a flight both are at fault.

Control Executive Power

(Illinois State Journal)

Former President Eisenhower, in his mild but wise way, has gone to the heart of the domestic issue of our times.

In a press conference he said that it is his judgment that the real threat to liberty in this republic will not come from any sudden, calculated onslaught, but rather, will be found primarily in the "steady erosion of self-reliant citizenship, and in excessive power concentration, resulting from lodging more and more decisions in an ever-growing federal bureaucracy."

To Mr. Eisenhower the problem of the presidency is not the inadequacy of power but how "to use the already enormous power—judiciously, temperately and wisely."

Mr. Kennedy brings to the presidency a conviction of the need for an expansion of its powers. He brought down the naked power of a vast federal bureaucracy on the steel industry, by police and economic coercion, to a point that many of those who had been friendly toward him . . . even some of the liberal magazines, recoiled.

This was not wisdom but force. The fear of such unchecked force was seen in the stock market drop.

It is easy to convert a desire for power into the allure of social benefit, and thus cast any opposition in the role of being against progress. As the President seeks to loosen the ties that bind the presidency to the Constitution, the composition of Congress becomes more and more important. Some measures are being turned back; the big battles lie ahead.

The Republicans are right in fighting this drive toward executive power, as the fundamental issue . . .

Mental Health Committee Report

Last October I asked Federal District Judge Edward J. Devitt to be chairman of a mental health survey committee. The purpose was to evaluate the present Minnesota program against all we now know about the cause, prevention and treatment of mental illness, and to chart a course for the future

Together, Judge Devitt and I recruited a committee of 20, including doctors, psychiatrists, clergymen, psychologists, legislators, pharmacologists, housewives, businessmen—all of whom have worked hard and cooperatively since then. This week the committee submitted its report. It is a unanimous report. It is an excellent report constructive and helpful. It can be a blueprint for action in the months and years ahead. I am in accord with its findings and suggestions.

It recognized that since 1949 when Gov. Youngdahl so effectively aroused the people to action, a good deal of progress had been made. It emphasizes that much remains to be done and that we should do it. The goal is to provide for every person in the state adequate community services, to maintain our state hospitals as top notch active treatment centers, and to include in the overall program full provision for post illness care and guidance.

Even the briefest summary would be too long for this space but it is clear that more should be invested in research, that we should seek accreditation for every hospital (one is accredited and one on probation now) and then develop a broad personnel training program to develop the people we need to adequately staff our state hospitals. We need ten more community mental health centers to add to the 16 now in operation. I am proud to have sponsored the bill in the Senate that launched these local service facilities. We need to invest more so that living conditions in the hospitals will be improved and so that every patient will be on active treatment.

If you would like to have a copy of the report I will be glad to send one — and will fill requests so long as that rather limited supply lasts.

If any group or organization of which you are a member would like a speaker to review the report I would suggest a request to Judge Devitt, Federal Courts Building, Minneapolis. If he cannot come he will arrange for a member of the committee to come.

It is imperative that we renew broad public interest and support of our mental helath program so the new children's center at Lino Lakes and other parts of the effort will have the attention they deserve from the 1963 session of the legislature.

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862—the same year that

IN MINNESOTA, on June 16, the first of the famous Fisk expeditions left St. Paul for the Montana gold diggings. But whether they found gold or just plain dust, Minnesota's early pioneers knew that refreshment could be found in a glass of beer.

For then as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation—light, sparkling refreshment that adds a touch of hospitality to any occasion. Minnesotans have always enjoyed the good fellowship that goes with every glass.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

PLEASE, FRIENDS

In an attempt to provide our readers with the most prompt social news coverage possible, the Times respectfully requests the cooperation of news sources in reporting news events immediately upon their occurence. This includes reports on weddings, engagements and meetings of organizations.

We have been gratified in the past by the many people who have made special attempts to supply us with their news stories early. The recurring problem, however, of having social functions reported more than a month after their taking place, is still with us.

Since news value of events decreases with the passage of time, we are thereby forced to decrease the space devoted to such items accordingly. Persons desiring to have their items reported in full are asked to please heed this notice and report them as soon as the event occurs.

Your cooperation in this matter will be of great assistance to us in serving our many readers to the best of our ability. If we can be of assistance in preparing such items please call our society desk. We are here to help you.

"Painting Is In The Blood"

Mrs. Bert Thorstad Has Active Interest in Art

by Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

Surprised that her woodland scenic which captured first place honors at the Pennington County fair should rate her an interview, Mrs. Bert Thorstad, city, modestly declared that painting was "just in the blood."

As a girl, Mrs. Thorstad took a few lessons from an aunt who also painted merely as a hobby. Other than that she has had no art training to speak of, and little leisure time in which to continue pursuing her avocation during the past forty years.

Coming here as a girl in her early teens from Eagle Bend, she attended Lincoln high school, and after graduating, took a course in normal training. Subsequently she taught in the rural schools of the county.

After her marriage, she lived on a farm with her husband. They became the parents of eight children, all of whom are still living, and six of whom reside in this community, while the other two live in Wisconsin and North Dakota.

The family moved into town about 20 years ago, operating the greenhouse which bore their name, and is located in the area known as the Horseshoe, across from Riverside Park.

Now, her family grown, her husband deceased, and finding herself with unaccustomed leisure since disposing of the greenhouse, she has agin taken up her oils and brushes. When she "sticks with it" she can complete a painting in approximately a week, allowing time for the paints to dry between color changes. She does not, she says, care to "slap paint on paint", preferring a single layer where this is possible.

For the most part, she copies still-lifes which interest her, sometimes using colored slides or picture postcards as her inspiration as well. She captures the natural grace of wild animals with equal skill, however. Her "Lone Wolf," scene of that name, is remarkably like the original, differing only in the depth and intensity of the colors used. Other pictures include deer frolicking in the snow; a mountain stream; trees; and flowers.

She stated that the prize-winning work was not planned as a fair entry—"It just happend that way." Originally painting it at the request of her daughter, Mrs. Beth (Pound) Scholin, local home economics instructor, she had no thought of exhibiting it until her daughter insisted. Mrs. Scholin, captivated with the beauty of the scene from which it was copied, wanted the copy done in sunnier tones, however, to match her home decor. The resultant painting proved to be a winner.

Never capitalizing on her ability, Mrs. Thorstad has made no attempts at selling her art work, and does not intend to. Instead, her work has found its way into the hands of many lucky recipients as unusual gifts.

Her talent has evidently transmitted itself to her grandson, Wayne Pound, for his entry, a vivid mountain-desert scene, also walked off with first prize in its catagory. Wayne has painted since early childhood, his grandmother stated, confining his efforts largely to boat scenes. But his interests have broadened with his shoulders, and now include many diversified subjects.

Mrs. Thorstad is interested in abstracts, she admits, but says that she has not worked with this art-form as yet. "It has great possiblities, though; it works wonders with line and color," she said.

With a hobby as absorbing as hers, no one needs face the 'Golden Years' with apprehension and the brooding fear of dullness graying those years. Mrs. Thorstad says that her only fear is that she will never find enough time to do all that she has in mind for future projects.

ARTISTIC ability seems to run in the family, according to laurels won by Mrs. Bert Thorstad and her grandson Wayne Pound at the Pennington county fair recently. Mrs. Thorstad began painting with oils about 40 years ago but has never had any formal training. Wayne entered the desert scene he is holding and a still life picture at the fair and received blue ribbons on both. He said his high school art instructor offered to purchase the desert painting.

Dairy Industries Degree from 'U' Is Assurance of Job

One of the surest ways to get a good job these days is to have a bachelor of science degree in dairy industries from the University of Minnesota.

A total of 123 job opportunities for persons with dairy industries training went begging at the University during 1961-62 because the University did not have enough graduates in this field to meet the demand.

In commenting on job opportunities in his field, Howard Morris, professor of dairy industries at the University, pointed to two current trends.

First, agricultural college graduates are in greater demand than ever before, in spite of the decline in the number of farms and farmers.

Second, in keeping with the changing nature of agriculture, the University's college of agriculutre, forestry and home economics is concentrating more on training people for jobs in the utilization of farm products as contrasted with training mainly for higher production.

Highway User Tax Return Due Aug. 31

Tax Is Payable in Four Quarterly Installments

Truckers and bus operators were reminded today by Gilbert A. Engel, acting district director of Internal revenue in St. Paul, that highway use tax returns for the taxable year beginning July 1, 1962 must be filed by August 31 for every taxable vehicle in operation in July of this year. Mr. Engel stated that funds collected from the highway use tax are helping to build a national network of 41,000 miles of modern, controlled access highways. Engel stated that last year the St Paul district office collected $1,767,517 in the state of Minnesota on highway use tax. This, he stated, was an increase of $1,085,570 over fiscal year 1961.

The tax is due as of August 31, but, Engel stated, it may be paid in quarterly installments. The dates of these installment payments are August 31, December 31, March 31 and June 30. The necessary return for filing, Form 2290, was mailed this month to those who filed highway use tax returns last year. Copies of this form, as well as a helpful booklet on the tax, Publication No. 349, can be obtained from the internal revenue offices and from state motor bureau agencies.

Polk Co. Aspirant for Legislature Withdraws Name

Arvid Clementson of Fosston withdrew from the race for Polk county representative from the 66th Legislative District, Polk County Auditor Martin Vanseth reported Tuesday.

Reason for withdrawing was to insure party unity, Clementson said. His action leaves three contenders fo the county's representative post.

Those seeking the endorsement of voters in the September primary election include T. W. Thorson of Crookston, prominent Polk County educator; incumbent Harvey Wilder of Crookston; and Clifford Cleveland of East Grand Forks. The field will be narrowed to two candidates in the Sept. 11 primary.

RRV Crops & Soils Assn. Convenes at Crookston July 17

Group Arranges for Fall Meeting at N.W. School Early Next November

The summer meeting of the Red River Valley Crops and Soils Association was held on July 17 at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston, in conjunction with Crops Day.

This association, one of the older agricultural groups in the Red River Valley, consists of the officers of the Crop Improvement Associations from fourteen Northwestern Minnesota counties. The association has been active in promoting superior germ-plasm for crops and help distribute the top varieties of crops in the area. Also, the association has assisted in the development of the crops show at the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

At the meeting, reports were heard from Bennitt Aarestad of Halstad; Elmer Bredlle of Eldred; Robert L. Potts, field supervisor of the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association; and B. E. Youngquist, superintendent, and Olaf C. Soine, agronomist — both of the Northwest Experiment Station.

Action was taken to hold a fall meeting in early November at Northwest School, the date to be announced later. The directors and officers of the county Crop Improvement Associations will be invited to this meeting. A top-level program will be developed which will be important to those who are interested in the improvement of crop varieties and better use of the soils.

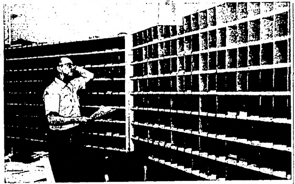
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY



"LET ME SEE . . ." Faced with the difficult task of arranging class schedules for senior high school students at Lincoln high school this fall, Richard Edlund, senior high school principal, has devised this method of classroom arrangement. Each cubicle in the horizontal rows indicate a class room. Each space in the vertical rows indicate a class hour in the school day. Cards indicating classes which students wish to take are inserted into the spaces. The procedure is complicated by the addition of an hour to the school day (21 classes will start at 8 a.m. this fall) and the fact that only city students can take the early-hour classes. Read the complete story in the Monday, August 6, issue of the Times.

Council Reviews Two City Salary Problems

Complications arising from two requests for salary increases were discussed Tuesday evening when the Thief River Falls city council met in adjourned session at the municipal court room in the city Auditorium. Wage differences were btween the council and Local 664 of the Municipal Drivers and Helpers Union and an apparent misunderstanding with the Carnegie Public Library board.

Union negotiations with the council have been tossed about for several months as a result of the local's request for across-the-board salary increases and the council's refusal to grant such increases. City fathers earlier maintained that the raises were not justified in relation to work performed and wages paid for similar jobs with private concerns in the city.

Legal counsel for the union had requested by letter that the council appoint a representative on an adjustment panel. In return, the council instructed Robert Wurst, city attorney, to request the union to furnish proof that union members, through majority vote, had favored establishment of the adjustment panel.

Library Situation

A letter from Mrs. H. O. Chommie, president of Carnegie Public Library board, requesting information as to why salary increases granted to library employees had not been paid, was read to the council. The library board, although granted a budget appropriation by the council, has the authority under state law to set the salary of employees. Council members were of the opinion that the overall library appropriation had been approved at budget-setting meetings but that salary increases to library personnel were to be granted only if all city employees received wage increases.

Action was tabled on the latter request pending re-checking of the library appropriation to determine if allowances for increased salary has been included in the original budget proposal.

Second reading of the ordinance to combine the city park and recreation boards into one seven-member unit was also held Tuesday evening. The combined board will be in charge of supervision for city parks and recreational programs in the future. The or-

Lions and Rotary Clubs to Compete at Golf Monday

Justus Larson, representing the Rotary club, invaded the Lions club den Wednesday noon to challenge the Lions to the annual inter-club golf tourney to be played on the local course next Monday, August 6, and the challenge was promptly accepted. Larson said that the members would assemble at 4 p. m., and that dinner would be served at 7:30 after play is completed. Dr. George Martin, Lions president, stated that the club would dispense with its regular meeting Wednesday, August 8.

Price of Progress

Barren Glacier Is Forced Camp

To the long list of harrowing events experienced by Edgar Hetteen, head of Arctic Enterprises, Inc., in Thief River Falls, add four days spent on a barren glacier on Mt. McKinley in Alaska. This happened just last week while he was in Alaska to give pre-production tests to a new model of the all-season vehicle the firm manufactures.

Together with Bill Weisser of Grand Forks and Bert Johnson, distributor in Anchorage, Alaska, Hetteen and the vehicle were flown by a bush pilot last Monday morning to a glacier at about the 6,000 foot level on Mt. McKinley. The pilot was to return in four hours to pick up the party after tests on the extremely rugged terrain had been conducted.

Four hours passed and no pilot appeared. More time passed and at one time or another every member of the party was sure he heard the motor of an approaching plane. It was Friday when the pilot finally returned, claiming that he had been unable to return because of "bad weather." The marooned men said they saw the sun every day.

Temperatures dipped to the freezing mark on the mountain and the men had only one sleeping bag among the three of them. They found some provisions left by the Royal Marines who had previously been in the area, "but you can get awfully sick of corned beef every meal". There were no trees for 50 miles on the barren mountainside, making it impossible to build a fire. The terrain was too filled with crevasses to permit the group to walk back to civilization. All they could do was wait — and hope the pilot would return.

At least one good thing came out of the experience. The new machine proved to meet the rigid testing it received and will now go into production at the Arctic Enterprises plant in Thief River Falls. It will be one of a number of rugged terrain vehicles which the firm produces and which have found a good market throughout the continent.

Jaycee Aquacade, IWVA Conclave Are Attractions

Thief River Falls will be a veritable beehive of activity this weekend with two major summer events being held. Friday, Saturday and Sunday are the dates of the 8th Annual Jaycees Aquacade while Saturday, Sunday and Monday are the dates of the International War Veterans' Alliance convention to be staged in this city. Both events are expected to draw a number of visitors from the surrounding trade territory and Canada.

M. R. Levorson, housing chairman for the convention, noted that approximately 330 persons have reserved rooms in the four hotels and four motels in the city and that several other parties had been accommodated in private homes. There are still rooms available, Levorson said, but additional rooms may be needed if there is a large number of last-minute requests. Persons who could offer rental rooms are asked to call MU 1-4560 or MU 1-2637 and list their accommodations.

To date reservations have been made from Winnipeg, Vermette, St. James & East Kildonen, Man.; West Minister, B. C.; Sisseton, S. D.; Fargo, Mott, Bismarck, Northwood, Enderlin, Lisbon, Hannaford, Carrington, Hope, Pembina, Grand Forks and Jamestown, N. D.; Kasota, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Mankato and Detroit Lakes. The largest delegation will be from the Winnipeg area.

Opening event of the weekend activities will be a teenage dance at 9 p. m. Friday in the city auditorium. Music for the younger set will be furnished by The Tornaddoes from Fargo, N. D. Registration for the IWVA and its auxiliary will begin at 10 a. m. Saturday in the auditorium and continue throughout the morning and afternoon.

Score High in Pistol Contest

Two Thief River Falls police patrolmen fared well at the pistol shoot held last week in Breckenridge as part of the Red River Valley Peace Officers association meeting. Twenty-eight shooters competed in five classes.

Patrolman Wallace Heaton swept all phases of Class D competition as he scored first place in slow fire, rapid fire, timed fire and aggregate. Patrolman Irving Swanson placed second in aggregate and second in slow fire in the Class E division. The two men attended the association meeting as did Capt. Harlan Fredeen, stationed in Thief River Falls with the Minnesota highway patrol.

Capt. and Mrs. G. W. Gatchell of New Hampshire were dinner guests on Wednesday at the Johnnie Ness home.

Saturday Parade Route Planned

Persons who want to take their places early for the combination IWVA and Jaycee Aquacade parade which will begin at 4 p. m. on Saturday are advised that the parade route will be as follows:

Formation at city parking lot near Fourth street and LaBree av. N. Line of march up LaBree to Third street, west on Third to Main avenue, south on Main avenue to Second street, east on Second street to Atlantic avenue, north on Atlantic avenue to Third street, west on Third street to Horace avenue and north on Horace to parking lot dispersal area.

IWVA Commander Al Dodds, Winnipeg, will preside at the business sessions and memorial service at the International War Veterans Alliance convention to be held in Thief River Falls Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Officers of the organization will be elected Sunday morning.

Three 1-act Plays at Grygla Friday

The Parish Players of the Grygla Lutheran parish will present three one-act plays on Friday, Aug. 3, at 8:15 p. m. in the Grygla grade school auditorium.

The plays are: "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals", by J. M. Barrie, probably the most touching and amusing play to come out of World War I; "Parted on Her Wedding Morn" or "More To Be Pitied Than Scorned", by Leland Price, an old-fashioned 'meller-drama, strictly for fun; and "Eternal Life", by Fred Eastman, which tells the inspiring story of a family facing death in a fall-out shelter and how they find eternal life through faith in Christ.

All six members of the cast appear in each of the plays. They are Diane Bratteli, Barbara Magnuson, Jeanne Paulson, Lyle Paulson, Diane Saurdiff and Lee Sorenson, all of Grygla. The cast will also supply musical numbers during intermission.

Following the performance, the players will embark on their second annual tour. This year they will visit four states with their plays and will perform in such places as Wildrose, N. Dak., Shelby, Mont. and Dawson, Minn.

The public is cordially invited to attend the performance and enjoy an evening of entertainment and inspiration. There is no admission charge, but a collection will be taken.

Two Auto Crashes Recorded in City

Two traffic mishaps in the city during the past few days have been recorded at the Thief River Falls police station. Total estimated damage to the four cars involved is approximately $615.

At 7:24 p. m. on Tuesday, a car driven by Harold Vasend of McIntosh was traveling east on Third street and stopped by the curb to pick up a passenger when struck on the left rear fender by a car driven by Mrs. Violet Kalinoski, rt. 4, who was making a left turn on to Third street from Red Lake Blvd. About $50 damage was done to the Vasend car and $45 to the Kalinsoki vehicle. No tags were issued.

At about 8:30 p. m. last Saturday, a car driven by Woodrow Craik of the city was traveling north on Horace avenue when hit on the right rear side by a car traveling west on Second street and driven by Samuel Lindsay, city. About $275 damage was done to the Craik car and $250 to the Lindsay vehicle. Lindsay was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Stelmaschuk Tells Rotary . . .

County Crop Picture Not Dark as It Seems

Pennington county's agricultural financial picture is not as dark as it appears on the surface although there will be less than half a small grain crop in the county this year. Statistics to support this statement were given by Paul Stelmaschuk, county agricultural agent, in speaking to the Thief River Falls Rotary club at its noon meeting on Monday.

Agriculture is a $5 million business in Pennington county as compared to $3.5 million 10 years ago, Stelmaschuk said. Some of the increase is inflationary but much of it is actually increased production and greater sales of farm produce.

While the term "half a crop" leaves the initial impression that there will be only half the agricultural income in the county this year, that is not the situation, Stelmaschuk said. Naturally there will be a loss of income and some farmers will be materially hurt by the poor crop season, but actual loss of total agricultural income will be only about 15 per cent.

Of the $5 million total agricultural income, about a million dollars each comes from dairying, poultry and livestock categories. This year there will also be $650,000 received in soil bank payments to county farmers and $302,000 in diversion payments.

Part of the loss in cash grain crops this year will be off-set by the abundance of hay. Pennington county has 94,500 acres of crop land, 38,400 acres of hay and 92,000 acres of soil bank land. About 21,000 acres of soil bank land will come out of the conservation reserve this year and there is no current provision for renewing soil bank contracts.

This year the county has allotments for 5,500 acres of wheat and the major portion of this was planted, the county agent said. Annually county farmers plant about 60 per cent of the crop acres to oats — a crop ideally suited for our soil and climate conditions.

Dependent on Agriculture

Emphasizing the fact that the county is dependent upon agriculture, Stelmaschuk noted that there are 853 farms in Pennington county. Of this total, there are 250 crop farmers, 225 dairy farmers, 22 poultry farmers and 49 livestock farmers. To qualify in the various divisions, farmers must receive the major portion of their farm income from the specific field.

Thirty-one county farms are larger than 1,000 acres in size and five are larger than 2,000 acres, the county agent reported. In 1950, four farms had gross income above $25,000. In 1959, 15 farms had gross income of $40,000 or more. In addition, 14 farms had income of $20,000 to $39,999; 134 farms had income from $10,000 to $19,999; 156 farms had income from $5,000 to $9,999; 208 farms had income from $2,500 to $4,999; and 86 had income from $50 to $2,499.

Commenting on farm programs such as soil bank and diversion plans, Stelmaschuk stated that they were good "insurance" but did not compare with sale of farm products. "These programs do not compare with farming in showing growth and progress," the county agent stated. "The farmer who is moving forward and working to better his situation is producing crops and livestock and selling his produce."

Also appearing on the program was Roger Dorn, director of the Tindolph Park swimming area, who expressed thanks for the 14-ft. aluminum boat contributed to the water safety program by the club.

Miss Ila M. Skadsem Wed To Myron T. Anderson

Miss Ila Mae Skadsem and Myron T. Anderson of Newfolden exchanged vows at the Bethlehem Lutheran church in Newfolden Saturday, July 14, at an 8 p. m. wedding. Rev. Oscarson officiated at the double-ring candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Arthur Skadsem of Newfolden, and the parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Anderson, of the same city.

Bonita Hodle presided at the organ, playing the accompaniment for Mrs. Richard Kezar, sister of the groom, as she sang "O Promise Me," and "God Gave Me You,". As the couple knelt at the altar, Mrs. Richard Ellingson sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor-length gown of tulle over taffeta. It featured a scalloped neckline adorned with tiny pearls, and long, pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil of double illusion net was held in place by a pearl-adorned crown. Her only jewelry was a single-strand pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of pink baby roses and white mums on a white Bible.

Mrs. Gene Boe was matron of honor for her sister's wedding. She wore pink nylon over net, the dress featuring a white lace neckline and waistband. Opal Magner of Newfolden, and Janet Hestekind of Holt, cousins of the bride, were her bridesmaids. They both wore light blue gowns which were of matched styling. All wore identical hats and gloves, and a cultured pearl necklace with which they had been gifted by the bride. They wore wrist corsages of pink roses and white mums.

Susan Adberg, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, in a diminutive bridal dress and veil, and carrying a white Testament covered with pink roses and white mums. She also wore a pearl necklace which was a gift of the bride. Michael Skadsem, brother of the bride, carried a small white taffeta-and-lace pillow bearing the rings.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Merlin Anderson. Groomsmen were Mark Anderson, brother of the groom, and Archie Skadsem, the bride's brother. All of the men in the party wore dark suits and boutonnieres of white carnations. Their black bow ties were their gifts from the groom. Candle-lighters and ushers were Richard Kezar, brother-in-law of the groom, and Wallace Taylor.

A dress of lavender was chosen by the bride's mother, while the groom's mother was attired in light blue, both outfits accessorized with white. Their corsages were of pink roses and white mums.

Special honor was paid to Mr. and Mrs. Kittel Nelson, Newfolden, and Mr. and Mrs. Harve Magner, the grandparents of the bride, who were given corsages and boutonnieres respectively.

A reception was given in the church parlors, with Mrs Richard Odberg, a cousin of the bride, at the guest book, and Mrs. Gene Hendrickson of Karlstad and Mrs. Lowell Halvorson of this city at the gift table. Miss Bonnie Johnson served punch, while Mrs. Darold Sundby, cousin of the groom, and Mrs. Richard Odberg, poured. Cutting and serving the four-tiered cake was Mayme McLaughlin, the bride's aunt. Kitchen assistance was given by Mmes. Nels Boe, Oscar Skadsem, Dale Magner, and Walter Becklund. Waitresses were Misses Susie Nelson, Carol Rokke, Diane Nelson, and Mrs. Milton Erickson.

The bride and groom both attended Newfolden high school. The groom is employed at the Warren Grain and Seed Co.

Following a wedding trip along the North Shore Drive, the couple is at home at 110 East Johnson Ave. in Warren.

A program, presented by their grandchildren, was emceed by Darryll Skalet. It included readings, some sentimental, others of a humorous nature; songs and hymns; and several other musical numbers.

The Skalets were wed June 19, 1912, at Garnes. They are the parents of eight children, the grandparents of 35 grandchildren, and great-grandparents to three.

Altogether, about 150 friends and neighbors gathered to help them celebrate the occasion.

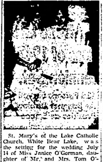
Miss Janice O'Gorman Is Wed To Joseph Herriges



St. Mary's of the Lake Catholic Church, White Bear Lake, was the setting for the wedding July 14 of Miss Janice O'Gorman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Gorman of this city, to Joseph Herriges, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Herriges of St. Paul.

The church's three altars were beautifully decorated for the nuptial Mass and the exchange of vows read by the Rev. Bernard Reiser.

The bride, escorted by her father and given by him in marriage, wore a ballerina-length gown of white lace over taffeta, detailed with a huge bow at the left waistline. It also featured short sleeves and a moderate scoop neckline. The illusion veil was caught by a wreath of leaves fashioned of white organza. The bridal bouquet was of pink roses and white Stephanotis! A bouquet of red roses was placed on the altar of the Virgin by the couple after the services.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Kathleen O'Gorman, with another of her sisters, Miss Laurel O'Gorman, as bridesmaid. Both wore ballerina-length dresses of pale blue with white net hats, and carried yellow and white daisies.

Tom Houle of St. Paul served as best man, with Glenn Hageman, also of St. Paul, as groomsman.

In lieu of the bride's small sister, who was to have served as flower girl, but was confined to her bed, was a cousin, Patty O'Gorman. Rings were carried by Frank O'Gorman, the bride's brother. He, like the other men in the party, wore a white dinner jacket, black trousers, and a black bow tie.

A reception, given by the bride's parents, and held in the Northwood Country Club, North St. Paul, was attended by 200 guests, and featured a three-tiered pillared bridal cake, with roses entwining the pillars. The corners of the cake were trimmed with ribbon bows, and the entire creation topped with pearl-encrusted white satin wedding bells.

The bride, who graduated from St. Joseph's Academy, St. Paul, and Mankato State college, is a long-distance telephone operator in St. Paul. Her husband, employed by Buckbee Mears Engravers, is also a student at Brown Institute of Broadcasting, St. Paul. They are now at home at 1405 S. Maryland, St. Paul.

Stephen Girl Is Aquacade Finalist

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

(Last in a series of personal interviews with candidates for the Miss Aquacade contest to be held Saturday evening in conjunction with the Thief River Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce 8th annual Aquacade.)

Some things come natually to some people and such is the case with Kay Ann Woinarowicz, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woinarowicz of rural Stephen.

Without the benefit of any formal musical training other than high school instruction, she gained A ratings at the state area music festivals in her junior and senior years with solo numbers on a bass clarinet.

Kay Ann will be one of eight finalists competing for the title of Miss Aquacade at the Lincoln high school auditorium in Thief River Falls on Saturday evening. The event is an official Miss America Preliminary pageant, giving the winner an opportunity to advance to district Miss Minnesota competition. Diminutive Kay Ann is only 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 107 pounds, has brown hair and brown eyes.

As her talent number in the contest, which includes swimsuit, evening gown and talent competition, she will play "Night Wind" by Fred Kay on the bass clarinet. A school friend, Miss Judy Olson, will be her acompanist.

School Activities

Active in extra-curricular work at Stephen high school, Kay Ann was a member of the senior band and senior chorus for four years. Three years she played instrumental solos, twice receiving the top rating at state area festivals held in Thief River Falls. As well as playing in the band, she was a majorette for four years, the last two as head majorette for the marching group.

During her high school career she also was president of the Future Homemakers of America, member of the Girls Athletic association and was on the school paper and annual staff. She participated in both junior and senior class plays and also took part in dramatics which included interschool competition.

Among her hobbies she enjoys watching baseball and believed it quite a thrill to watch the Minnesota Twins play, and win, while visiting her sister in Minneapolis recently. Sewing, singing and dancing are her other hobbies.

The Woinarowicz farm is located 15 miles west of Stephe. Kay Ann has a sister, Mrs. Darrel (Darlene) Ray of Minneapolis, and four brothers, Ernest 33, Elmer 27, LeRoy 25 and Larry 11. She plans to attend North Dakota State University in Fargo this fall where she will major in home economics.

Demand Increases for 'U' Ag Grads

Graduates Find Many Positions Open to Them

Agricultural graduates of the University of Minnesota are in greater demand than ever before in spite of the fact that the number of farms and farmers in Minnesota and the United States has continued to decline in recent years.

Paul S. Anderson, director of Home Economics, reported today placement for the University's College of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics, reported today that the number of employers who correspond with the college concerning candidates for positions has risen to approximately 500 this year, compared with 350 a year earlier.

With about 200 students graduating from the college each year, this means that potentially there are several job opportunities for each graduate.

He said that demand for university agricultural graduates is one-third higher than a year ago and that salary levels for the positions offered are up about 5 per cent over last year. Job supply for these graduates is at least double that of two years ago.

From the standpoint of college subject matter departments, top demand continues to be for graduates majoring in such fields as agricultural biochemistry, dairy industries and other highly scientific and technical areas. Salary offerings for holders of the B. S. degree range largely from $5,000 and $6,000 a year. The average salary offered this year is about $5,700. A few graduates accepting employment in scientific or technological fields or in sales received salaries above $6,000 — some as high as $8,000.

The College is getting more requests these days for candidates for such "production" posisitions as field agents for canning companies, supervisors and management trainees in milk plants, creameries, feed mills and meat packing plants and loan officers for production credit associations and insurance companies.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson
Manager Chamber of Commerce

Business activity or circulation of the dollar and the attitude or mood of the public have a decided effect on each other. This is grossly apparent every day as we look around us here in Thief River Falls.

It is common knowledge that active circulation of money is the lifeblood of any economy and therefore, we all realize how important it is for the public to be in a constant, progressive buying and selling mood or attitude. How to keep our Thief River Falls distributing and consuming public in that frame of mind, then, becomes a matter of vital concern to our Chamber of Commerce.

Through our organizational procedures we try annually to develop a promotional program that will have a favorable influence on the community throughout the year. In this manner we feel that we act as a stimulus to our local economy.

An obvious attempt and success most recently executed was the retailers' Crazy Days of last Friday and Saturday. Through organized efforts around a central idea a promotion was carried out for the benefit of business, consumer, and the entire community in reality. It was a progressive movement to exchange merchandise for money. It was a healthful and worthwhile transfusion into business life. This enthusiastic exchange of goods for dollars would not have occurred, however, if all parties involved had not been stimulated. In this case, the main motivations of the desires to buy and sell had to be prodded through mass media methods such as radio and newspaper.

The point I wish to make is that it is vitally important to the entire community to forever attempt to keep itself in a vigorous, progressive business frame of mind—always active and always futuristic.

Futuristic activity can be a daily occurrence as you will realize as you Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made—Here In The Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

Council Reviews Salary Requests At Meet Tuesday

dinance will become effective upon the third reading and publication in the Times.

No Traffic Signals

A letter from C. M. Larson, district highway engineer, was also read Tuesday evening. The letter stated that a 16-hour check of the intersection of Third street and Arnold av. N. had been conducted on May 21 and 22 and that on only two of the 16 hours did the total of cars entering the intersection exceed 200. Larson stated this was less than half the required number which would indicate that semaphore traffic signals should be installed.

Permission was granted by the council to erect no parking signs on Bay street between Northern Woodwork company and the Great Northern railroad tracks. Resignation of Olaf Dahlen from the volunteer fire department was accepted but approval of an elected replacement was tabled pending further investigation. Approval was also given to the Veterans of Foreign Wars to erect a 35-foot flag pole at the northeast corner of their club building.

Ask Gas Bids

Advertisement for bids on providing natural gas service to the city was also approved and the date of September 12 was set as the time for opening of bids. The council also requested two meetings prior to that time to hear information in regard to the advantages of municipal operation and franchise granted to a private company.

A letter from the state department of health was also received by the council which noted that samples taken of Thief River Falls water showed it to be of good quality. Recommendations made by the department, if followed, could raise the rating of city water from 91 to 98, the letter stated. Referral of the recommendations was made by the council to Morris Owen, superintendent of utilities, and Harold Anderson, head of the water treatment plant.

Another letter to the council advised them of the injury to a daughter of Richard Nelson of the city at the city swimming pool and claimed negligence on the part of the city. The mishap occurred June 27. Report of the injury was ordered referred to the insurance company which has the policy covering such accidents.

Building Permits

Building permits approved by the council included the following: Jon Metusalem, domestic garage and breezeway at 220 Merriam av. N., $1,200; George E. Peterson, addition to garage at 512 Chippewa av., $300; Bernard LaCoe, domestic garage at 1211 Arnold av. N., $500; C. M. Knutson, addition to dwelling at 247 Kendall av. N., $1,000; and Donovan Brown, domestic garage at 321 Tindolph av. S., $320.

Elton Cummings, city police chief, announced that the department will begin operating the city scales beginning August 1 with the current rates remaining in effect. City electrician's license for Naylor Electric company of Bemidji was also approved.

He said this was an increase of 5 per cent, or $70,192,220, over the collections in fiscal year 1961.

Corporation income taxes increased in the amount of $4,532,605 during the past fiscal year. Engel said $352,620,765 was received compared with $348,088,160 in the previous period.

Individual income tax collections were $250,241,334, against $222,691,224 in 1961.

Nancy Newton Writes of Washington Visit

Nancy Newton, who recently served as Pennington county 4-H exchange delegate on a trip to Maryland, tells in the following letter of her week's stay in the capital city of Washington, D. C.

Washington D. C., our nation's capital, is a name familiar to each and every American citizen plus countless others. The cherry blossoms weren't blooming when I was there, but I still thought it to be a most beautiful city.

From July 1-7, 1962, I stayed at the National 4-H Center. The Center is a private corporation which is now debt free and valued at $1,500,000.

Modern wings containing dormitories, a cafeteria, and meeting rooms have been added, but the main central part has been preserved as is. The tall white stone pillars reminded me of a southern plantation house. I think every 4-H'er can be truly proud of their 4-H Center.

My week in Washington D. C. was really a busy one. Our days were spent attending assemblies on Citizenship and taking sightseeing tours.

I had the pleasure of presiding as chairman at our first evening assembly. At this assembly one of my duties was introducing the speaker, Miss Dorothy Emerson, consultant on citizenship. Miss Emerson spoke on "Confidence for Leadership. She said, "When a person is speaking they should try not to use notes, but instead, just open your mouth and let the ideas flow out."

During the week we toured the Lincoln, Jefferson, and Washington monuments. At the Washington Monument I climbed the 850 steps to the top and what a job. I decided to take the elevator down after that climb.

Bright and early Tuesday morning, July 3, we boarded buses for the National Archives where we saw our nation's Constitution and Declaration of Independence. we then went to the Senate Cafeteria for lunch where the boys had quite a treat. The candidates for the Miss Universe Contest happened to be eating there at the same time and I've never seen so many bug-eyed boys at one time.

That afternoon we toured Capital Hill and visited with our Congressman for 2½ hours. The next night we again went to the Washington Monument. This time we were there for the Fourth of July festivities. To start the program the flag of each state was presented to that huge crowd. There were big cheers for some of the states, but none of them topped the one we gave for Minnesota. Then the fireworks started. Everything was silent, except for the booming of the fireworks. All I could do was watch in amazement and plug my ears.

Thursday was a big day too. The White House was first on our list. We got there early, but the waiting line was already very long, but we got to go in first. The most exciting thing about this tour was seeing President Kennedy land on the back lawn in his helicopter.

That afternoon we boarded a huge steamboat and sailed down the Potomac River to Mount Vernon. We spent the afternoon exploring the estate of our first president.

During that week we went to many interesting classes on citizenship. We applied the meaning of citizenship to our 4-H pledge. We then defined citizenship as the way I think and feel about myself and others which lead me to act with concern for the common welfare. We then listed ways in which we could be better citizens and help others to be better citizens also.

We left at 7:30 Saturday morning, July 7, and by 10:30 the next morning we were back in Minneapolis. However, our trip still wasn't over. On Sunday afternoon we went out to the Ramsey County fairgrounds for a chicken barbecue with Ramsey County 4-H'er's. At this gathering I reported on our trip along with their other delegates.

The next afternoon we put on our 4-H uniforms and went to our farewell luncheon. Some of the staff members of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune papers (who helped sponsor this trip) were there along with officials from the University of Minnesota.

As soon as the luncheon ended everyone started saying good-bye. We were shaking hands, crying, and smiling all at once. The trip was just wonderful, but parting was grief.

Pre-schoolers to Get Vision Tests

Minnesota Optometric Assn. Offers Free Tests

Because recent surveys indicate that four out of ten grade-school children in the United States are visually handicapped for adequate school achievement, the Minnesota Optometric association is again conducting its sixth pre-school vision screening program for children about to enter school for the first time.

Monday, August 6, has been designated as Statewide Vision Screening Day for pre-school children by Dr. Paul Slaton, Hopkins, president of the association. The program, under the chairmanship of Dr. Donald J. Bye, Milaca, is offered by the optometric association as a public service project to alert parents to the importance of adequate vision to school achievement.

All a parent need do, said Dr. Bye, is to call the local optometrist before August 6th, at which time an appointment will be made for the screening, at no charge.

Ask Suggestions on State Highway Map for 1963 Year

Work will soon get underway on Minnesota's annual state highway map for 1963.

It is the policy of the Minnesota highway department, which prepares and publishes this up-to-date road guide, to incorporate all pertinent data, information and guidance for the motoring public that can be accomodated without impairing the main purpose of the map to clearly and attractively present the state's most widely used highways in the most readable form. Thousands are passed out every year through state travel agencies, Chambers of Commerce and the State Tourist bureau.

In order to maintain and possibly improve the high standards that have gone into the preparation of this map in the past, the commissioner of highways invites suggestions from Minnesota motorists in the formulation of the new 1963 edition.

Ideas may be addressed the the Public Information Section of the Minnesota Highway Department, St. Paul 1, and will be greatly appreciated.

U.S. Adventists Contribute Huge Sum Thru Tithing

Following the ancient Biblical custom of tithing all their income (giving one-tenth to the church), Seventh-day Adventists gave $223,845,402 to their church during the last four years.

In making his report to the 49th world conference of the church in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium, Chester L. Torrey, treasurer of the General Conference of Adventists, stated that during the past quadrennial period "the funds for our world work have been the largest in our history."

In addition to tithe, Mr. Torrey reported, a total of $64,438,652 was given in mission offerings, making a grand total of more than $288 million.

Appropriations from headquarters to the world-wide work of the church during the past four years have amounted to $108,820,930 as compared with $84,261,391 for the previous four years. In this figure is included financial support for many American projects as well as for 185 other countries.

Grouse and Partridge Seasons Open Sept. 22

The 1962 hunting seasons on ruffed and sharptail grouse, and a Hungarian partridge season to run concurrently with the sharptail grouse season, were announced today in St. Paul by James W. Kimball, director of Minnesota's game and fish division.

This fall's seasons call for a September 22nd joint opening on both species of grouse as well as on Hungarian partridge in the open sharptail grouse zone. The joint opening permits hunters to take sharptail, ruffed grouse and Huns when they are found in the same cover.

The open season on Huns will run with the sharptail grouse season in the sharptail open zone. The Hungarian partridge will also be legal game during the pheasant season which will be announced later. Experience has shown that shooting has little effect on the Hungarian population and that their numbers stay about the same from year to year. They are fairly common in parts of northwestern Minnesota and the early season should provide more opportunities to hunt them.

This year ruffed grouse may be taken through November 4th after which the season will be closed for five days prior to the opening on the firearms deer season to aid law enforcement. The ruffed grouse season will open again on November 10th and run through November 30th. The later closing date will provide more ruffed grouse hunting opportunities. Sharptailed grouse and Hungarians in the delineated open area may be taken through October 21.

The daily bag and possession limit on ruffed grouse is 4 and 8 and on sharptail grouse and Hungarian partridge it is 3 daily and 6 in possession. While ruffed grouse may be hunted statewide, sharptail and Huns can only be taken in an area of the state generally north and east of a line running from the extreme northwest corner, south and east thru Crookston, Bagley, Park Rapids, Pine River, Brainerd, Milaca, Hinckley, and terminating on the St. Croix River. South and west of this line is closed to sharptails. All species can be hunted from sunrise to sunset.

In commenting on the forthcoming seasons, Kimball predicted, "Ruffed grouse hunting can be expected to be poor during the opening weekend or so when foliage is heavy, but this is a good period for hunters and their dogs to get out and enjoy crisp early fall days. Ruffed grouse hunting improves as the foliage comes down and birds are easier to locate. This fall, for the first time, hunters will be permitted to take Hungarian partridge during the sharptail season in the open sharptail zone. The remaining prairie chicken habitat is excluded from the areas opened to sharptail hunting."

Field reports indicate that in general the sharptail and Hungarian populations are about the same as last year. The ruffed grouse poplation has increased in some areas and decreased in others. The status of the ruffed grouse breeding population was determined by ruffed grouse drumming counts made during the spring. Last year over a half million ruffed grouse were harvested in the state

Thieves, Fertile Vie for Playoffs

Manager Joey Poole will take a crippled Thief River Falls Thieves baseball team to Fertile tonight, Thursday, for the fourth-place playoff game with manager Chuck Johnson's Fertile Independents. This playoff game, with the winner gaining a berth in the Norman-Polk league playoffs, was made necessary when, on Tuesday night at Erskine, the Fertile team, behind the two-hit pitching of sixteen-year old Rod Olson, defeated the Erskine Merchants, 3-0, in a seven-inning game.

The winner of tonight's game between the Thieves and Fertile will gain the number four berth in the league playoffs. At a meeting held at Fertile on Monday night, plans were completed for the four-team double-elimination league playoffs. The teams that will participate in the playoffs are the Crookston Pirates, the league champions; the Twin Valley Twins, the runner-up club; the Fosston Jets, the third place winner; and the winner of the Thief River Falls vs. Fertile tilt.

The first-round games of the league playoffs will be played on Sunday, August 5th. The winner of tonight's game at Fertile will meet the first-place Crookston club at Crookston's Highland Park diamond at 5:00 P. M. And the Fosston Jets will travel to Twin Valley for an 8:15 P. M. game.

The second-round games are slated for Wednesday, August 8, with the winners of the first-round games being slated, for one game, and the losers of the first-round games being scheduled for the other game. The playoffs will continue on Friday and Sunday. The winner and the runnerup in the league playoffs will enter the Region 2B tournament.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Quite a Task

If the baseball Thieves are to gain a berth in the Norman-Polk league playoffs manager Joey Poole's locals will have defeat the Fertile Independents at Fertile tonight, Thursday. And that will be quite a chore.

In two previous games between the clubs, Fertile, by scores of 5-4 in eleven innings at Fertile, and 11-4, in a game played here last week, was the winner. And manager Chuck Johnson's team, scoring a 3-0 win over the Erskine Merchants on Tuesday night to tie the Thieves for fourth place, will be favored in tonight's game.

The Thieves will be forced to field a patched-up lineup against Fertile. Lefty Freddy Jensen, who has been the mainstay of the Thieves' pitching staff, will probably be given the starting assignment, sore back and all. Jensen has been side-lined for the past couple of weeks by back injury that has stubbornly resisted treatment, and his effectiveness in tonight's game is problematical.

And catcher Dennis Bakke, who had been having his best season with the Thieves, still feels twinges in his neck from the injury he received a couple of weeks ago. Dennis did get into the lineup last Sunday, playing at third base, and he'll see action in tonight's game.

The most recent addition to the Thieves' cripple-list is outfielder John Drury. John, the club's leading hitter, boasting an average in the mid-400's, suffered injuries to his ribs while attempting a diving catch. At first it was feared that he had cracked a couple of ribs, but a check-up by a doctor revealed that John had torn loose some ligaments. He was advised to stay on the sidelines for two or three weeks. Knowing John, though, it wouldn't be surprising if he agreed to make himself available for pinch-hitting duties. He is a tough competitor.

And if the Thieves win tonight's game, and they are making the trip down there with that intention, the locals will enter the league playoffs and meet the Crookston Pirates at Crookston on Sunday afternoon at 5:00 p. m.

Grade School Champions

Joe Mrkonich's grade school baseball program, which has been in action for the past two months on the East Side diamond, was concluded last week with a championship playoff.

During the regular season's play the Washington Wildcats finished in first place, the St. Bernard's Broncos in second, the Northrop Indians third and the Knox Tigers fourth.

In the playoffs, the first-round games, the Washington team scored a 12-4 win over the Knox and the St. Bernard's, by a 6-4 score, defeated the Northrop Indians.

In the championship finals, the St. Bernard's, with Nick Drees and Mark Froehle the battery, defeated the Washington club, 9-6. Washington had Tom Stromberg and Rich Holmes as pitchers, with Arlen Overbye the catcher. Drees, who pitched the playoff games for St. Bernard's, is a St. Hilaire native, as were several other boys on the Broncos club, is a younger brother of the Thieves' Harlie Drees.

A Disappointment

A couple of years ago, when he was a sophomore in high schol and pitching for the Fergus Falls high school and Legion teams, righthander Barry Johnson, was one of the finest prospects in the state. Last Friday night he appeared here with coach Ted Olson's Fergus Falls juniors and was given the starting assignment against the Fertile juniors in the Ninth district finals.

He proved to be a disappointment to the fans, and scout Russ Rolandson who watched a couple of innings, as he was tagged for ten hits and eight runs in six innings, and Don Gamber had to be called in in relief to protect the Fergus Falls lead.

Johnson is possessed of great potential as a pitcher, but it is his attitude that has made the scouts wary. Minnesota's pick Siebert was very "high" on Johnson a couple of seasons ago, but Dick, in a conversation here this week, stated that his enthusiasm for Johnson has been dampened considerably. It is somewhat tragic to see a youngster waste such talent.

I'll have to agree with Dennis Wegge and Elmer Poole that Fertile's sturdy righthander, Rod Olson, who is only sixteen years old and will be a senior in high school next season, is a better pro prospect.

Miscellany

Tickets, at $2.50 each, for the Minnesota Vikings vs. Dallas Cowboys scrimmage at Bemidji on Saturday night, August 4, are available from Wally Grovum at The Club. . . Bob Blakely, the former Minnesota Gopher football player, and who had some college eligibility remaining, has been "cut" by the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. The fact that he tried out with the Bombers caused some ill feeling between coach Murray Warmath of Minnesota and Winnipeg's Bud Grant . . . Prospective Prowler football candidates who have not received a physical examination blank from coach Joe Mrkonich (and Joe says that he has sent out quite a number) may call at the high school principal's office and obtain a blank. These blanks are required when the player calls on his doctor and receives a physical examination.

Second Sessions of Swim Classes

Here Is What to Do in Case of Car Accident

One in every 14 Minnesota drivers is involved in an accident every year. If you have a traffic accident, you should know what is expected of you, says the safety division of the state highway department.

Be sure to stop at once and aid anyone who is injured. If necessary, call a doctor and ambulance. Before the police arrive, someone should direct traffic around the accident scene to avoid additional collisions.

Avoid moving injured persons unless they are in danger from fire, explosion or other accident hazards.

Give your name, address and registration number and show your driver's or chauffeur's license to other persons involved. All personal injury and fatal accidents must be reported immediately to law enforcement authorities: local police, if the accident occurs in a municipality; the highway patrol if on a trunk highway, or the county sheriff if the mishap occurs on a rural road.

Accidents involving injury, death or property damage amounting to $50 or more must be reported to the Commissioner of Highways, St. Paul 1. These written reports are confidential and cannot be used in any court. If you fail to report, your driver's license may be suspended.

If you witness an accident, particularly a serious one, notify the nearest law enforcement agency and give the exact location, time and probable extent of injuries.

You must be able to furnish proof of your financial ability to meet any judgement against you if you are the driver or owner of a vehicle involved in an acident resulting in injury, death, or property damage in excess of $100. Proof of such financial responsibility may be insurance, cash or bond. If you fail to show financial responsibility, your license will be suspended until you can.

For further information on accidents and how to avoid them, study your Minnesota Drivers Manual, available at any driver examining station or highway department office.

Crippled Children Agency Receives Grant of $29,000

A special federal grant of $29,900 for continuation of a pilot research and education project on architectural barriers to the handicapped and aged has been awarded to the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults by the U. S. Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, it was announced today.

This second-year award makes possible an intensive educational program on a state-wide basis.

An out-growth of experimental work begun in 1958, the 2-year project has as its ultimate purpose the elimination of architectural features which prevent the handicapped and aged from entering or using various types of buildings used by the public.

Bible Conference Slated at Bemidji

Two One-week Sessions Scheduled August 13-24

Rev. and Mrs. Earl Wilder, missionaries on furlough from Colombia, will be the missionary speakers during the second week of the Oak Hills Bible Conference at Bemidji August 20-24. Mrs. Wilder, formerly Myrtle Jacobson, was a home missionary in the Park Rapids area prior to leaving for Colombia.

The Oak Hills Fellowship has planned two five-day conferences this summer to alleviate the overcrowding of facilities of the past few years. All the sessions including the evening services will be held at the Oak Hills headquarters and Bible Institute Campus. The new addition to the east dormitory will be sufficiently completed to accomodate guests. Two distinct programs, August 13-17 and August 20-24 have been planned.

Two outstanding Canadian, Bible-teaching pastors head the respective conferences. Rev. Eric Crichton, pastor of the Willowdale Church of Toronto will speak daily at 11:10 a. m. and 8 p. m. beginning Monday evening and continuing through Friday evening, August 13-17, and Dr. Raymond S. Bach, pastor of Bethesda Church in Winnipeg will fill the same schedule the following week, August 20-24.

The program also features a missionary hour each morning at 10 a. m. Mr. Ben Nickel, executive and deputation secretary of the Gospel Missionary Union will have charge of the first week's missionary hour. His recent tour of South American fields will enable him to present a fresh and current picture. He has new color slides to present.

The conference is financed by the free will offerings of those attending. Information and reservation forms may be secured by writing or calling the Oak Hills Fellowship at Bemidji.

Soils Agent, May Join Peace Corps

Fred Heck, extension soil conservation agent for Marshall county for the past seven years, has enrolled in the preliminary training phase of the U. S. Peace Corps program. His training program began on Monday, July 23 at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma.

At a meeting of the Marshall county extension committee on July 16, Heck was granted a leave of absence without pay to participate in the training program.

Heck will be joining with other volunteers to receive training for a project in Brazil. If, upon completion of the training, he decides to accept the assignment he will be sent to that country for a period of two years. If he does not accept the assignment he will return to Marshall county around October 15.

Benneses Return from Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd N. Bennes returned last weekend from a two-weeks motor trip to the Eastern states, stopping first at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, where they attended the biennial convention of the Lincoln National Life Insurance company. From there, they went to Arlington, Virginia, where they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Arnold, former Thief River Falls residents. The Arnolds accompanied them to New York City, where they spent three days before returning home.

Farmers Alerted To Danger About Farm Water Ponds

Open Ponds Seem Open Invitation to Trouble; 1.7 Million in Nation

Farmers with ponds and other water-conservation structures on their land need particularly to be "safety" conscious, according to Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee. Farm safety, he declared, should be practiced the year round and not just during "Farm Safety Week," which this year is from July 22 through July 28.

Open bodies of water have a fascination for people generally—especially children; the chairman explained, which means that the farm operator has an obligation to be alert to the danger as well as the benefits of water storage practices and structures around the farm.

Water conservation is being practiced more and more on the farms of the nation, as indicated by the various practices carried out under the government's Agricultural Conservation Program. In recent years, farmers have been completing from 50,000 to 60,000 water-storage structures a year under the program, for which they receive ACP cost-sharing assistance. From 1936 through 1961, around 1.7 million such structures have been built under ACP.

These include primarily livestock water ponds, storage-type erosion-control dams and irrigation water reservoirs. Besides meeting the primary purpose for which they were built, such structures help prevent floods, alleviate drought problems, supply aid in controlling forest fires and provide water storage for fish and wildlife. Their recreational benefits also are extensive. The great value of these water-storage reservoirs, Johnson emphasized, must not blind us to the hazards they may present or to the safety precautions that should be taken to prevent drownings or other water accidents.

"Make every week 'Farm Safety Week' is a pretty good motto to adopt—Especially around farm ponds," the chairman said.

Patrol Gives Tips on Driving on Freeways

Recent experience of the Minnesota highway patrol in handling and observing heavy traffic on the freeways near Metropolitan Stadium brings out many driving problems which can be easily solved by a better-informed motoring

Speaking generally, the three main problem areas are entering interchanges, leaving interchanges and the use of proper lanes on the straightaway.

Many drivers are apparently not aware of the fact that there are built into the freeway, at all interchanges, lanes for acceleration and deceleration. These lanes are designed to accomplish the smooth merging of traffic entering or leaving the freeway and, most important, to eliminate the need for traffic to stop before entering the freeway.

Here is an example of how these lanes should be used: a driver wants to enter the freeway from an intersecting highway. He leaves the highway and proceeds into the ramp at the posted ramp speed. The ramp takes him to the freeway at an angle consistent with the flow of freeway traffic.

This is the point where confusion occurs. As he enters the freeway, he maintains his ramp speed and enters the acceleration lane of the freeway, not one of the main roadways. He then stays in the acceleration lane until he has increased his speed sufficiently to allow him to blend in with the through traffic. He must however, exercise caution when changing to the through lane and signify his intention of entering by use of his directional signals. He must also yield to the through traffic and change lanes only when it is safe to do so.

Acceleration and deceleration lanes are separate roadways built on the right side of the freeway. They are not a part of the regularly traveled roadways and should be used only when entering or leaving.

When leaving the freeway, the same process applies in reverse. The driver moves into the deceleration lane and begins to slow to the posted ramp speed. He must, of course, use directional signals before leaving the main roadways. The ramp carries him to the intersecting highway, where he may or may not be required to stop before entering.

The third problem area deals with slow drivers in the left lane. All freeways in Minnesota are plainly marked requesting slow moving vehicles to travel in the right-hand lane. The left, or outer lane, is normally to be used for passing only.

Two types of accidents are caused by the slow driver in the outer lane. These are rear-end collisions caused as faster-moving vehicles attempt to enter the right-hand lane in order to pass.

Two Duluth Spans Show Traffic Gain

Both Old and New Bridges More Heavily Traveled

After six months, traffic volumes on the new $20 million interstate bridge between Duluth and Superior, Wis., are still rising, the Minnesota highway department reports.

But the old Arrowhead bridge, farther up the bay, is making up, about twice as fast, the volume it lost when the new bridge opened.

The average daily traffic count on the Interstate bridge rose from 10,800 in April to 13,461 in June, a rise of 25 per cent.

But the Arrowhead bridge average daily traffic count rose in the same period from 1,404 to 2,117, an increase of 50 per cent.

In November 1961, during the last count on the Arrowhead bridge before the opening of the new bridge, the average daily load was 2,564. Two months later, after the opening, the count was down to 1,421.

Traffic engineers, lacking previous seasonal data, aren't sure whether the difference in the two increases is due to seasonal variation or if normal users tried the new bridge for awhile and then decided to return to the Arrowhead bridge.

Editorials . . .

"When a man is in love with one woman in a family, it is astonishing how fond he becomes of every person connected with it. He ingratiates himself with the maids; he is bland with the butler; he interests himself about the footman; he runs on errands for the daughters, he gives advice and lends money to the young son in college; he pats little dogs which he would kick otherwise; he smiles at old stories which would make him break out in yawns, were they uttered by anyone but papa."

United Europe?

In France recently, a meeting between the French and the West German governments was concluded by a great parade of German and French armoured units, and a church service in Reims Cathedral. Which prompted the Manchester Guardian of England to comment:

> "The significance of President de Gaulle's warm gesture towards Dr. Adenauer is in showing the readiness of France, with few reservations, to treat Western Germany as a full partner in the new Europe. When M. Schuman first launched his plan for the Coal and Steel Community more than twelve years ago its object was to make further war between France and Germany "not only unthinkable but impossible." President de Gaulle, in inviting German battle troops to parade publicly in France for the first time in peace, is ostentatiously putting behind him the memories of invasion in 1870, 1914, and 1940."

The Guardian notes that no such reconcilation has taken place in England, "—nor is the British government fully committed, as yet, to a European policy." There are a few German soldiers training in Britain but they are kept isolated, "but even in their isolation they are subjected to hostile demonstrations in which they are booed and called 'Nazis'." The Guardian concludes with these interesting observations:

> "The Franco German reconcilation has not been unclouded. But the general effect must have been immensely gratifying to Dr. Adenauer and his Ministers, for they have been well received. This is not surprising. The need for reconciliation seems to be widely understood in France. The divisions of Europe and the wars within Europe have been disastrous in themselves, and the urgency of effective union is obvious. Why then, is it not so obvious on the British side of the Channel? Partly, and justly, for historic reasons—because Britain is not seen as linked with Europe, but rather as linked with the Commonwealth and the United States, and because we succeeded in standing alone in 1940-1. Partly also for practical reasons—because, among other things, the rise of a strong new Germany is feared.
> "But on historic and practical grounds the case today for entering Europe is strong—and with it the case for seeking reconciliation with Germany. M. Schuman's idea was to bind the Germans into a unit which would both satisfy their wishes and restrain them. The Europe of the Six can be such a unit, but a larger Europe, including Britain and linked with the United States through President Kennedy's "interdependence" declaration, is still more likely to succeed. On practical grounds Britain will be better placed, for example, to persuade Dr. Adenauer's Government to consider fresh proposals for an agreement on Berlin. On historic grounds she will be anticipating a change that was bound to come with the loosening of Commonwealth ties. Britain's future lies in Europe."

Latin America in Turmoil

According to William L. Ryan, writing for the Associated Press, South Americans are a little confused about our government's policies as related to our Alliance for Progress. When the Punta del Este charter was adopted a year ago, Latin American nations were supposed to qualify for alliance aid by respecting democratic processes and avoiding coups and dictatorships, Ryan points out. But when Argentina's military kicked out the constitutional president, nullified an election and applied for more Alliance assistance; "the United States lent a cooperative ear.

> "Then came Peru. Again the military nullified a popular election, insisting it did so to protect democratic processes. This time the United States reversed the procedure and suspended diplomatic relations."

Last week's visit to Washington by Ecuador's President adds to the confusion. President went all-out with the welcome treatment and Carlos went home very happy, no doubt assured that his administration would be favored with a liberal grant of American dollars. The present President of Ecuador came into that office not by election but following a revolution in which the army "kicked out his predecessor."

South American newspapers, even the conservative press, have become critical according to Ryan. From the Economic Survey in Argentina he quotes:

> "Latin America enters into a crisis which, in nearly all the countries where it has already become visible—Argentina, Brazil, Peru—growing disregard for parliamentary proceedings becomes general."

The extreme left is already belaboring the alliance as a hoax, and Ryan fears that it may become isolated, shorn of friends and without support.

It is becoming increasingly clear that our relations with our Latin American neighbors are not improving. Conditions in those countries are likely to worsen rather than to improve, and more revolutions seem to be in the making.

What can we do about it? Probably the most urgent need at this time is a clarification of our own position. Obviously the South Americans are expecting more than we can give. Perhaps we have encouraged them to expect the impossible.

We do have an obligation to help those who will make a real effort to help themselves. We are justified however in suspecting that nearly all South American governments are corrupt, and therefore we should retain some control over the dollars we give to see to it that they are properly spent. And there is no justification for the spending of our taxpayers' dollars to help people who will not make an honest effort to help themselves.

No Devaluation?

President Kennedy told the world last week that there will be no further devaluing of the dollar, and we hope that what he said will prove to be true. Unfortunately what he said will have little to do with what the future will bring. Fluctuations in the value of the dollar can be the results of many factors, and the changes that may take place during the years of the Kennedy administration will depend much more on what the administration does than on what President Kennedy says.

The American colonies fought the Revolutionary war on credit, largely by issuing paper dollars. By the time the war was over the paper dollars, referred to as Continentals, had lost their value. Congress recognized them to the extent that it would accept them as payment of a small portion of federal taxes. The common expression at that time, indicating that a thing had no value, was that "it isn't worth a Continental."

The Southern States fought their Civil War largely with printing press dollars, and when the war ended the Confederate currency lost all value.

President Roosevelt devalued the American dollar in relation to the value of an ounce of gold. But his greatest disservice to future generations was his reckless spending of borrowed money, passing along to future generations a huge burden of public debt. He followed the advice of college professors who assured him that public debt was a good thing, and President Kennedy is getting some of that same kind of advice now.

So getting back to what the President said when he assured the world there would be no dollar devaluation, unless the government starts living withing its means shortly, our dollar could have a lot more devaluation in a hurry. Continuing deficits are a serious cause for alarm. We cannot go on piling up our indebtedness indefinitely without weakening international confidence in our dollar, and it is conceivable that we could find ourselves in a position where our dollar would come pretty close to not being worth a Continental, with or without President Kennedy's consent.

The Lamprey War

Lake trout have almost been exterminated in the Great Lakes. The killer has been a blood-sucking monster known as the lamprey that moved into the lakes from the Atlantic some 40 years ago. In Lake Superior, the last of the Great Lakes to be invaded, the annual lake trout catch declined from 4,500,000 lbs. in 1951 to 368,000 lbs last year, according to Time Magazine.

Now, after years of experimenting by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Canadian Department of Fisheries, there is reason to hope that the lamprey will be exterminated and that lake trout once again will be plentiful. A compound has been developed that destroys the lamprey larvae. The chemical known as TFM seems to be effective and it is now hoped that the trend will be reversed. Time points out:

> "The battle of the lakes is far from over, but the Fish and Wildlife Service is now hopeful of eventual victory. It has already started TFM treatment in streams that flow into Lake Michigan and Huron. As soon as each lake is reasonably safe, the service will release baby trout, confident that most of them will not be sucked to death by lampreys."

Junked Cars Problem

The St. Paul Pioneer Press calls attention to the problem of junked automobiles which too often are permitted to accumulate along the main approaches to smaller communities. The following observations and suggestions deserve serious consideration here and elsewhere:

> "One Twin Cities area community has launched a worthwhile attack gainst junked automobiles. Mounds View has adopted an ordinance requiring such vehicles to bear current license plates or they will be considered a nuisance.
> "But the individual junked cars are no more unsightly than are auto graveyards in some communities. Better zoning laws or requirements that such yards provide fences and other devices to beautify the car cemeteries, particularly along major thoroughfares, would do a good deal toward raising the esthetic stature of our communities and state.
> "As a tourist state, Minnesota must be concerned about the appearances of its major highways and freeways. Communities and their citizens should give more attention to improving the approaches to their towns."

W.L.B. Said:

"A long sober face is more frequently the result of indigestion than wisdom."

"My four-year-old's troubles are as great to him as are mine to me. When his pint measure overflows, it's as full as is my barrel."

WILDLIFE in Minnesota
by JIM KIMBALL
DIRECTOR OF GAME & FISH

Last week we held our annual meeting to set the game seasons. First, maps are put up showing the recommendations of sportsmen's clubs and of department personnel. Then, after a few comments of no great moment from me, Dave Vesall, supervisor of fame, takes charge of the meeting.

I wish all sportsmen in the state could observe one of these meetings. They could find no better example of democracy in action and they surely would be impressed with the knowledge and dedication of their public servants in game and fish.

The chief warden, assistant and ten area supervisors; key personnel in the game section, including the four regional managers; and the research leaders all work as a team. Spirited arguments will develop over a matter such as where to draw the line between the five-day and nine-day deer zones. Those most interested will gather 'round the map expressing their views in voices considerably louder than necessary. At the end of five minutes there appears to be a hopeless impasse. Ten minutes later someone says, "We got it!" and the group returns quietly to their seats, leaving a new red line on the map.

The meeting runs on much more rapidly and efficiently now than it did five or six years ago when this system of setting seasons was started. The participants have learned many things. They know that boundary lines must run along highways, that it is impractical to have a small area with a season differing from that surrounding it and that huting pressure on some species, such as ruffed grouse, has little effect on next year's population. In general, it is now realized that, while the gun is a big factor in managing waterfowl, it frequently has little influence on many upland game species.

Some of the men expressed regret that we are limited by state law to a deer season not over 9 days long. In some areas they velieved a longer season would distribute hunting pressure, provide opportunity to hunt with or without snow, prevent accidents due to hunter crowding and make little difference in the total deer kill. Figures will soon be released showing that again last year Minnesota set a new record for the number of deer taken. Hunting for white-tailed deer is better in Minnesota than anywhere else in the nation.

Setting the pheasant season was the most difficult problem this year. In fact, a final decision was postponed until it could be discussed thoroughly with the Commissioner It is agreed generally that while the deer herd is in good shape and hunting for most other resident game should be reasonably good this year, pheasants are down. Last fall sportsmen harvested one and one-third million pheasants. This fall it could drop appreciably.

Setting game seasons is not nearly as exciting as it once was —thank goodness. Time was when directors and commissioners wanted to hide for a week after setting seasons. Now the opening dates are pretty much standard and were announced months ago. The length of seasons, bag limits and zones are worked out carefully and appear to satisfy most sportsmen.

Of course there will be some honest disagreement and a few, thankfully only a very few, reacting like the crotchety old hunter who said, "I don't know what the season will be yet, but whatever it is, I ain't gonna like it".

Weekend Rainfall Retarded Flow of Traffic in June

The unusually stormy, rainy weather in June, especially on week-ends, had a correspondingly slowing effect on motor vehicle travel, according to the traffic counts taken daily by the 31 automatic traffic recorders operated by the Minnesota highway department throughout the state.

The usual jump in the traffic counts that normally takes place at the beginning of the summer vacation period, did not materialize this year.

Exceptions to the slow trend were found on T. H. 169 at Chaska where traffic was up 14 per cent; T. H. 10, southeast of Royalton (up 17 per cent) because of increased construction activity in the recorder area; T. H. 12, east of St. Paul, 13 per cent; IR 35, north of Owatonna, 8 per cent, and T. H. 14, west of Rochester, 16 per cent, the latter three seen as the result of increased tourist travel.

Soybean Support In Marshall Co. Will Be At $2.11

Premiums and Discounts Will Be Same as for 1961 Soybean Program

Prices for 1962-crop soybeans in Marshall county will be supported at $2.11 per bushel for soybeans grading No. 2 and containing from 13.8 to 14 per cent moisture, according to Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Argicultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. The schedule of premiums and discounts for the 1962 program is the same as for 1961.

In order to meet minimum eligibility requirements, soybeans must grade No. 4 or better and must contain not more than 14 per cent moisture.

The chairman reminded growers that, to be eligible for support under the 1962 operation, soybeans must be produced in 1962 and the producer in 1962 must maintain his 1959-60 average acreage of conserving and idle land on the farm. This same requirement was in effect for the 1961-crop soybean program.

As in the past, price support will be carried out through farm and warehouse storage loans and purchase agreements, which will be available from harvest through Jan. 31, 1963. The maturity date for loans will be May 31, 1963. Further information about the 1962-crop soybean price-support program may be obtained from the ASCS county office.

Fifty Companies Aid U.S. 4-H Clubs

Some Have Contributed for Period of 40 Years

More than half a hundred corporations, foundations and interested citizens provided over $1 million through the national 4-H service committee for the support and advancement of the 4-H programs, according to the organization's 1961 annual report just released.

In the report, Chris L. Christensen, president of the committee, says:

"Those of us in the business and civic world regard 4-H work as an unusual educational program which embodies the basic principles of free enterprise. We believe we have an obligation to help young people develop their abilities to the highest degree."

And, from the 4-H donor point-of-view, Raymond C. Firestone, president, Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, adds: "We are convinced that there is no better training ground than 4-H for the development of good citizenship, self-reliance, honest endeavor, respect for leadership and a cooperative attitude toward others."

Completing four decades of service to the youth movement, the nonprofit corporation reports average tenure of 4-H award donors at more than 17 years. Three firms have backed the 4-H movement for 40 years and two started their support in 1961.

The National 4-H Service Committee in cooperation with the extension service annually stages the National 4-H Club Congress and provides educational services nationally. It publishes a monthly magazine, "National 4-H News"; operates a 4-H merchandise service, and maintains a year-round public information program.

RRWC Aspirant Identifies Self

Robert M. Johnson Given State GOP Endorsement

Robert M. (Bob) Johnson, Republican endorsed candidate for railroad and warehouse commissioner, today took advantage of the state law which permits three words of descriptive identification on the ballot after his name.

Johnson this week informed the secretary of state's office that he wants the phrase, "Lakeville Farmer-Businessman" added to the ballot after his name

Johnson was permitted to do this because state law allows candidates who have the same surname to add three words of description.

Shortly after Johnson was endorsed by delegates at the state convention in June another Robert Johnson filed for the same office on the Republican ballot.

Robert M. (Bob) Johnson was the GOP standard bearer two years ago for the RR&WC. He campaigned vigorously throughout the state and went on to receive more than 650,000 votes in his first try at state politics.

THE OLD ADAGE

An old adage, indeed, that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

The "kids" on the farm are models of youthful efficiency. But they go a-fishin' whenever they can.

The business men, the housewives, the schoolchildren — they need their fishin' too!

But there is another way in which the old adage is true: ALL WORKING and no PRAYING leaves man a dull soul!

The God who created us never intended us to be able to get along without Him.

Our hands may sow seed, but they can't make it grow. Our minds may work out problems, but they can't solve the world's chaos. All of our efficiency hasn't brought us lasting happiness or firm hope.

But when we turn to our Christian faith, and seek its power through regular worship in our Churches — then we find the things we need and want most!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

LEADING the parade held Saturday afternoon in a drizzling rain which turned into a steady downpour was the above color guard from Thief River Falls. The parade was jointly sponsored by the local American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts, hosts to the IWVA convention, and the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the 8th annual Aquacade. Crowd attendance was cut down by the rain but cars along the parade route were jammed with viewers and a large number of people braved the drizzle to get a better view from sidewalks. By parade's end, marchers were soaked, floats were drenched and queens riding in convertibles were glad that the car tops were raised.

"Education Will Suffer" . . .

School Officials Face Tight Class Schedule

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

Richard Edlund, senior high school principal at Lincoln high school, thumbed a handful of brightly-colored cards as he contemplated two large sections of specially-made cubicles behind the desk in his office. Each little "cubbyhole" indicated a classroom space and an hour in the school day. The cards represented students. Then he started to explain the scheduling problems which make the situation especially involved this year, and he said, "Education will suffer—whether people realize it or not."

Due to an increase of about 40 students in the junior and senior high school from a year ago, the board of education has decided to adopt an eight-hour class day. This will mean that between 500 and 600 students will begin school at 8 a. m. and be dismissed at 3 p. m. Present plans call for 21 classes to be conducted daily during the first hour period. Although there will be eight hours in the overall school day, classes will be operated on a seven-hour school day schedule.

Addition of an hour to the school day will offer some relief in a crowded class schedule. The addition creates complications, however, for only city students can be included in the 8 a. m. classes. Rural students are exempt from the early-hour classes because the buses which provide their transportation also carry elementary students. All elementary classes will begin at 9 a. m.

Anticipated enrollment in the junior and senior high school this year is expected to be between 1,175 and 1,200 students. Scheduling classes for the numerous sections of the six grades is also made difficult by the board's decision not to use the second story of the old Washington building following reports from the state department of education and consulting engineer. This will result in the loss of four classrooms.

Program Curtailed

As a result of the number of students and classroom spaces available, the accelerated program will be abandoned except for the senior class. Grouping of students according to achievement will also be curtailed severely. The district's 60 teachers will be forced to teach at a median level for students with wider achievement and ability ranges. This is the situation to which the principal referred when he said "education will suffer."

With the additional hour in the school day, three "noon hours" will be held at the school, running from 11 to 2 p. m. The only time during the day when all students will be in the building at the same time will be from 9 to 11 a. m. and 2 to 3 p. m. There is not sufficient space to hold the students in the building when they

Langen Asks Loans on No. 5 Barley

Says Much Poor Quality Barley Being Harvested

Congressman Odin Langen Thursday requested that the secretary of agriculture extend Commodity Credit loans to the number five quality classification of barley in Minnesota. Langen, in a letter to Secretary Freeman, noted that the harvesting of barley has begun in the Red River Valley, where some of this year's barley crop is not of good quality because of the unusual season of excessive rains.

"I am sorry to note," wrote Langen, "that the quality may be such that some of the crop will fail to qualify for Commodity Credit loans." The Minnesota farmer-Congressman noted that such loans are now available only in the number one, two, three and four quality classifications.

Langen said that serious consideration should be given to extending Commodity Credit loans to number five barley so that those farmers experiencing low quality can retain this year's crop until such time as they feel it is advantageous to sell it.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Nielson and family of Minneapolis visited the past two weeks at the Pete Mellem home. Mrs. Mellem and her house-guests spent several days at the Vernon Mellems in Forest Lake, N. D.

Lynskey Given UND Scholarship

Thomas Lynskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lynskey of Thief River Falls and 1962 graduate of Lincoln high school, is one of four entering freshmen who has received a $500 Maxwell M. Upson scholarship at the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks. Other recipients are Richard Crockett of Langdon, Jeffrey Madsen of Jamestown and Tim Tangedahl of Bismarck, all North Dakota students.

The awards are made from the Upson Scholarship Fund established in 1958 by Maxwell Upson, a New York construction engineer, who received a bachelor of arts degree from UND in 1896 and an honorary doctorate in 1931. Basis for selection is mental competence, dependability, character and motivation, acceptance by contemporaries and capacity for leadership.

During his high school years Tom Lynskey served as president of the debate team, football student manager and was a participant in drama. He was also a member of the paper staff, string and concert orchestra, Latin club and Letterman's club and attended American Legion Boys State. He plans to major in English language and literature.

Weather Fails to Favor 1962 Jaycee Parade

Drizzling Rainfall Hampers Aquacade Event Saturday

The weather man failed to cooperate with the sponsors of the Saturday afternoon, and the event was staged in a drizzling rain, which made it necessary for the queen aspirants to conceal their charms in closed convertibles.

The procession, which included seven bands and drum corps units, nevertheless made an impressive spectacle, observed by a large gallery of spectators.

Musical groups participating included the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders of Winnipeg, the Grand Forks VFW post drum and bugle corps, Crookston high school drum and bugle corps, Midlle River and Newfolden high school bands, the Bridgeman Half-pints of Thief River Falls, and a Lincoln high school group.

Riding in convertibles, in addition to the Aquacade queen candidates, were Susanne Pitblado of Roseau, retiring queen; Miss Winnipeg, Miss Crookston, Miss Minnesota and Kathleen Hjelle of Argyle, Northwest Dairy Princess Heading the parade was the color guard and cars bearing IWVA, VFW and Legion officials. Floats included a Navy recruiting station replica of the atomic submarine Nautilus, supplied by Motec Industries; and entries of the Legion post, Jaycee chapter, Union State and Northern State banks, Chamber of Commerce, TRF and McIntosh Lions clubs, Bridgeman Creameries and the Explorer Boy Scout troop from Hibbing.

Other entries included a large group of saddle club members and their mounts and 40 et 8 locomotives supplied by the Thief River Falls and Crookston voitures.

TB Assn. Sponsors Health Workshop

70 Teachers to Attend Sessions August 20-24

To help build sound family life through education, the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association will conduct a school health workshop for the state's teachers Aug. 20-24. Co-sponsoring the sessions at Camp Lake Hubert near Brainerd are the state departments of health and education.

The workshop is set up to help teachers make a planned effort to guide their pupils towards standards and values needed to become responsible and healthy adults. Guides for teaching family life at specific grade levels will be worked out in group sessions.

Teachers will also attend educational sessions on alcohol, smoking, respiratory diseases and crash diets. They will become acquainted with services and materials available from the workshop's sponsoring agencies.

Scholarships offered by the Christmas Seal organization will enable 70 of the state's teachers to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Holen of Wayzata and Mr. and Mrs. George P. DeLong of St. Paul were guests Saturday at the N. A. Holen home.

Connie Ekeren Reigns Over 1962 Aquacade

Pageant Saturday Is Attraction Attended by Nearly 800 People

Proof that the best things often come in small packages was provided Saturday evening at the Aquacade queen pageant when Miss Connie Ekeren was selected as Miss Aquacade for 1962. The daugher of Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Ekeren of Thief River Falls, Connie was the smallest of eight finalists competing for the coveted crown and the opportunity to advance to district Miss Minneosta competition.

In making her way to the top of the list, diminutive Connie took first place in swimsuit and evening gown competition. Her talent act was an original oration, "People Need People", and was based on an experience as a result of her being an exchange student to Greece. Connie is 5' 2" tall, weighs 103 pounds, has brown hair and blue eyes and a 23-22-34 figure.

Finishing in a tie for the runner-up positions were Susan Kvikstad, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kvikstad of Thief River Falls, and Sally Johnston, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnston of Roseau. Sally won the talent division with a soprano solo, "Norwegian Echo Carol", while Susan's talent number was a piano solo, "Prelude" by Rachmaninoff.

Special Guests

Highlight of the 1962 Aquacade, the 8th annual event sponsored by the T. R. Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, the pageant was attended by about 800 persons. Special guests were Susanne Pitblado, Roseau, 1961 Miss Aquacade and talent division winner at the Miss Minnesota pageant, who crowned the new queen, and Judith Ann Lerstad, Bloomington, 1962 Miss Minnesota, who presented her saxophone talent number and assisted at the coronation.

Special entertainment was provided by Ken Kennedy and his troup of entertainers from Fargo. Visting royalty also introduced included Frances McInnis, Miss Winnipeg; Ruby Mathies, Miss Crookston; and Kathleen Hjelle, Argyle, 1962 Northwest Dairy Princess.

Other Events

Nearly 300 teenagers danced to the music of the Tornadoes at the teenage dance held Saturday evening at the city auditorium. The dance was the opening event of the three-day Aquacade celebration. Drizzling rain which developed into a downpour dampened the clothes if not the spirits of the marchers in the Saturday afternoon parade which was sponsored jointly by the Jaycees and local Legion and VFW Posts, cohosts to the annual International War Veterans Alliance convention which concludes here today.

Sunny skies prevailed on Sunday, however, and the Aquacade water show played to a near-capacity crowd at Tindolph Park on

D., was elected president of the IWVA auxiliary to succeed Mrs. Dodds.

The group is backing a plan to have a cemetery established on both sides of the United States and Canadian border, with Canadian veterans to be buried in Canada and U. S. veterans to be interred in the United States. It was also noted that Thief River Falls is second only to Winnipeg in membership with a total of 202 members in the alliance. U. Construction of a new postoffice at Plummer was further advanced Wednesday with the announcement by Postmaster General E. Edward Day that a contract has been awarded to Ed Langlie, Thief River Falls, to build and rent the building to the Postoffice department, according to the Oklee Herald.

Under the department's program Langlie will construct the new building and rent it to the department. It will be across the street east from the Plummer Locker Service.

The Department's capital investment is limited substantially to postal equipment, while the building remains under private ownership, with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

The new postoffice will be of brick and cement block and is expected to be completed on December 1, 1962. It will have an interior space of 920 square feet with an area of 2475 square feet for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION is the Valley Home Society's new home for the aged, which is scheduled for completion by the first of June. The architect's sketch of the building, prepared by Wells and Denbrook of Grand Forks, shows the building as it will appear from Trunk Highway No. 32 across from the Armory, the main entrance in the center fronting on Emil Street.

The building will provide beds for 67 residents in single and double rooms, and three apartments that will be completely equipped for housekeeping. At the extreme left will be the solarium and the combination dining room and meeting hall is at the rear of the cross section extending back from the main entrance. The new building will replace the Valley Christian Home which has been operated in the old Central hotel building over a period of 15 years.

The building is being financed mainly by a government long-term loan. A drive is now under way to collect the urgently needed pledges to meet the local share of the construction cost and to purchase the furniture and equipment which will be entirely a local responsibility.

J. A. Hellquists Observe Their Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hellquist celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently with open house at Covenant Church in Rosewood hosted by their seven children. About 200 persons were in attendance, including all of the children, and four other couples who have celebrated their golden anniversaries also.

Following a short program in the church, with devotions led by Rev. Blackwood, a reception was held in the church basement. The couple's wedding picture, flanked by golden tapers, and surrounded by gilded leaves, shared attention with the anniversary cake which was baked by their youngest daughter, Mrs. Joe Kjome. Later the guests held an informal gathering on the church lawn, at which pictures and movies were taken, and reminiscences shared.

The children of the couple, of whom seven of the original 10 are living, are, Mrs. Willard (Lydia) Fox, Minneapolis; Mrs. G. D. (Clara) Boyd, Santa Monica, Calif.; Mrs. Roy (Inez) Hagberg, Hibbing; Mrs. Joe (Lorraine) Kjome, Minneapolis; Clarence, Cedar Lake, Ind.; Victor, Buena Park, Calif.; and Walter, Roseau.

Mr. Hellquist was born in Newfolden township in 1878, and recalled that, as a youth, he carried a pailful of eggs from Rosewood to Thief River Falls to trade for groceries. Coffee at that time sold for a dime a pound. In order to have pocket money for the 4th of July, they dug snake root to sell.

He moved to Dickinson, S. D. in 1909.

Mrs. Hellquist, born in Russia, came to America at the age of 10, living first in the Dickinson, N. D. area. The couple married in 1912 and lived near that city for some time. Five successive drouth years forced them to leave that area, and they moved back to Mr. Hellquist's birthplace, near Newfolden, which was their home for several years. KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. VERNON WOLD

Mrs. Vernon Wold, who lives southwest of the city, had just completed a batch of apricot jam when she had an inspiration to share it with Karnival readers. She and her family find it most pleasing not only as a spread for bread, but as a filling for cookies and a topping for ice cream, as well. She says it is not long in preparation, either.

"DIFFERENT" APRICOT JAM

7 cups peeled, chopped apricots (They are easy to peel when immersed in boiling water for a short time, after which the skins slip off readily.)
6 cups sugar
1 cup crushed pineapple (do not drain)
½ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons grated orange rind

Combine and stir well. Cook until thick, stirring often to prevent scorching. Pour into hot, sterilized jars. When partly cooled, seal with melted parrafin wax. (We lay a string across the top of the jar first; this settles into the hot wax, and when cooled, the wax is easily removed with the help of this string "handle."

Mrs. Wold has five children; their ages range from 17 down to 4. All but the yougest are active in 4-H work; the oldest has been a 4-H'er for six years.

Farming is a family affair with the Wolds; they built their own farm buildings, and Mrs. Wold says that the children co-operate so well that they are able to maintain their 240-acre farm even though Mr. Wold is employed at the Home Lumber Co. This cooperation, she stated, is the only thing that makes it possible for her to do the family's sewing (she makes most of their clothes) and still have time in which to function as a 4-H leader, in addition to all the other duties attendant upon a farm wife.

They are members of First Lutheran Church of this city.

Cost-sharing Project Signup Is Scheduled to Start Next Monday

Chairman Edward A. Johnson of the Marshall county ASC committee announced today the opening of the 1963 agricultural conservation program. Initial requests for cost-sharing will be limited to tree planting practices only. The initial sign-up period will be from August 13 to May 1, 1963.

Through the ACP, the federal government provides cost-sharing of up to 80 per cent of the average cost of planting approved species of trees to farm owners and operators who request assistance. The Minnesota conservation department division of forestry, and the soil conservation service, through cooperative agreements with the Marshall county committee, will provide technical assistance to each approved applicant.

This service will include advice to the farmer on what species of trees to plant, the proper time to plant, what site preparation is necessary to insure a good stand of trees, and wherever necessary, will provide proper designs for windbreaks and shelterbelts.

Chairman Johnson urged each farmer who intends to request cost-sharing for tree planting under the 1963 ACP to do so as promptly as possible. He stated that requests filed now will receive prompt consideration.

Although 77 per cent of all Minnesota traffic accidents happen in urban areas, 71 per cent of the traffic deaths occur in rural traffic accidents.

Summary Reveals

Cooler July Readings Favor Crop Prospects

Temperatures averaging several degrees cooler than July of previous years may prove to be a partial salvation for grain crops which have been seeded in the area. Most grains are shallow-rooted this year due to heavy moisture and hot weather would have certainly curtailed the progress of the crop toward anything like a normal yield. Rainfall for July of this year totaled 5.18 inches, the greatest July total since 1958 when 6.14 inches of rain were received in July.

High temperature for the month this year was 84 degrees on July 29 with the low reading of 43 degrees coming only a day later on July 30. This was similar to 1960 when the high of 90 was reached on the 30th after the month's low of 38 had been recorded July 29. High readings in July this year averaged 73.93 degrees and lows averaged 54.96 for a mean temperature of 64.45 degrees.

Respective high and low readings for July were 92 and 42 in 1961, 90 and 38 in 1960, 91 and 43 in 1959 and 91 and 42 in 1958. July precipitation was 4.98 inches in 1961, 1.10 inches in 1960, 4.5 inches in 1959 and 6.14 inches in 1958. Average high and low readings were 78.9 and 55.0 in 1961, 81.29 and 57.09 in 1960, and 79.7 and 56.7 in 1958.

July could be considered quite a consistent month from the standpoint of temperature. High readings of exactly 80 degrees were noted on five days, 81 degrees on three days and 84 degrees once. The mercury dipped to 69 degrees twice and all other highs were in the 70's. Seven low readings reached the 60's, five were in the 40's and the remainder in the 50's during the month. Highest low was 65 degrees on July 7 while the lowest high was 69 degrees on July 2 and 15.

Total precipitation received at the Thief River Falls municipal airport since the rains began this spring is 16.32 inches which includes 5.18 inches in July, 3.07 inches in June, 7.53 inches in May and .54 inch in April. High and low temperatures and precipitation for each day of July this year include the following:

Rendering Plant in RLF Expanding

Plans to Process Turkey Feathers in New Addition

A major building expansion program which will include a new plant for processing feathers into feed and fertilizer was started last week by the Red Lake Falls Rendering Plant, the RLF Gazette reports.

According to Elmer LaChance, manager, initial work was started Monday on footings for a new 16x24 block office building and a large scale for weighing trucks. The office building will be located southeast of the present one which is occupying the area scheduled for the 60x60 feather plant.

Part of the feather processing building would be two floors and it would operate seasonally from July through January. Turkey feathers from northwest area packers would be processed into material for feed and fertilizer. Equipment alone for the new plant would run over $40,000 and six additional employees would be required.

The rendering plant is currently one of the largest employers in the city, and has 17 men on the payroll.

There is an accident on Minnesota highways and roads every seven minutes. Someone is injured in traffic every 15 minutes, and someone is killed in traffic every 12 hours.

SWIMSUIT division winner in the Miss Aquacade contest sponsored by the Thief River Falls Jaycees was Miss Connie Ekeren. Also winner in the evening gown competition, she went on to win the Miss Aquacade title and will now be eligible for competition in the district Miss Minnesota pageant. Connie was the smallest entry in the event, standing 5' 2" tall, weighing only 103 pounds and having a 33-22-34 figure.

Over Two Inches of Rain Fell Here Since Thursday

Mercury Hits High of 88 Sunday; Lightning Razes Barn South of Newfolden

Slightly more than two inches of rain was recorded at the Thief River Falls airport during the weekend during which the Jaycee Aquacade and IWVA convention were held in the city.

Of the total, .35 inch was recorded up to Friday morning, 1.10 inches Saturday and .62 inch Sunday night. Fortunately Sunday's shower held off until the Aquacade program had been completed

Storm warnings were issued Sunday, but the only evidence of it in this area was a lightning bolt that struck a barn on the Lynn Albaugh farm seven miles south of Newfolden at 8 p. m. while the family was away. The barn, with some equipment and three pigs, was destroyed.

High and low temperatures here were: Thursday, 88 and 56; Friday, 79 and 60; Saturday, 78 and 59; Sunday, 88 and 60; and this morning, 62.

Trees for Landscape Planting

Trees should be selected for their specific use in the landscape design. They may be used for shade, for framing the home, screening undesirable views, for boulevard plantings or as specimen plantings.

Trees for shade should be dense enough to provide the desired shelter from the sun; yet enough light should penetrate the foliage to allow other plants to grow under the trees. In turf areas deep-rooted trees are most desirable.

Trees for framing the house should be a size proportionate to the dwelling. Two-story homes require larger trees than low ramblers to. The basic form of a tree may often complement the roof lines and design of the house. Groupings of evergreens as well as multiple plantings of deciduous species may be used.

Screening trees may be dense enough to block out an undesirable view, or they may provide a light screen that merely breaks up the pattern of the view. Where air circulation is important, the light screen may be more desirable. The height of screening trees may vary because it is often possible to place them so the ground view is destroyed but a more desirable view of the horizon is created.

Specimen trees usually have a special quality for a part of a season, such as flowering, fruiting, autumn color or variegation of foliage. Specimen trees are used for focal interest, to divert attention from less desirable views or for plantings for the interior-exterior relationship of the home.

Boulevard trees are often controlled by city or village ordinances. Be sure to check on these regulations before you select trees for your boulevard.

Controlling Weeds In the Landscape

Weeds are often difficult to control in landscape plantings. But proper use of cultural methods and chemicals can do much to ease the burden of weed control—a tiring garden chore, at best.

Weeds should be controlled when they are small and growing rapidly. That's the time they are most easily killed. Hoeing around shrubs and flowers is easy, but when the weeds become larger it's a difficult job. See that your hoeing is very shallow so you do not injure the roots of shrubs and plants. Pulling weeds while they are small does less damage than waiting till the weeds are heavily rooted.

Weed control in the lawn is relatively easy with proper chemicals. Most broadleaved weeds can be killed with 2, 4-D in the amine form. To avoid unnecessary drift, be sure to apply it when there is little wind.

Crabgrass in the lawn can be controlled by spraying with phenyl mercuric acetate, potassium cyanate, disodium monomethyl arsenate or ammonium methyl arsenate. Follow the manufacturer's directions carefully.

A summer mulch 2 to 3 inches deep in the flower border will control most weeds and conserve moisture. Compost, peat, sphagnum moss or buckwheat hulls may be used for a mulch.

TELSTAR, the Bell System's experimental communications satellite now orbiting the earth, was launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company on July 10. The 170-pound space microwave station has been undergoing a series of voice, TV, data and photo transmission tests as well as tests to determine the longevity and reliability of the satellite and the land stations. In all, Telstar is measuring and reporting on 115 items as it swings around the earth at an average speed of 16,000 miles per hour at altitudes up to 3,500 miles. Telstar is a unique experiment in that it is the first time that a private company has built a satellite and paid for cost of launching with its own funds. Overall cost of the Telstar project is about $50 million, excluding the $3 million launching costs. The Bell System has spent more than one billion dollars on research and development in fields which are meaningful to the satellite program.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

With the canning season in full swing, I receive several questions on canning and freezing. If you have questions on freezing or the know-how to freeze a particular food, extension bulletin 244 entitled "Freezing Foods for Home Use," is available in the extension office. It will explain and answer several of your questions.

Also available is a folder, number 100, on home canning. If you have been using old time-tables, it would be wise to pick up one of these folders which contain a time table which is up to date. In looking over some of the old time-tables, it was surprising how the time has either increased or decreased in length.

A term that I wish to see and hear no homemaker using this year is oven canning. In simplest language, it just isn't safe. Why? An explosion can and does often take place when the jars are in the oven. Also the internal temperature of the food in the center of the jar does not reach the desired temperature to kill the bacteria and enzymes. This results in food spoilage and maybe the people eating could receive food poisoning. So just don't do any oven canning!

Don't mix perfume and fabrics! If you apply perfume directly to your clothing, you will find dye rings, color removal, permanent stains and a disagreeable odor. Put it on body pressure points. Many women always use perfume behind the ears or on their wrists where the perfume doesn't touch their clothing. Some costume jewelry is especially designed for perfume, so you can wear your favorite scent there.

Dairy sour cream has many uses. Stir dairy sour cream into sauces and gravies at the end of cooking, adding only a tablespoon at a time. Heat the sour cream gently—never boil it. For saucing cooked vegetables or garnishing a vegetable or fruit salad, cook a sour cream hollandaise-type mixture over warm water, not direct heat

Now that the county fair is over, the next major climax in the 4-H program is the Achievement Banquet. But before that there are several 4-H members who will be selected for awards. If any 4-H member over 14 would like to apply for a trip to the National Club Congress held in Chicago, National 4-H Conference in Washington, D. C., and Camp Minnewanca, they are asked to stop at the extension office and pick up a standard report. You may not think you have a chance, but it is to your benefit if you fill one out now.

Another award that must be applied for and application returned to the extension office in August is the 4-H key award. This award is given by the Cities Service company to those boys and girls doing outstanding leadership in their club, community and county. So here again, any boy or girl should stop in and pick up a form if they are over 14 years of age.

Many fresh fruits are on the market now. To be sure of getting a good buy, here are some shopping hints.

Always look for fruit that is firm and heavy for its size, free from mold or soft spots and with a pleasing aroma. Size doesn't influence the quality of the flavor. But the size that is most abundant will be the most economical.

If you are a weight-conscious family, fruit is a good item for much of it has a comparatively low calorie content.

The old saying, "An Apple a day keeps the doctor away," does more than just that. Apples are low in calories, yet are nourishing and satisfying. They also help to quench thirst, build sound teeth and rosy complexions, and are good for digestion. Apples contain small amounts of vitamin A, C, and B-2 plus thiamine and riboflavin and provide a little calcium, phosphorus, (iron), (copper) and (magnesium).

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

With a serious water erosion problem on his farm, Birney Wilkins, Crow Wing County farmer, requested assistance from SCS technicians at Brainerd. Fifteen acres of contour strip cropping were applied in 1957 and a 4-year rotation of corn-grain-hay-hay was followed, leaving alternate strips in hay each year. Wilkins recently told Erwin Cederholm, SCS work unit conservationist, that he has observed no erosion on the field since the practice was applied and he has been able to keep half the acreage in corn or grain.

"Best improvement I ever made on the farm," says John Falk, Tenstrike, of his pasture stockwater pit. Falk had several hundred ewes pastured three-quarters of a mile from his farmstead; had to haul water to the pasture since there were no watering facilities nor supply available in the pasture. He built the pit with help from his Soil Conservation District and with cost-sharing assistance from ACP, tapped a source of underground water that completely filled the pit and furnished an adequate supply of water. County Agent Fritz Gehrels says Falk now has better distribution of grazing besides saving countless hours and the expense of hauling water.

Don't pass up the field day at your nearest Agricultural Experiment Station. Features include tours of experimental crop and livestock projects, a speaking program and a plant problem clinic. Bring in insect, plant disease or weed specimens for identification and control recommendations. Dates and places are: July 7, Lamberton; 10, Rosemount; 11, Waseca; 12, Morris; 17, Crookston; 19, Grand Rapids; 20, Duluth.

"Will you make a soil map of my farm and explain what it means?" asked D. Van Sickle, Blue Earth County farmer, of Dean Campbell, SCS technician at Mankato. When the map was prepared and described to him he was much surprized at the accuracy and detail. "Now I understand why certain spots on my farm act like they do, and," Van Sickle added, "I can make allowances for them."

Cleaner cows and more milk because of a pasture pit he installed with help from SCS technicians. That's the experience of Norbert Blaike, who farms near Foley. Blaike says before he had the pit, water supplies in the pasture were inadequate most of the season and his cows were constantly dirty from wading into a slough for a drink. Cows now enter on a firm ramp and drink without wading thru mud. And County Agent Burton Olson says production has increased and Blaike's cows now prefer to return to the pit for a drink, rather than drink from the tank at the buildings.

"The erosion control structure I installed two years ago really solved my water problem" says Foy Kelley, cooperator with the Blue Earth County SCS. Kelley told James O'Meara, SCS technician at Makato, that while several heavy rains have occurred since the structure was built, water ran through the emergency spillway only once. Emergency flow through the spillway was small and no erosion has taken place.

The Library Corner

by Tom Lynskey

The Carnegie Public Library began a complete re-registration of borrowers on the first day of January, 1958. Since this time, accurate and extensive statistics of borrowers and library trends have been made available for examination and interpretation. These statistics reflect not only the rapidly growing needs of the library, but they also reflect the increasing interest in good reading habits in our community.

On Dec. 31, 1959, library borrowers totaled 3,320 (this figure does not include 433 elementary borrowers). A breakdown of this figure reveals that there were 1,286 adult and 2,034 juvenile borrowers. On Dec. 31, 1960, library borrowers totaled 4,045, an increase of 725. A breakdown of this figure reveals that there were 1,577 adult and 2,468 juvenile borrowers.

On December 31, 1961, library borrowers totaled 4,553, an increase of 508 over the previous year. A breakdown of this figure reveals that there were 1,801 adult and 2,752 juvenile borrowers.

Thus, in the short time of two years, 515 adults and 718 jueveniles had come to enjoy and appreciate the facilities of the library. I am sure that there are others in the community who are not familiar with the library. This would be a good time to step forward and be counted, and at the same time to pick up a good book, or two, or three.

This week I am reviewing two books: "The Little Toy Dog" by William L. White, and "High Dam Over Nubia" by Leslie Greener.

"The Little Toy Dog" by William L. White is the courageous story of Captain John R. McKone and Captain Freeman B. Olmstead, the two RB-47 flyers shot down and imprisoned by the Russiams. The title refers to the good luck mascot carried by Major Willard Palm, commander of the RB-47, which was lost with him and the rest of the plane's crew.

This book is the first full, exclusive, behind-the-headlines story of the long and heroic ordeal of the two young United States Air Force officers who survived the shooting down of their reconnaissance plane by a Soviet fighter in July 1960, and were imprisoned in Moscow's dread Lubyanka prison. Captains McKone and Olmstead were accused by the Russians of espionage, which is punishable by death, for allegedly violating the Soviet sea frontier, although their plane had been many miles away from it at all times. They managed to resist all Soviet efforts to obtain "confessions" from them through cajolery, trickery, and threats of death, and were finally and unexpectedly released after seven months of imprisonment.

This moving book is also the story of the courageous young wives who kept going at home and helped so much to sustain the morale of the two men through their letters to them in prison. This is a story that Americans cannot afford to ignore, but also one in which they may take great pride.

"High Dam Over Nubia" by Leslie Greener is a personal account of the great historic land about to be inundated. As the High Dam, which is about five miles above the Aswan dam, rises on the Nile, a lake is forming that will soon be 300 miles long. Under its waters a very ancient country, rich in pre-historic relics and in the monuments of Egyptian, Roman, Turkish, and Christian art, will vanish completely.

This book sets out the reason why the High Dam must be built, examines the loss to human knowledge it may involve, and describes in personal terms what certain groups and individuals are doing to save as much as possible. All the world is aware of the United Nations' desperate effort to preserve the colossal figures at Abu Simbel by sawing out a section of mountain and hoisting it bodily above the flood, and of the proposal to put a dike around the island of Philae, the reputed burial place of the Egyptian goddes Osiris.

Leslie Greener also tells of the fascinating human story of Nubia as it appears to one who has come to love that rapidly disappearing land.

Goodridge Youth Seriously Hurt in Auto Crash

102 feet with two wheels on the shoulder of the road and the right wheels in the ditch. The vehicle then hit the field crossing, sailed for 60 feet through the air and crashed front-end first into the bottom of a six-foot ditch, turning end over end and coming to rest on its top facing southeast.

One of the youths walked to the Donald Kalsness farm and Kalsness took Wayne and Johnson to Northwestern Hospital in this city. Harder was found at the Jake Pahlen farm and also brought to the local hospital. Harder received cuts and bruises on the head, face and body and suffered a fractured left arm. Wayne received cuts which required a number of stitches to close.

Knutson said that Harder was charged with careless driving as he apparently fell asleep at the wheel. There were no skid marks prior to the car's veering off the surfaced highway. Harder appeared in Crookston justice court and was assessed $31 in fines and costs on the careless driving charge.

Visiting Canadians Praise Friendly TRF

Editor's Note: For years we have been telling others that Thief River Falls is a good town filled with good people. Here is a chance for us to let someone else tell the same story for us in different words.

Dear Editor:

For some time now we have been visiting Thief River Falls on our vacations and not only found it to be a lovely vacation spot but also found the people in it to be most friendly. We would like it to be known that this was really a comfort to us the other day.

While here, our son was hurt in a bicycle accident on a road leading into town. A farmer passing by in his truck stopped and assisted by clipping loose the spokes which were crushing his leg. We wish to thank him for his help at that time.

We also would like to express our gratitude to Mrs. Wold, a nurse at Northwestern Hospital, who was kind enough to bring our son and niece home and explain to us in a very calm way what happened. She seemed to be a great comfort to the children who were naturally quite upset at the time.

We feel you have every right to be proud of your town and the fine people in it.

Also a special thanks to Dr. Martin and attending nurse who gave excellent care and were most kind.

Very sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. M. Reichardt

School Officials Ponder Problems About Schedules

are not in class or activities. This will mean that a large number of students will be downtown during the major portion of the day.

At his disposal for scheduling, in cooperation with junior high school principal Francis Hamerlinck, Edlund has 43 classroom spaces. These include the vocational agriculture room, agriculture shop (which is shared part-time with vocational school students), auditorium stage, band and music rooms, science laboratories, home economics rooms, industrial arts shops, gymnasiums and health rooms and "any space we can use for classes".

All Rooms Used

This year the auditorium stage will be used four hours as a classroom, the cafeteria as a study hall, agriculture class will be moved into the agriculture shop to make a space in the vacated area for algebra, and other changes will be made. Students will be bunched to provide the bulk necessary for most complete utilization of each classroom space, resulting in crowded classrooms not designed for large class size.

Next year the problems will be even more acute. This year the graduating class will be comparatively small—about 160 students. An increase of 80 more students next year will have to be met in classroom scheduling for the 1963-1964 school term. Elective subjects offered to students will be restricted to a much greater degree.

"I would like to make it very clear that this is a problem which has nothing whatsoever to do with the failure of the bond issue this spring," Edlund said. "This is a problem which we would have had to face no matter what the election result was. The students are here now and we have to try to provide for them in the best manner that we can."

School Opens Aug. 29

Schools in Thief River Falls will open on Wednesday, August 29, following a two-day teachers' workshop on Monday and Tuesday. All students in grades 7 through 12 will report to the school at 9 a. m. on opening day. Students in grades 10, 11 and 12 will report to the school at 9 a. m. on opening day. Students in grades 10, 11 and 12 will report to the auditorium and those in grades 7, 8 and 9 will meet in the gymnasium. They will be instructed in school procedure and told where to get their program cards prior to opening of the class schedule. Classes at 8 a. m. will begin on Thursday, August 30.

"Scheduling is not yet completed and we have not definitely determined which city students will begin school at 8 a. m.," Edlund states. "Students will be notified of their class schedule when pro- August 29. It will only add to the confusion if parents or students call the school prior to opening day."

Elementary Program

George Stockman, director of elementary education, noted that grade school classes will also begin at 9 a. m. on August 29. Present plans are to hold classes for the retarded in First Lutheran church parish house and two sections of elementary classes in the armory. Larger sections will be noted in several grades and the district is still looking for suitable spaces for additional classrooms.

Registration is now being taken at the director's office at Washington school for students who have not attended Thief River Falls elementary schools in previous years. Parents registering their youngsters for kindergarten must have a certified birth certificate from the clerk of court to indicate that the youngster is five years of age before September 1 of this year. Hospital or baptismal gram cards are distributed on certificates are not acceptable, Stockman said.

Sunday afternoon. In addition to water ski acts presented in cooperation with the Thief River Falls Water Sports club, the afternoon program included a horseshoe contest, concert by the Thief River Falls Municipal-Legion band under the direction of James Solsten, boat parade on the river and swimming events for youngsters which featured a special diving exhibition.

Weather Warnings

Extremely humid weather made the afternoon uncomfortable for the many people who flocked to the park to picnic and watch the free events. Severe weather warnings, including predictions for heavy hail and damaging winds, were announced over the public address system early in the afternoon but the crowd stayed on in spite of the announcement.

Albert Tollefson of Beltrami successfully defended his horseshoe pitching title by defeating Robert Flynn of Thief River Falls in the championship round. In the consolation round, Alvin Olson of Thief River Falls won over Kenneth Ekre of Hawley.

FIRE CAUSES MOST ACCIDENTS IN U. S.

Heat and fire are involved in more personal accidents each year than anything else, reports the University of Michigan Medical Center. Burns kill 6,000 Americans each year, hospitalize another 70,000 and affect countless millions more. Sixty per cent of burn injuries occur in or near the home, the report states.

The grunts, squeaks, purrs and knocks of fish communicating with fish—sounds first discovered by the sensitive underwater listening devices developed during World War II—have meanings all their own and the U. S. Navy is trying to find out what they are. The male toad fish of Chesapeake Bay, for example, grunts to warn fish away from his nest and makes a sound like a boat whistle during the spawning season, apparently to help the female find him. The Navy has been anxious about underwater rackets since it found that the sound of enemy submarines could go undetected in schools of snapping shrimp.

Artery 'blowouts', often fatal, are being treated with a rapid-hardening plastic sprayed on weak spots of arteries leading to the brain, reports the University of Chicago Medical School.

Dunes damaged by recent severe storms along the Atlantic coast will be stabilized by a covering of tough beach grass, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The rapid-spreading grass will be seeded along hundreds of miles of shoreline from New Jersey to North Carolina where its natural sources of supply have been all but wiped out. The grass will form a barrier, preventing sand from blowing inland.

Auto colors are signs of the times and of the car buyer's mood as well, reports Holland Color. Full-toned blue, green and black cars are popular during depressed periods, while lighter tones and delicate color shades compliment the buyer's happy frame of mind during boom times, the company says.

A bug-powered radio transmitter powerful enough to transmit over 15 miles may herald an era in which harmless bacteria will supply electric light for entire cities. The transmitter was powered by bacteria feeding on sugar in a test tube. Research on this "biochemical fuel cell" is being supported by the U. S. Navy.

Pirates Nip TRF in Playoffs 5-4

The league-champion Crookston Pirates, trailing the Thieves by a 4-1 score, rallied for three runs in the eighth inning, and then drilled across a run in the ninth inning to mark up a 5-4 win in a Norman-Polk league playoff game played at Crookston on Sunday afternoon.

The Thieves, as a result of their loss on Sunday, are in the losers' bracket in the league playoffs and will play the loser of the Twin Valley vs. Fosston game. The game is slated for Wednesday night.

In Sunday's game it was apparent that lefty Freddy Jensen, after giving up but one run and four hits to the Pirates in seven innings, was weakened by the ninety-degree weather and the high humidity that prevailed. In the eighth the Pirates tallied three runs to knot the game at 4-all; and in the ninth, a double by Jerry Lindell, a fly ball to right field by Rod Oistad, who reached out and hit a pitch as Jensen was attempting to give the Crookston manager an intentional pass, sent Lindell to third base after the catch, and then Pete Mickelson, who had taken up the Crookston pitching chores in the sixth, banged a single to center field to drive in the winning run.

For four innings, the game was a pitcher's duel between Jensen and Crookston's righthander, Dick Palmer, with honors about even. In the first four innings, Jensen gave up two hits and no runs, and Palmer allowed a hit, a line-drive single by Harlie Drees in the fourth, and no runs.

In the fifth the Thieves drove Palmer off the mound. With one away, Dennis Bakke doubled down the left-field foul line; Jensen lined a double to right field; Dick Williams drilled a single to center field; and John Aune added another center-field single. Rex Rupert was called in in relief, and the lanky righthander, who was handicapped by a sore arm, retired the Thieves without further scoring. But in the sixth, the locals pounded out three hits, including a ground-rule double by Joey Poole, to score one run and take a 4-1 lead.

In Crookston's eighth inning, three hits, with Fritz Forrester's two-run double being the "power" blow of the Pirates' rally, a base on balls, a wild pitch, and a fielder's choice, accounted for three runs, to tie the game at 4-all, Setting the stage for Pete Mickelson's game-winning single in the ninth.

Manager Rod Oistad's Crookston Pirates, with a season's record of twelve wins and two losses, won the Norman-Polk league baseball title for the 1962 season. The Twin Valley Twins, with a mark of ten wins and four losses, gained the runner-up position. And manager Dave Carlin's Fosston Jets, with nine wins and five losses, earned third place.

Joey Poole's Thief River Falls Thieves and Chuck Johnson's Fertile Independents shared fourth place with seven wins and seven losses apiece. And in a game to decide fourth place, and a berth in the league's double-elimination playoffs, the Thieves scored a 13-2 win over Fertile in a game played on the Fertile diamond Thursday night.

In a playoff game played at Crookston on Sunday afternoon, the league-champion Pirates edged out the Thief River Falls Thieves, 5-4. The win moved the Pirates into the winners' bracket, and the Crookston club will play the winner of the Twin Valley vs. Fosston game. While the Thieves, in the losers' bracket, will meet the loser of the Twin Valley vs. Fosston tilt. These playoff games are scheduled for Wednesday night.

Schedule, Thursday, August 9
Wilson Bros. vs. Ben Franklin
Bjorkman's Clothing vs. Oen's Appliance
Times vs. Ekeren Pharmacy
Northern Chevrolet vs. Coast-to-Coast

The Times' trapshooting squad clinched at least a tie for the trap shoot league title for the 1962 season by defeating the Bjorkman's Clothing team, 118 to 115, while the runner-up Wilson Bros., were being held to a 118 to 118 tie by the Coast-to-Coast. With but two weeks of competition remaining, the Times hold a four-point lead over the second place Wilson Bros. A win or a tie in one of the remaining two matches on the schedule would give the Times' shooters their second league title in the past three years.

In Thursday evening's shoot, which was handicapped by blustery weather later in the evening, the Times carded the following scores: Bill Dahlquist, 21-4; Clarence Mattson, 22-1; George Mostue, 19-5; Jim Rude, 21-1; and Marv Lundin, 21-3. The Bjorkman's had a 25-straight from captain Sandy Wilson. Other Bjorkman scorers were Pat Fischer, 20-2; Steve Skadsen, 23-0; Tom Ekeren, 16-7; and Keith Mackenroth, 14-8.

The Wilson Bros. had their championship hopes dimmed when they were held to 118-118 draw by the Coast-to-Coast. Stan Wilson scored a 21-0, Si Schantzen a 24-0, Al Tonder a 22-3, Roy Peterson a 25-0, and Merv Skadsen a 20-3. Peterson's 25-straight shared the evening's high gun honors with Sandy Wilson. For the Coast-to-Coast squad, Don Olson had a 21-1, Fred Mittelstadt an 18-5, Frenchy Cloutier a 19-8, Ike Hoglin a 17-8, and Reuben Carlson a 17-5.

The Northern Chevrolet scored a four-bird win, 114 to 110, over the Ekeren Pharmacy. For the Chevvy's, Roy Jorgenson had a 20-4, Erling Torgerson a 20-1, Ted LaCoursiere a 19-4, Jim Buening a 23-1, and Walt Jung a 14-8. The Pharmacy had a pair of "25's" in Tony Dorn with a 24-1 and Ray Thyren with a 23-3. Ole Ekeren scored a 21-3 and Stub Pahlen a 21-2.

The Ben Franklin squad moved up into third place in the league standings with a 103 to 81 win over a four-man Oen's Appliance team. For the winners, Bill Pederson had a 19-8, Gene Gaer a 16-4, Bill Ranta a 14-3, Cliff Bjorkman a 19-3, and Peter Carlson a 15-4. For the losers, Walt Fischer notched a 23-2, Orvis Olen a 14-8, Lloyd Johnson a 5-8 and Vay Raverts a 16-5.

Softball's Week of Decision

This, the last week of the regular schedule for the city softballers, could be the week in which the league championship is decided. And Tuesday evening's game, between the Hartz Stores and the Bridgeman's, could be the "crucial" game of the week.

In an earlier game between the two teams, played on July 3rd, the Hartz scored an 11 to 7 win. But the warm and humid weather of the past couple of days should be to the benefit of the veteran players on the Bridgeman's. The orange-and-black squad has several players who have been active in softball for fifteen or sixteen years, and they need this hot weather!

Game time on Tuesday is at 6:30 p. m. And it will be rubber-arm Bob Carlson or Black Jack Drury on the mound for the Bridgeman's, while Hartz will rely on snap-balling Kerm Malberg.

Age vs. Youth

A couple of "age vs. youth" golf matches were played over the local course this past week, and in both instances the "oldsters" defeated the "youngsters".

Roger Tunberg, captain and coach of the Tunberg Motors golf team, currently leading the city golf league, and Roy Lee, a team member, played a medal play match against Frank Tunberg and Dr. A. E. Jacobson. Frank, who is Roger's dad, and Dr. Jake scored a six-stroke win over Rog and Roy.

And on Sunday morning, Art Langseth and Lloyd Brunsberg, who aren't old by any means, but can be termed as mature, easily defeated Nicky Carlson and Bob Craik in a match-play contest. As Art explained, we had the "boys" five-down in a four-hole match. And, added Lloyd, "We kind of shook the boys up when we wouldn't sell them any of our Mulligans, and we have a couple of Mulligans to spare."

Speaking of golf. There is a match on today, starting at 4:00 p. m. that should provide some entertainment, and be profitable for the boys who dive for golf balls. Referring to the annual Rotary vs. Lions match, play will start at 4:00 p. m. today, Monday, and it will probably be after dark before the final foursome comes in.

He's Making Progress

Righthander Jim Turner, who was a star pitcher for the Crookston high school Pirates the past several seasons, is in Organized Baseball, playing with the Geneva club of the class D NYP league.

Jim, who has been used largely in relief, is pitching well enough to get into the pitching statistics that are printed in the Sporting News. As of last week, Turner, pitching with the sixth place club in the six-team league, had pitched in fifteen games, hurled sixty-nine innings, struck out fifty-three batsmen, won three games and lost four, and had an earned run average of 4.18.

The Geneva club is a farm team of the Cincinnati Reds of the National league.

It Was a Blow

Russ Embury, leader of the anti-Twins faction in this area, can't sustain many blows like the one he received on Thursday night. Here's the situation: The Twins were playing the Baltimore Orioles at Baltimore, and entering the ninth inning, Hoyt Wilhelm, the knuckle-ball relief pitcher of the Orioles, and who boasts an earned-run average of one-point-nine, was on the mound.

Coming to bat for the Twins, in the descriptive phrasing of Russ, were "a bunch of 'dogs' and banjo-hitters". Russ, feeling very confident in the ability of Wilhelm, proposed a modest wager, at five to three odds, that the Twins wouldn't score in the ninth. Jack Edmiston, in spite of the head shaking of his friends, accepted the wager. The result? The Twins scored four runs!

Thieves Tip Fertile Club Thursday 13-2

Manager Joey Poole's senior baseball Thieves gained a Norman-Polk league playoff berth on Thursday night by scoring a one-sided, 13-2, win over Fertile. The game, which was played on the Fertile diamond, was made necessary when the two teams, Thief River Falls and Fertile, finished in a tie for the fourth place, and the last spot in the playoffs, during the league's schedule. The two teams had concluded their season's play with seven wins and seven losses apiece.

The Thieves scored six runs in the second inning to take a commanding lead Thursday night, and the six-run cluster was unearned. During the game, the Fertile defense committed nine errors, and this factor, combined with lefty Freddy Jensen's steady four-hit pitching for the Thieves, made the game comparatively easy for manager Poole's squad. The game was called in the last half of the eighth inning, with the Thieves at bat and two out, because of rain.

In the hectic second inning, the Thieves took advantage of four Fertile errors, a walk, a passed ball, a gound single by Dick Williams, and a double by Harlie Drees, to score six runs.

The Thieves added a pair of runs in the fourth on singles by John Aune, Gary Klungness, and Drees, and a Fertile error. And in the fifth, the locals tallied four runs, with Gary Klungness' line drive to left-center, which went for a triple, being the power blow of the inning.

Gary Klungness led the Thieves' attack on southpaw Arlen Swenson and righthander reliever Bill Kostick, getting four hits in five trips to the plate.

Jensen, forced to rely on his side-arm delivery because of a back injury, was stingy with the base hits. Only in the eighth inning were the Fertile batsmen able to get more than one hit. Herry Olson opened with a double, and Dick Werdahl followed with a single. Jensen struck out Chuck Johnson, retired Jim Omlid, second to first, and Rod Olson filed to Paul Klungness in right field.

The Thieves were bolstered by the presence of Mickey Hanson in the lineup, with the former Prowler, home on furlough, playing at second base.

The Pro and the Con

Proposed amendment No. 2 to the state constitution, to be voted on in the November election, would take the limit off the state's constitutional debt limit. For many years that ridiculously low limit of $250,000 has been ignored by the legislature but, in the last session, the law makers were informed by the Supreme Court that any new indebtedness authorized by the legislature would be declared illegal unless that limitation were increased.

Obviously the old limit is not realistic, and it will have to be increased. Unfortunately, as we see it, the proposed amendment would replace the old inadequate limit by a no-limit provision. We think the old unreasonable limit should be replaced by a limit that is reasonable. We do not like the idea of giving to the legislature unlimited borrowing power.

The inability of the legislature to increase the state debt in the last session resulted in a substantial reduction in the state debt. Another building program had to be postponed, but no undue hardship was caused by that delay. As we see it, that delay was the first victory for the taxpayers in many a year.

Another two-year delay would not be fatal. It might be well, therefore, to refer this matter back to the next legislature in the hope that two years later we will be able to approve a more realistic debt limit.

Was There Negligence?

Congressman Odin Langen charges the Department of Agriculture with negligence in its failure to act promptly in an investigation of the Billie Sol Estes affair. He accuses the department of a deliberate cover-up of the facts that involve influential government officials at federal, state and local levels.

The records justify Langen's charges. That Estes was in trouble was known as early as September of 1961. Months later Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman referred casually to some rumors that had come to his attention, and stated the Department would conduct its own investigations. The rumors were obviously exaggerated for political purposes, he inferred.

But the developments gradually proved that the rumors were not blown up to make political hay. Rumors turned out to be facts. A suicide has now been accepted as murder. The Estes affair has developed into a large-scale Texas scandal.

As far as we know there is nothing in the record that casts a shadow on Freeman as a participant in the swindles. It appears that the connivers were mainly Texans who gave Billie Sol Estes the political support that he needed to be accepted as a preferred customer in Washington. Under the circumstances, however, there probably is justification for Congressman Langen's charges that there was negiligence, and a lack of interest that is difficult to understand, at the top level in the Department of Agriculture.

Estes Chronology

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has tried to shift the responsibility for the Estes scandal in Texas to his Republican predecessor. No doubt the swindle was well under way when Benson was still Secretary. In fairness to Freeman it should be admitted that he inherited a mess. But, in fairness to Benson, he had struggled in vain thru several sessins of Congress, that were controlled by the Democrats, to get reform legislation.

But let's take a look at the records as revealed by the investigation conducted by a congressional committee headed by Senator McClellan, an Arkansas Democrat. As reported by the National Observer, the testimony revealed the following chronology of highlights in the Estes case in their relationship to Department of Agriculture action:

"August 1960—The late Henry H. Marshall, program specialist for the Texas ASC, filed a memorandum with Washington warning of the Estes-type deals.

"December 1960—A Washington directive ruled the deals illegal.

"In November 1960 or January 1961,—Mr. Marshall told the Texas ASC cotton allotment regulations were being abused. The state committee did nothing about the matter and it was never brought up again.

"February 1961—Oklahoma ASC officials, learning that some Oklahoma farmers had transferred allotments to Estes, wrote to the Texas ASC and expressed concern about the validity of the deals.

"May 1961—Rep. Carl Albert (D., Okla.) showed three department officials in Washington documents purporting to be illegal sales contracts used by Estes. Instead of asking Mr. Albert for the documents, the department ordered a search for them in Texas.

"June 2, 1961—Texas ASC officials wrote Washington that the letters from the Oklahoma committee were "not made available" to ASC committees in counties where Estes was growing cotton.

"June 3, 1961—Mr. Marshall was found shot to death. His death subsequently was ruled a suicide. A re-investigation after the Estes case broke last March failed to overturn that ruling but Senator McClellan scoffed at the verdict.

"July 5, 1961—Almost one year after Mr. Marshall first warned about the allotment arrangements, the department started an investigation of them. As a result the department canceled Estes' 1961 allotments and fined him $554,000 for illegally growing cotton."

We think it is noteworthy that in 1960 the Department of Agriculture was notified of the Estes-type deals. In December of that year a Washington directive ruled the deals illegal. And it is significant that the Texas ASC had been notified that cotton allotments were being abused. The program specialist who reported these irregularities in 1960 was later murdered.

About the only logical conclusion we can come to after reviewing the facts is that Freeman had a pretty good idea of what was going on but he didn't want to offend influential Texas Democrats.

Tax Uniformity Needed

Thirty-six states now levy sales taxes and several more states are expected to join the list in the next legislative session. Minnesota should be one of them.

Minnesota now is surrounded by sales-tax states and our failure to adopt this popular form of taxation will prove to be, more and more, a handicap. Tax structure uniformity with other states is important to our economic development, and our entire tax structure should be reexamined with that in mind.

A Big Fish

Lake Athabasca, a body of water that extends across northern Saskatchewan and Alberta for a distance of 150 miles, was already noted for its large lake trout. Now it has the undisputed record for size, a fish that weighed in at 102 pounds. The previous record was a trout weighing 80 pounds, four ounces, caught six years ago.

Bringing in an eight-pounder is a real thrill for the fellow who hasn't caught one twice that size. In fishing, size seems to be all-important. Next summer probably will see quite a rush of fishermen to Lake Athabasca.

World War I Pensions?

A veteran's lobby is putting pressure on Congress for enactment of a pension bill for World War I veterans that would cost an estimated $11 billion. The only justification for such a measure is the fact that pensions were provided for veterans of earlier wars. Maybe if this measure were killed, as it should be, there would be an end to this pension nonense. As the Christian Science Monitor points out:

> "This kind of legislation, which has often been sought for vote-getting purposes, makes no distinction between training camp heroes and veterans of the trenches, between men with service-incurred disabilities and the perfectly able-bodied, between men in need and those already receiving comfortable pensions of other kinds."

The government does have a responsibility in providing adequately for the disabled and their families. For those who survived without disability, military service can be marked down as one of the responsibilities of good citizenship.

Private Enterprise

It is interesting to note that Senator Humphrey is going along with the administration in support of private enterprise in the operation of a world-wide space system of communications. His position in this instance is commendable. We are satisfied that the public interest will be best served by turning the job over to the organizations that are specializing in this field and that have developed the know-how and leadership that are responsible for a remarkable past record of progress.

The organization that will be created will of necessity have a monopoly in this field, which means that there should be strict government regulation. The problem of regulation is complicated by the fact that the operations will be international. Presumably some international authority will have to be created to do the regulating. The Russians have already indicated that they are not going to be cooperative, and international cooperation appears to be essential to success.

But with the operation in the hands of practical leaders in a highly scientific industry there is a fair chance that a workable system will be developed. As for the cost, the public will pay in one way or another whether the program is operated by private industry or by the government. Our guess is that the cost will be much less under private operation with strict government regulation. Private industry is wasteful; but not nearly as wasteful as government.

Military Contracts for Minnesota.

In our effort to build jobs and employment for Minnesota, we work from every angle. We are promoting agricultural products, we are encouraging local industry to expand, we are pushing for the taconite amendment to attract taconite plant expansion, and we push our tourist industry. An additional big area of opportunity is that of military contracts.

In the year ending June 1961 military prime contract awards amounted to $24 billion. This is an enormous amount of money that of course means tremendous payrolls and plant investment. This is not new, of course, it has been going on for years.

Although Minnesota has some of the outstanding firms in the country, although we have all the requisites to serve industries receiving prime contracts, we have benefited only to a limited degree from this enormous expenditure to which our people contribute by taxes.

Minnesota received less than one per cent of those prime contract awards ending June 30, 1961.

With this background I visited the military establishments in Washington, called on the Air Force, have written Secretary of Defense MacNamara about the situation, have urged our senators and congressmen to exert more pressure at the time contracts are being awarded to see that plants would come to our state.

Although there has been some criticism of my goading and prodding, results are beginning to come.

Last week the Litton Industries, a large defense contractor, announced they were putting a plant in northeastern Minnesota and would be employing about 500 people. This is a great plus. It was heralded as the most important announcement in ten years. I think this is fine but I just wish it had started years ago, as it well might have.

The minimum Minnesota share of $24 billion of annual defense spending is $180 million. Actually we have been receiving considerably less than $200 million.

I will continue to urge our congressmen and senators to be active in this area because they are in a position to see that our interest is protected on these prime contract awards for the military.

By coordinated cooperative effort, we can call our assets to the attention of the nation and get our share of jobs and payrolls, particularly in the area of defense spending where our own taxes are going to foot the bill. We have been paying far more in taxes than we have been receiving in contracts and I intend to see that that situation is corrected

THERE CERTAINLY IS A TURNING POINT in everyone's life, perhaps more than one, and it is safe to believe that most persons could look back and find the turning point in their own lives. It would certainly be interesting to see what some of these might be—what circumstances led to an individual following the course in life which he or she chose to follow.

While a growing boy (and not growing very much or very fast) on my father's farm near Warren, I believe I came to the turning point in my life. I can't put my finger on the exact date, but it was somewhere around the time that one of our big Holstein cattle and I had a little difference of opinion. I won't admit to who started the disagreement, but when I picked my milk-drenched little body out of the alley-way where she had neatly deposited me with a deft hind foot, and then collected the deeply-dented milk bucket, I realized who had won the dispute.

It must have been about that time I decided that I wasn't going to be second-best on the farm to a fool cow which didn't know that it never had it so good. This was, of course, negative thinking which I allowed to influence my judgment. The second bend of the turning point came when I started my first newspaper job.

Those first 18 years of my life, although they seem to have slipped past a long time ago, gave me some idea of the rigors a farmer has to endure. And with the crop situation such as it was last year and again this year, I can sincerely sympathize with the cash crop farmer.

I can't help but believe, however, that the fool cow which gave me a sound lesson in humility has a place in agriculture. I would be even more sure of this in a year like 1962, when crops are small and hay is plentiful. The dent she put in the milk bucket would be small compared to the dent she would have put in Dad's pocketbook by not being around. Guess a farmer who knows which side his bread is buttered on has to choose the dents he wants.

More power to the livestock producer who faces feeding in the dread of winter, risks market prices, protects his stock against disease, provides good feed and shelter and shows a profit for his labor. Whether the stock be dairy or beef cattle, hogs or sheep, they belong in our economy.

The story is told of the theft of some prize chickens which had been raised by a Presbyterian minister. A reporter assigned the story went into great detail on the tender care the good Reverend had given his birds and how he won a first prize at the county fair. The effect was ruined, however, when the news story was followed on the printed page by a one paragraph item announcing a big chicken dinner at the Baptist church.

Going somewhere? It shouldn't be hard to get where you are going. During 1962 the U. S. oil industry will provide some 50 billion gallons of gasoline, diesel fuel and jet fuel to move travelers an estimated 600 billion miles.

WISE WORDS, FAST FORGOTTEN

"Johnny killed a snake today,"
The youngster told his Dad.
"It must have been 'bout 10 feet long,"
Said the excited lad.

"Now, son, do not exaggerate,"
The father's counsel came,
"Just tell the truth and state the facts,
Keep everything the same.

"I've told you that before, my son."
"I know," the youngster chimes,
"I'm sure you must have told me that
At least a million times."

Soo Line Gets Set for Huge Crop Movement

For the next nine weeks, one of the most important pieces of rolling stock on the New Soo will be an empty box car with a card on the door which says "OK Grain."

The New Soo is building up its car fleet to do the sizable and important job of carrying to market what could be one of the most boutiful grain crops in years. The Soo's supply of grain box cars is getting extraordinary attention from operating and traffic officers.

Crop conditions look good in western Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana. A grain movement substantially greater than last year's is expected. Harvesters are moving into the fields now. And the New Soo is ready to load grain. Its supply of cars in the grain territory is being augmented by nearly every arriving train.

The Soo plans to meet the requirements of the big grain movement with a two-point program:

By augmenting its own grain car fleet with several thousand cars obtained from other railroads; and

By expediting its repair and upgrading programs to assure a steady flow of serviceable cars at all times.

To supplement its own roster of grain cars, the Soo has placed orders with the car service division of the Association of American Railroads for an average of 250 grain cars daily. The cars will come from railroads in all parts of the country. Most of them will be received at Chicago and be moved rapidly to the harvest area. Often they will move in special through trains. All of them will be inspected and upgraded if necessary before they move west of Minneapolis.

The Soo's own fleet of grain cars has been undergoing special repair and upgrading for several weeks at Minneapolis and at Superior and Stevens Point, Wisc. The shop at Minneapolis has been opened for a second shift with an augmented work force specifically to upgrade grain cars.

Upgrading will continue as long as necessary to assure an adequate supply of good cars.

Thief River Falls is unquestionably an economic phenomenon. This fact cannot be disputed. As far back as May 6th, 1890, when 39 of our TRF forefathers voted in favor of village incorporation, the fact was recognized.

Since that time Thief River has come a long way. We still have prolems of growth and change; however, that require the vigilance of our city fathers and all other community groups.

Recognizing that the occurrence of a community and its continued existence center around production and consumption, buying and selling, dollars and cents — it is only appropriate that the promoters and planners of our town keep it in mind now and in the future as well.

My point is that community development can be traced back to one word — jobs. To maintain and create jobs for families it is essential that a favorable business climate be maintained. The state, county and local governments and all civic organizations and all individuals should have at least a basic understanding and exercise of that fact

The one thing that will make Thief River Falls grow is new jobs. It is that simple. In other words our local employers will either have to expand or we'll have to attract new employment to TRF if we expect to grow. We'll probably do some of both. But not unless we maintain a favorable atmosphere for business.

Taxes must be kept within reason, labor costs must be kept within reason, transportation facilities must be proper, as must water, sewer, power, roads, etc.

Sometimes we all have a tendency to overlook the extreme fundamentals of community life. Let's be careful not to do that. The community we save may be our own.

Remember too, that you are a part of this economic phenomenon as you Shop and Trade Where Bargains Are Made — Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, Thief River Falls.

GRAIN CARS MOVE TO MEET THE HARVEST. A Soo Line hotshot crosses the Mississippi River at Minneapolis and heads westward with a long string of cars. Some of her more than 80 empty box cars will go to the distribution points of Glenwood and Thief River Falls, and be relayed from there to elevator sidings throughout the grain territory. Nearly every westbound Soo freight train currently is moving grain cars into the ripening fields.

More Marshall Co. Farmers Joining in ACP Program

218 'New' Farms Taking Part in Conservation Projects This Season

This year's drive to get more farmers interested in adopting conservation practices on their farms is paying off, Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, reported today. The drive is being carried out by ASC farmer-committeemen on their own time as a contribution to the Department of Agriculture's rural areas development program. Major objectives of the RAD program are to increase income of under-employed, low-income farmers, and to develop off-farm sources of employment.

The goal of the conservation drive, the chairman explained, is to get farmers who have not been doing conservation work on their land in recent years to carry out an important project in 1962. As of July 30, committeemen in Marshall county had enrolled 218 of such "new" farms for participation in the 1962 ACP. Of this number, practices had been reported as completed on 69 farms.

"This is definite progress," Mr. Johnson declared. "When the drive started, it was suggested that each ASC committeeman accept responsibility for getting one additional neighbor-farmer to carry out one needed conservation practice on his farm in 1962 The national goal was to get 100,000 such farmers to take this step. Committeemen willingly accepted this challenge, and they have devoted many hours to the work necessary to meet the goal."

Fruit and Turkey Are Plentiful Now

Agriculture Department Makes Report on Market

August is a good month to take advantage of the variety of foods on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentifuls.

Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing specialist at the University of Minnesota, says the USDA's list for August has foods to please even the most discriminating tastes. Topped by fresh peaches and cantaloupe the list also includes turkey, fresh pears, fresh and processed lemons and limes, frozen concentrated orange juice, summer vegetables and vegetable fats and oils.

Versatile turkey is a perfect companion for all the other plentiful foods, Mrs. Loomis says. It is the building block around which you can plan many August menus. It is one of the best protein buys—especially economical now because of its low price and the many servings it provides.

The peach harvest will be in full swing during August in many important peach producing states. Since this year's crop is expected to be well above average, prices should be reasonable. The harvest of freestone peaches in California, the nation's leading producing state, is up 3 per cent from last year and 11 per cent above average. Most of these peaches come to market in July and August.

Big supplies of cantaloupe from California will come to market in August. California cantaloupe production is 10 per cent above last year's large crop.

Good news to home canners is the fact that the crop of Bartlett pears is expected to be larger than it has been for two years.

State Flour Milling Capacity Has Shrunk

Minnesota, once the nation's leading flour producer, now ranks third, behind Kansas and New York. The state now accounts for about 11 per cent of national milling volume.

That's one of several changes in Minnesota grain marketing industries reported by Robert Evenson and Reynold Dahl in the current edition of Minnesota Farm Business Notes, a publication of the University of Minnesota's Agricultural Extension Service. Evenson is a research assistant and Dahl an agricultural economist at the University.

Flour milling has shifted to Buffalo because wheat, not flour, can be cheaply transported on the Great Lakes. Development of hard winter wheats has led to rapid expansion of wheat production in the southwestern Great Plains and to milling production in Kansas City.

Oilseed crushing makes up a major portion of Minnesota's grain processing industry. Ten plants processed 49 million bushels of soybeans and flaxseed in 1960 — a 20 per cent increase over the 41 million bushels of 1954.

Soybean crushing doubled — climbing from 15 to 31 million bushels — during the period, and Minnesota increased its proportion of total U. S. crushing from 6 to 8 per cent.

Flaxseed crushing declined from 1954 to 1960, both nationally and in Minnesota. The state processed 78 per cent of the 32 million bushel crush in 1954 and 92 per cent of the 20 million bushel crush in 1960. The flaxseed crushing industry has diminished because of a declining demand for linseed oil.

Minnesota ranks second to Wisconsin in malt production. From 1954 to 1960 malt production in the state increased 57 per cent, from 11 to 18 million bushels. The state's share of national production increased from 13 to 18 per cent

Total grain processed in the state rose from 133 to 143 million bushels between 1954 and 1960. The decline in flour milling and flaxseed crushing was more than offset by expansion in the malting and soybean crushing industries.

The Minneapolis-St. Paul grain market, for years the nation's largest, received 282 million bushels of all grains excluding flaxseed in 1960. Duluth-Superior ranked third, behind Chicago, receiving 185 million bushels of all grains excluding flaxseed.

Total grain merchandising (physical handling) of grain in Minnesota increased by 72 per cent from 1954 to 1960, due to more processing, storing and exporting.

The Twin Cities also has the nation's largest elevator capacity, with storage capacity for nearly 130 million bushels. Duluth-Superior ranks fifth among major markets in storage capacity. Grain storage capacity in Minnesota increased by 28 per cent during the 1954-60 period for both terminal elevators and grain processors, due mainly to increased processing and merchandising activities.

Increased government storage led to an 85 per cent increase in capacity by elevators engaged only in storage operations. But these plants represent only a minor portion of Minnesota's grain storage capacity. Considering the state's expanding grain industry, the increase in government storage was modest.

FRIENDLY Thief River Falls Merchants are giving a hand to an ambitious and hard-working Newcomers Club by providing merchandise certificates and other gifts for packets which are prepared and distributed by the club to families moving into the city. In the above photo, which shows some of the material included in the packets, Mrs. Fred Sorenson, Newcomers club president, (left) and Mrs. Herman Dargus, secretary, fill an envelope prior to distribution. Twenty-six new families have already been contacted and received packets, Mrs. Dargus said, and they were received with enthusiasm. Distribution is planned every two weeks to new families arriving in the city. Twenty business places have contributed to the new project to date and others are expected to contribute certificates in the near future. It is not necessary to provide certificates for all packages to be delivered, the secretary said, but merchants participating are asked to provide their own certificates since the club has no fund-raising activities.

County Board Buys Winter's Fuel Oil Supply

Awards Contract to Consumers Co-op at 11.14c Per Gallon

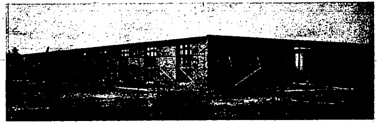
Principal item on the agenda disposed of at the August session of the Pennington county board Tuesday was the award of the contract to supply approximately 20,000 gallons of fuel oil for the court house next winter.

The low bid accepted, from five bids submitted, was 11.14 cents per gallon entered by the Consumers Cooperative association

County Engineer Joseph Seidel was authorized to post load limits on both the St. Hilaire and Kratka bridges, which will be replaced shortly by new structures. The new span north of St. Hilaire is scheduled for completion late this fall, while bids on the Kratka bridge will be called for as soon as plans have been approved by state authorities and the corps of army engineers.

Milton Olson, who has served as probation and parole officer here the past three years and is leaving for Willmar, made a final report on his work and thanked the board for its cooperation. The board, in turn, praised Olson for his efficient service.

Louis Carpenter, operator of a gas station on Highway 1 west of Thief River Falls, again asked for permission to sell 3.2 beer on Sunday, and the board denied the request.



NORTH WING of the Valley Home Society's new 66-bed nursing home gives an idea as to what the finished building will look like when completed. This 54x128 foot section of the building is now ready for bar joists and decking and the concrete slab for the corridor was poured on Wednesday. Walls are being erected on the 107x54 west wing at the present time with the remaining 200x54 foot section of the building ready for wall construction. Exterior of the building will be featured by brick panels with stucco around the foundation, below the windows and in 14-inch panels above the windows. This picture was taken Wednesday morning from the northeast corner of the new building. Completion date has been set at June 1, 1963.

Construction Progress Noted on Two Projects

Valley Home and Farmers Co-op To Have New Plants

With the coming of more reasonable construction weather in the past several weeks, two of the city's largest commercial construction projects are now making rapid progress. These include the Valley Home Society's 66-bed nursing home building at the south edge of the city and the Farmers CO-Op Grain and Seed association warehouse and feed plant at the north edge of Thief River Falls. Street work on both the east and west sides of town is also making more rapid head-way.

A total of 37 building permits have been issued by the city so far this year with the total amount being $359,170, according to Gordon Reierson, acting city clerk. Of this total, Valley Home Society's permit totaled $320,000, Falls-Starekow Clinic remodeling totaled $15,000; and Kelly Hardware remodeling totaled $2,000—making commercial construction $337,000 of the total.

Erection of the walls on the 128x54 north wing of the Valley Home building has now been completed and the concrete slab for corridor floor was poured on Wednesday. This section of the one-story building is now ready for bar joists and decking, according to Olaf Hannen, project superintendent for the Nasvik Construction company of Bemidji, general contractor.

Work is currently being conducted on the 107x54 west wing where bricklayers are erecting the concrete block walls. The south wing and part of the main section of the building, which totals an area of 200x54 feet, is ready for erection of the walls. At present there are three carpenters, six laborers, three bricklayers, two tenders and an electrician working on the project which is scheduled for completion by June 1, 1963.

Trimmed in Stucco

When completed the building will have a face brick paneled exterior with stucco panels under the windows and 14-inch panels above the windows as well as 10-inch stucco area below the brick paneling. Interior will have tile floors, plastered walls, plastered or accoustical tiled ceilings, incandescent lighting in patient rooms and fluorescent lighting in kitchen and office areas and an intercom system of speakers in the corridors. Room height will be eight feet and the roof will be pitch and gravel over one and one-half inches of insulation. There will be 992 feet of tunnel for hidden pipes and six access sites to the tunnel.

Farmer's Co-Op Expansion

Prompted by the possibilities for expansion and made possible by the purchase of the former plant by Valley Feed and Supply company of Spring Valley, N. Y., a new warehouse and feed plant is being rushed to completion by Farmers Co-Op Grain and Seed association. The new facility is located at its north elevator site on Dewey av. N. and will contain all new equipment.

NEARING completion and expected to be operational by September 1 is the new feed plant of Farmers Co-op Grain and Seed association on Dewey av. N. in Thief River Falls. The plant will be 54 feet high, have about 900 square feet of floor space and 18 overhead bins of 800 bushel capacity each. Part of the 40x150 foot warehouse recently completed, the feed plant will have all new equipment and a covered scale at the feed plant driveway. Power Conversion Slated on Sunday

Actual conversion of the city's electric system from 2,400 volts to 4,160 volts will take place on Sunday, according to Morris Owen, superintendent of utilities. At 2 a.m. all power will be off for about two minutes while the power is transferred from the power plant and Minnkota substation to a portable sub-station.

For a period of approximately five hours, from 5 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Sunday, all power will be off in the city. Persons whose residences do not have electric power by 10:30 a.m. may call MU 1-3506 but are requested not to call before that time, Owen said.

Priority rating has been established to such places as the hospital, telephone company, water plant and several other places dealing with a large number of people. The power will be restored to these places first and the balance of the city will be finished as quickly as the crews can change over all sub-stations.

In the event of rain, the conversion will be postponed one week until Sunday, August 19. There will be one more outage sometime in September to connect additional switchgear to the present switchgear, Owen noted.

Beverly Gustafson Is Bride of James Fisher

St. Bernard's Catholic Church was the scene of the nuptial Mass on July 21, when Miss Beverly Ann Gustafson and James E. Fisher were united in holy matrimony, with Father Keough Patnode performing the ceremony. The double ring service was used.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gustafson, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fisher, all of this city.

Adorning the church altars for the wedding were bouquets and baskets of white and lavender gladioli and mums. The pews were decorated with lavender and white bows.

Miss Rosemary Votava, presiding at the organ, provided nuptial music, with the girls' choir of St. Bernard's church singing the Mass.

The bride, whom her father gave in marriage, was attired in a floor-length gown of white organza-over-taffeta and net, with a fitted bodice, short sleeves, and lace appliques around the neckline and on the skirt. A small organza bow centered a bustle in the back of the full gathered skirt. A fingertip veil of pure silk illusion was secured by a pearl tiara. The bridal bouquet, shower-style, was of white mums and Stephanotis, centered by a purple orchid. The bride's jewelry was a single strand of pearls, and pearl earrings. White, wrist-length gloves completed her ensemble.

Maid of honor was Marylee Kennedy of Murdock, Minn., a cousin of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Harold Jasken, Finley, N. D., a sister of the groom, and Mrs. Tom Gustafson of this city, sister-in-law of the bride. They wore identical street-length dresses of lavender organdy over white satin, featuring short sleeves, bateau necklines, fitted bodices, and full skirts, accented by white satin belts and lavender shoes. They wore white satin pillbox hats with blush veils, with white wrist-length gloves and pearl jewelry to complete their costumes. They carried colonial-type bouquets of lavender mums encircling a larger lavender mum.

The groom was attended by his brother Eugene as best man, with Leroy Kritz and Lee Gustafson, the bride's brother, both of this city, as groomsmen. Serving as ushers were Jack and Gary Gustafson, brothers of the bride, Harold Jasken, brother-in-law of the groom, and Jim Nelson. The groom and all the men of the bridal party wore white dinner jackets with black trousers.

Cyril and Martin Fisher, brothers of the groom, assisted as altar boys.

The bride's mother wore a dress of mint green, while the dress of the groom's mother was beige, both with complementary accessories, and corsages of gardenias and pink baby roses.

Following the Mass, and as the choir sang the Ave Maria, a lavender orchid was placed at the Virgin's altar by the couple.

A dinner was served in the church parlors after the ceremony, with 200 guests present. Veronica and Ann Marie Fisher, sisters of the groom, Julie and Joan Merry Gustafson and Kay Kennedy, cousins of the bride, assisted as waitresses. Serving punch were Diane Haugen and Myrna Hallstrom, while the cake was cut by the bride's aunts, Mmes. Elmer Gustafson and Wm. Kennedy. The groom's aunt, Mrs. Prescott Larson, and the bride's aunt, Miss Alice Kennedy, poured.

The cake, a four-tiered creation, was topped with a miniature bridal couple, and featured white swans with ribbon streamers extending from them to the swans on the heart-shaped cakes flanking the large bridal cake.

Out-of-town people attending were from Murdock, Kerkhoven, Willmar, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Benson, Bagley, Warren, Fergus Falls, Detroit Lakes, and Richfield, in Minnesota, Hope and Finley, N. D., and Omaha, Nebr.

The bride and groom both graduated from Lincoln high school of this city. Mrs. Fisher also graduated from Humbolt Airlines school and Mr. Fisher from the area vocational school here. She was employed at Northern State Bank, while her husband is employed in Thief River Falls at the present.

For travel, the bride chose a two-piece lavender plaid suit with white accessories. After a trip to the Badlands of North Dakota and into Montana, the couple are now living in this city.

Municipal-Legion Band Ends Year

Local Group Presents Oakland Park Concert

Final performance of the Thief River Falls Municipal-Legion band was presented Monday evening in the form of a concert played at Oakland Park Nursing Home. Included in the concert were a number of old favorites and several new selections recently acquired by James Solsten, director. J. M Roche, superintendent of the home, served as chef for serving hot dogs and hamburgers to the band members at a picnic following the concert.

Review of the financial condition of the band by Ormond Johnson and Curtis Harris, business officers, showed that the year had been successfully completed with the funds allocated by the city. Each year a grand of approximately $1,600 is appropriated for use by the city band.

In addition to these funds, paid performances are occasionally contracted by the band and the combined funds constitute the entire operating capital available. Included in the concert schedules for city functions are Memorial Day services, special conventions and parades, drive-in band concerts in the downtown parking lot area, county fair, Jaycee Aquacade and out-of-town performances as schedules would permit.

Where it was impractical to take the entire group to certain functions, a group of members known locally as the German band has performed. Ormond Johnson, band president, thanked the public for the interest shown and the good turn-out for concerts this summer. "A city band is always improved and at its best when performing before a good audience," he stated.

Members are called for rehearsal sessions starting early each spring. Public notice of rehearsal sessions for next year will be issued prior to concert scheduling next spring.

Waste Disposal on Spuds to Be Topic

Discussion Meeting Set for Grand Forks Friday

Progress being made in solving potato waste disposal problems of the Red River Valley and making plans for continued effort in 1962 will be the main subjects at the 2nd annual meeting of the Red River Valley potato waste disposal committee to be held in Grand Forks at 1:00 p. m., (Central Standard Time), August 10, at the Westward Ho Motel, according to Lyle W. Currie, chairman of the committee.

Any persons interested in the problems are invited to attend the meeting.

A meeting of technical people interested in the waste disposal problem will be held August 9 at 1:00 p. m., (Central Standard Time) at the Grand Forks Armory. This group will consider and recommend areas of investigation that may seem appropriate to finding answers to the waste disposal problem associated with potato porcessing in the Red River Valley.

The program to find answers to the problems of potato processing waste disposal was launched a year ago at a meeting of civic, state and industry people interested in the problem.

Funds to support research projects were obtained from the processing industry, cities and towns of the area, the potato industry and the States of Minnesota and North Dakota.

Our Savior's To Remain as Free Congregation

One of Several Groups Opposing Merger with American Lutheran Body

Our Savior's Lutheran church in Thief River Falls is one of a number of Lutheran Free church congregations which have opposed merger with the American Lutheran Church and have taken necessary steps to remain free. Documents for merger were approved at the annual conference of the Lutheran Free church.

Pastors in the area have formed a steering committee and outlined a plan of procedure for congregations to follow in continuing to remain free and independent, according to Rev. Richard Snipstead, Greenbush, member of the committee.

Other congregations in addition to Our Savior's which have taken steps against the merger include six congregations in the Greenbush parish, three congregations in the Winger parish and churches in the Spicer parish, all in Minnesota. There are also a number of congregations in North and South Dakota and Wisconsin that have declared themselves free and independent, Rev. Snipstead said, and other congregations are in the process of taking these steps.

It is expected that this group will include congregations from several synods, Rev. Snipstead added. Tentative dates for a conference enabling the new group to organize has been set for October 19-21.

Construction On Two Big Projects Makes Progress

is expected to begin remodeling of the downtown feed plant next week. The plant the New York firm purchased from Farmers Co-Op is located south of Lincoln high school.

Charles Kotaska, manager of Farmers Co-Op stated that the new warehouse is virtually completed. The building is 40x150 feet and 18 feet high, about double the previously available area. It is planned to use the north end for fertilizer storage, central section for feed storage and south end for seed storage. Exterior of the building is metal sheeting.

Feed Plant Building

The feed plant, which is built into the warehouse but extends to the west of the building, now about two-thirds completed will be 54 feet high. Eighteen overhead bins, each having a capacity of 800 bushels, will be located in the plant which has about 900 square feet of floor area nearly three times the previous space.

All new equipment will be located in the feed plant with a hammermill on the sub-floor level and roller mill and mixing equipment on the warehouse floor level. The hammermill, used for feed grinding, will be double the capacity of the former machine which is being used as a trade-in.

A covered driveway west of the feed plant will be equipped with a drive-on scale and two conveyors for handling grain dumped at that site. An overhead leg from the main storage elevator just east of the new facilities is also planned to bring grain to the plant for processing. Operations of the cooperative's feed plant have been suspended since August 1 when Valley Feed and Supply assumed control of the downtown plant. Kotaska said the firm is hopeful that the new feed plant will be operational by September 1.
